STARS STRIPES.

GOP strategists want convention to focus on future, not Iraq

Page 15

NEA helps returning troops with memoirs Page 18

e 2. No. 141 © EPSS 2004 MIDEAST EDITION

SUNDAY, AUGUST 29, 2004

FBI probing alleged spying at Pentagon

Analyst suspected of giving Israel U.S. policy information on Iran mbers of the U.S. women's basketball team hug Dawn Staley (5) after defeating Australia 74-63 to win the gold medal Saturday at the Olympic Games in Athens, Greece. The team has won 25-straight Olympic tilts team salvages bronze with win over Lithuania

Back page

Perfect ending

U.S. women's basketball team tops Australia to win third-straight Olympic gold, completes undefeated tournament run

Back page

Limping home

Remember to thank your Command for today's copy of Stars and Stripes.

Your Stars and Stripes is now printed and delivered locally from Kuwait, Iraq, and Qatar giving you up-to-date daily news, sports and entertainment.

Without the assistance of local commands, your friends and fellow soldiers would be isolated without news from home

Contact Stars and Stripes circulation with auestions about delivery at 49-6155-601-455 DSN: 349-8455

To contact a reporter in the field, email Iraq@mail.estripes.osd.mil

ws Tracker ... What's new with old news

Ghost fleet: The American Ranger passes over the Monitor-Merrimac Memorial Bridge-Tunnel near Newport News, Va., late Thurs day, at the beginning of its journey to Texas for dismantling. The freighter was built in 1965 and is the second ship to leave the ghost fleet for Texas this summer.

States

Killer bees: A swarm of bees that attacked a work crew in Oklahoma City earlier this month may be of the Africanized variety, which would mark the furthest north the so-called "killer" bees have traveled in the United States, scientists said.

DNA tests show the bees have African-ized traits, said Russell Wright, head of the Department of Entomology and Plant Pa-thology at Oklahoma State University. Wright said the bees have been sent to a U.S. Department of Agriculture Laboratory in Arizona

Ten Commandments judge: Former Ala-bama Chief Justice Roy Moore said Thursday he is writing a book on why acknowledg-ments of God by public officials — including his controversial Ten Commandments monument — are both legal and necessary.

The book, titled "So Help Me God!", is to be released in March by Nashville, Tenn.-based Broadman and Holman Pub lishers. Financial terms of the deal were not released

Moore was expelled from office in November for refusing a federal judge's order to re-move his 5,280-pound Ten Commandments monument from the rotunda of the state ju-dicial building. He has appealed.

New Jersey governor: The former aide who claims he was sexually harassed by Gov. James E. McGreevey said he will con-dropping plans to sue if the gover-nor simply apologizes, the man's attorney said

Thursday. Golan Cinel McGreevey's former homeland security ad-viser, is still considering legal action against the governor but might settle for the apology, attorney Allen Lowy

McGreevey spokes-man Micah Rasmussen said the governor would not apologize because no sexual harassment took place

Bobbitt arrested again: A lawyer for John Wayne Bobbitt said Friday that Bobbitt was wrongly jailed on domestic violence charg-es in Las Vegas after trying to break up a fight between his wife and her teenage son.

Las Vegas police said Bobbitt, 37 ounched his 14-year-old stepson and shoved his wife of 2½ years during an argument at their Las Vegas home. Bobbitt was being held at the Clark County jail on $10,000 bail pending arraignment Monday

Bobbitt gained fame in 1993 when his first wife. Lorena, cut off his penis at their apartment in Manassas, Va. She was found innocent by reason of insanity, after arguing that Bobbitt abused her. Robbitt moved from Virginia to Nevada after surgery to reattach his penis, and has worked at a brothel, as a bartender and as a tow truck driver.

Murdered Ocean City tourists: Mary-land's highest court upheld the convictions Friday of a husband and wife who murdered and dismembered a tourist couple from Virginia they met in Ocean City over Memorial Day weekend in 2002.

In two opinions, the Court of Appeals left intact Benjamin Sifrit's convictions for second-degree murder and other crimes and Erika Sifrit's first-degree murder and theft convictions.

In separate trials last year, the Sifrits, of Hollidaysburg, Pa., were found guilty of lurg Martha Crutchley and Joshua Ford, both of Fairfax, Va., back to their condo and shoot-ing the pair in a bathroom. They then cut the bodies up and dumped them in a trash bin.

Brain-damaged woman: The biggest name in the race in Clearwater, Fla., between a Florida circuit judge and his rival is one voters will never hear the two candidates speak - Terri Schiavo.

Circuit Judge George Greer is the probate court judge in Pinellas County who has twice ruled that the brain-damaged wom-an's husband could withdraw her feeding

Greer's opponent, lawyer Jan Govan, decided to run against the veteran judge in part because of the woman's case. Both of Greer's rulings have been thwarted and the tube reinserted, most recently in October when Gov. Jeb Bush intervened through the hastily passed "Terri's Law" to order the tube be reattached. Okla, bridge collapse: The National Transportation Safety Board will hold a public board meeting in Washington, D.C., next week to discuss its final report on the deadly Interstate 40 bridge collapse near Webbers Falls in Muskogee, Okla The entire report won't be released for a few weeks, NTSB spokesman Keith Holloway told the Muskogee Phoenix and Times

It's been more than two years since a towboat pushing two empty barges crashed into one of the bridge's piers, causing a 500-foot section of the span to collapse and sending eight passenger vehicles and three tractor-trailer rigs into the Arkansas River below. Five people were injured and 14 people died.

Flu shot shortage: U.S. health officials said they do not expect a flu shot shortage after a leading flu vaccine maker warned that it would hold up millions of doses because several batches were contaminated.
Only about 4 million doses appear to be tainted - not enough to have a big impact on this year's supply although there may be a delay in making some shots available, officials said Friday

World

Warrants sought for Thatcher: Equatorial Guinea has requested international arrest warrants for Mark Thatcher, son of the former British prime minister, and other British financiers accused in an alleged coup plot in this tiny oil-rich nation, the deputy premier said Saturday.

But the government denied it had asked South Africa for the extradition of Thatcher. already under house arrest there after his arrest on South African charges in the case.

Aide to Carlos the Jackal: Prosecutors on Thursday appealed a Berlin court's decision to acquit an aide to the terrorist Carlos the Jackal of involvement in three 1980s bombings in France that left six people dead.

Johannes Weinrich, 57, was charged with six counts of murder and 22 counts of attempted murder for his alleged role in twin New Year's Eve blasts at the main train station in Marseille that killed five people in 1983 and a car bombing in Paris that killed a passer-by the previous year.

After a 17-month

trial, judges said Mon-day they lacked solid evidence that Weinrich was involved in the three attacks, citing the absence of potentially crucial testimony including that of Ilich Ramirez Sanchez, the man known as Carlos. Weinrich already was serving a life sentence for another at

Carlos, a Venezuelan, was arrested in Sudan in 1994 and handed over to France, where he is serving life for the 1975 murders of two French secret agents and an alleged informer

Chechnya unrest: The Russian military said more than five dozen rebel fighters were killed in Chechnya over five days last week, since insurgents staged a bold series of attacks on police and polling stations in the Chechen capital, a Russian news agency reported Thursday.

The Aug. 21 night attacks in Grozny and the response by Russian forces came just ahead of Sunday's election to replace assassinated President Akhmad Kadyrov.

The Interfax news agency quoted Maj.

Gen. Ilya Shabalkin, a spokesman for Rus sia's military campaign in Chechnya, as say-ing that Russian forces killed more than 60 separatist fighters in Grozny and the south-ern Russian republic over five days.

Stories and photos from wire services

Militants, U.S. forces clash in Baghdad

3 killed in al-Sadr stronghold; warplanes strike Fallujah

U.S. deaths in Iraq

The Associated Press

As of Friday 968 U.S. ser-vicemembers have died since the beginning of mili-tary operations in Iraq in March 2003, according to the Defense Department. Of those, 724 died as a result of hostile action and 244 died of nonhostile caus-

The British military has reported 64 deaths; Italy, Spain, 11; Poland, 10; Bulgaria, six; Ukraine, six; Slovakia, three: Thailand two; and Denmark, El Salva dor, Estonia, Hungary, Latvia and the Netherlands have reported one death

Since May 1, 2003, when President Bush declared that major combat operations in Iraq had ended, 830 U.S. soldiers have died tion and 215 of nonhostile causes, according to the military's numbers Friday.

The latest deaths reported by U.S. Central Com-

A soldier died Friday after his truck rolled off an embankment near Fallujah,

The latest identifications reported by the military:

■ Marine Cpl. Barton R. Humlhanz, 23, Hellertown, Pa., died Thursday from hostile injuries in Iraq's Babil province; assigned to Marine Expeditionary Unit Service Support Group 24, 24th Marine Expeditionary Unit; Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Army Spc. Marco D. Ross, 20, Memphis, Tenn.; died Wednesday in Baghdad, when mortars hit his camp; assigned to the Ar-my's 115th Forward Support Battalion, 1st Cavalry Division; Fort Hood, Texas

■ Army Spc. Charles L. Neeley, 19, Mattoon, Ill.; died Wednesday in Tikrit, Iraq, when his tractor-trailer rolled over; assigned to the Army Reserves 454th Transportation Company; Columbus, Ohio.

■ Army Staff Sgt. Donald N. Davis, 42, Saginaw, Mich.; died Tuesday in Fallujah, Iraq, when a tractor and a tanker trailer rolled over an embankment; as signed to the U.S. Army Reserve's 660th Transportation Company; Zanesville, BY TODD PITMAN

BAGHDAD - Shiite militants and U.S. forces battled Saturday in the Baghdad's Sadr City slum and a mortar barrage slammed into a busy eastern neighborhood in a new round of violence in the capital that left five people dead and dozens wounded, officials said

The violence contrasted with calm in the holy city of Najaf, where residents cleaned up broken glass and rubble and returned to the wrecked offices and shops after three weeks of devastating clashes between Shiite fighters and U.S. troops [see related story below]

But gunbattles broke out between militants and U.S. forces in Sadr City, a Baghdad stronghold of al-Sadr's Mahdi Army militia.

U.S. soldiers in Humvees drove through the impoverished neighborhood with loudspeakers, demanding people stay home because coa-lition forces were "cleaning the area of armed " according to an Associated Press reporter at the scene. There was sporadic gun-fire.

Saad al-Amili, a Health Ministry official, said three people were killed and 25 were wounded in the skirmishes.

Also, militants fired assault rifles and rocket-propelled grenades at American troops pa-trolling the area, said U.S. Capt. Brian O'Malley of the 1st Brigade Combat Team, adding that U.S. forces suffered no casualties. Fighters fired eight mortar shells at U.S. troops in Sadr City but missed, hitting a small power station and knocking out electricity to a six-block area, he said

As the battles raged, insurgents fired a round of mortars into a crowded eastern Baghdad neighborhood, killing two boys washing cars in a street near the former Iraqi National Olympic Committee building, said Interior Ministry spokesman Col. Adnan Abdul-Rah-

The dead teens were taken to a nearby morgue, where tearful relatives pounded their chests in grief. At least six other people were injured, said Bashir Mohammed of Bagh dad's al-Kindi hospital.

Meanwhile, U.S. warplanes carried out air-

Shiite cleric Muqtada al-Sadr supporters take a break after a fight with U.S. soldiers in Baghdad's Sadr City on Saturday. Fighting in Irag's capital Saturday left five dead and 25 injured.

strikes for the second straight day in the city of Falluiah, a center for Sunni Muslim insurgents who have been battling U.S. forces for more than 18 months ILS forces also evchanged gunfire with insurgents on the city's outskirts, and fighting was reported on the highway that runs to neighboring Jordan.

The airstrikes, which witnesses said began at around 7 p.m. and continued for an hour, hit the city's eastern al-Askari neighborhood as well as the industrial area at the eastern entrance of Falluiah. At least four homes were destroyed.

Smoke could be seen billowing into the air and fire blazed in the sky after the strikes.

Lt. Col. Thomas V. Johnson, a Marine spokesman, said U.S. troops based on the edge of Falluiah responded with tanks and artillery after their positions took "sporadic fire." He said one fire in the city had been started by a U.S. strike and was "believed to be related to a hit on a significant weapons cache.

On Friday, U.S. airstrikes targeted the same neighborhoods, killing three people and wounding 13 others, including a 6-year-old girl, medical officials said. The military said Friday's attack had targeted an anti-aircraft gun mounted on the back of a truck that had at-tempted to fire on a U.S. plane.

U.S. forces have repeatedly carried out airstrikes in Fallujah, west of Baghdad, since Ma-rines ended a three-week siege of the city in April aimed at rooting out insurgents.

Police Lt. Qusai Mohammed said Iraqi security forces searched the main mosque in Kufa, an al-Sadr stronghold, and found a cache of weapons hidden there late Friday.

New sounds of Najaf: Clanking of cleanup crews

BY MARIAM FAM The Associated Press

NAJAF, Iraq - The crash of explosions and crackle of gunfire that have torn through Najaf for weeks gave way Saturday to the clangs of shovels clearing up the destruction and the wail of sirens announcing that Iraqi police are now in control of this devastated holy city. The scars of the fighting between U.S. forces and Shiite miliwere everywhere in Naiaf's Old City: Mangled bodies buried underneath the rubble, gaping holes gouged in burnt buildings, cars crumpled liked balled-up pieces of paper.

Amid the wreckage stood the scarred Imam Ali Shrine compound, where the militants had taken refuge. With its glistening en dome and orna golden dome and ornamented ce-ramic tiles, the holy site was safe Saturday, but empty of its usual sea of pilgrims.

The militants filed out of the shrine Friday and locked the door behind them, symbolizing an end to the crisis. On Saturday, Iraq State Minister Qassim Dawoud visited the holy site. "The shrine inside is cleaned up, and I hope that it will open up soon to the public," he said.

Municipal workers Saturday sweep debris off roads lined with battle-scarred buildings in the holy city of Najaf, Iraq.

On the streets around the shrine, police cars whizzed by, rifles jutting out of the windows. Iraqi troops in faded uniforms stood guard amid piles of trash and pools of sewage. Policemen in blue shirts and dark flak jackets manned iron gates, where militiamen used to frisk visitors

For the first time in weeks, municipal workers in bright orange uniforms toiled under the scorching sun, sweeping away fetid gar-bage and loading debris onto trucks. Some volunteers from nearby cities joined them to help the workers said.

While authorities tried to restore normalcy to the Old City and particularly the area around the shrine - which were at the center of the heavy fighting — some here wondered how Najaf could ever heal. "I am in pain because this city won't look like before," said policeman Maher Sherry, standing blackened mounds of bricks and unexploded mortar rounds.

Some of the militiaman loyal to firebrand Shiite cleric Muqtada al-Sadr, who just days ago controlled the shrine and pompously displayed their rifles and rock-et-propelled grenades in the suret-propelled grenades in the sur-rounding streets, were staying in a narrow alley leading to al-Sadr's office, a stone's throw from the sacred compound. "Al-Sadr doesn't compromise, and we all resist," declared a flut-tering banner in front of the office. Portraits of the young cleric glared down from walls and power poles

In spite of the militia's lower profile, some in the area said they were still haunted by uncertainty, fearful that the plan that brought peace here might not hold, as an earlier truce with al-Sadr collapsed into the latest round of violence

"He has destroyed the people and the nation," a resident who identified himself only as Abu Karar said of al-Sadr. "No one knows what will happen tomorrow. Maybe it will start all over

Re-upping in Iraq pays off for Strike Force

Army offering soldiers in combat zone tax-free, lump sum re-enlistment bonus

BY SETH ROBSON Stars and Strines

CAMP RETHRING Kuwait -Soldiers from the 2nd Infantry Division - on a yearlong deployment to the Middle East - are cashing in on lucrative re-enlistment bonuses normally reserved for Special Forces soldiers or recruiters

The soldiers, from the 2nd Brigade Combat Team, known as Strike Force, can collect up to $20,000, depending on their time in service. And, because they are re-enlisting in a combat zone. their bonuses are tax-free and given in one lump sum.

The $20,000 bonuses are given to soldiers with more than 10 years' service, said Sgt. 1st Class Scott Byers, 37, a Strike Force career counselor.

"Those bonuses have previously been reserved for Special Forces or recruiters," said Byers, 37, from Cross Lanes, W.Va

Soldiers with less than six years' service can collect up to $10,000, while soldiers with between six and 10 years' service are eligible for up to $15,000, he said

After finding out that Strike Force would deploy to Iraq, counselors stopped re-enlisting soldiers in South Korea to allow them to take advantage of the tax-free status in the Middle East. Byers said.

"Some of the bonuses in Kores were a little higher, but they weren't lump sum and they weren't tax free," he said. "As career counsesupposed to be the honest broker bethe Army and the soldier. The main thing is to take care of the soldier.

The Army has not determined whether soldiers can extend their South Korea tours while they are in Iraq, which would mean even more money, Byers said. "There is the overseas extension program that can add an additional benefit of some free leave and a plane ticket back to the U.S., or $2,000 cash," he said, "... [But] with the issues about downsizing. I can't tell how this will reflect on the availability of that. Several soldiers re-enlisted at Camp Buehring in the last two weeks while waiting to head into Iraq. One of them, Sgt. Joe Ramos, of 2nd Brigade's Headquarters Headquarters Company, said it was a coincidence that his re-enlistment date fell while he was deployed.

The 34-year-old father from Kingsville, Texas, has eight vears' service, meaning he got a cool $15,000 from the Army. If he had re-enlist-gained him about $6,000, he figured. "I'm going to put it away and will probably invest some of it. I'll put some of it into savings for my little girl for when she gets older so she won't have to worry how she is going to pay for college," he However, re-enlisting was not about the money, said Ramos, whose father served 20 years in the Texas National Guard.

Kuwait

"It is good that I have got the money, but I always intended to re-enlist," he said. "I love the Army and I have always intended

Some people back in the U.S.

Kuwait employee accidentally shot

CAMP BEUHRING, Kuwait — A Bangladeshi worker was wounded by gunfire while 2nd Infantry Division soldiers from the 2nd Brigade Combat Team were training at a range in Kuwait, according to an Army spokesman.

The man, who was worker at Kuwait's Udairi Range, received what appeared to be a gunshot wound to his leg. The man, who had been warned not to enter the area, was collecting equipment behind a berm and not in the soldiers' line of sight when the accident happened, the official said.

Soldiers from the 1st Battalion, 503rd Infantry Regiment were training at the range at the time of the incident, the spokesman said.

The 1-503 is one of several Strike Force units that spent the early part of this month in Kuwait preparing for a yearlong deployment to

It is unclear whether the man's injuries were caused by a ricocheting bullet or by rocks hit by a bullet, he said.

Other range workers took the man to a medical facility at Camp Buehring, where he was treated, the official said.

might think he is crazy. Ramos

"Who in their right mind would want to do the job I do? Not a lot of people can say I'll go and deploy to another country," he said.
"One of the main reasons I do it is because I have my friends and family who I know are proud of me because of what I am doing."

Soldiers can re-enlist in Iraq any time before their end term of service (ETS). Byers said

"A soldier can re-enlist 12 months out from their end term of service. There is normally a 90-day window before the ETS when they can't re-enlist, but in Iraq soldiers can re-enlist right up to the ETS," he said.

Four career counselors deploved with Strike Force are providing information on re-enlistment options to all of the units on the ground, Byers said

When a soldier asks to resenlist, the career counselors ask them what their feelings are about the Army, he said.

Some soldiers don't mind being deployed but others are concerned about the impact on their families. In those cases, the best re-enlistment option is often one that stabilizes the soldier with a duty station, Byers said.

"The soldier will have a stable home life and the spouse can get a job. The soldier can do his year deployment and come back there," he said.

F-mail Seth Robson at: robsons@pstripes.osd.mil

NATO in Iraq to teach military management

BY WARD SANDERSON Stars and Stripes

While NATO has yet to announce its ultimate strategy for training security forces in Iraq, the alliance already has begun a pilot project schooling dozens of Iraqi senior officials in the ancient art of military manage-

About 40 alliance personnel - about half of them American — are in the Baghdad area training top-tier military and police leaders on how to lead forces and keep Irag's new structures from falling apart.

"That's what we're aiming for at the moment, is headquarters-level personnel," Lt Col. Petter Lindqvist, a Norwegian officer and spokesman for the mission, said from Baghdad

"This is like staff-college-level education

The team arrived in Iraq two weeks ago both to begin limited training and to look at how best to train forces on a larger scale later. The team will deliver its findings to Gen. James L. Jones, the supreme commander of NATO, who then will relay his final proposals to the North Atlantic Council. the alliance's chief decision-making body, in mid-September. After that, NATO theoretically could begin training Iraqis of more varied ranks and types.

"It includes all categories," Lindovist said. "So at this stage we haven't limited or narrowed on any one or specific group. That might come later, though

The alliance voted to begin training Iragis during its June summit in Istanbul, Turkey. France and Germany opposed deploying peacekeepers into Iraq, as the United States had asked, but in the end did allow the alliance to train Iraqi forces inside or outside the country. Lindqvist said he believed most of the training would be held inside Iraq

The current NATO team is made up of troops from Britain, Bulgaria, Hungary Italy, Norway, Poland, Romania and the United States. They arrived from NATO bases in Mons, Belgium; Naples, Italy; Stavanger, Norway; and Norfolk, Va.

Jones, a U.S. Marine Corps general, also visited the team in Iraq for two days earlier this month. He met with military leaders and even inspected Iraqi special forces, ac-cording to statements and photos released NATO's military headquarters in Mons.

Whatever its final form, Lindqvist said the training program will be tailored to whatever the new Iraqi forces need, as op-posed to telling Iraqi officers what to do. "We not here to impose the NATO system on the Iraqis structures," Lindqvist said. "Ouite the contrary.

E-mail reporter Ward Sanderson at sandersonw@mail.estrines.osd.mil

U.S. Marine Gen. James Jones, commander of Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe, visits with Kurdish troops during a recent tour of Iraq. About 40 NATO members are now in Baghdad to train senior Iraqi officials in the ancient art of military management.

U.S., Afghan forces nab 22 suspected Taliban

By STEPHEN GRAHAM
The Associated Press

KABUL, Afghanistan — U.S. and Afghan troops swept up 22 suspected Taliban fighters during a major search operation following a gumbattle in a southern Afghan mountain range, officials said Saturday.

Meanwhile, a renegade warlord was also taken into custody weeks after a clash with a powerful rival in the west of the country, as Afghan authorities try to improve security for October elections.

No Afghan or American soldiers were reported injured in fighting which broke out Friday and continued Saturday in southern Zabul province.

"This operation was launched to improve security for the people of Zabul province," Gov. Khial Mohammed said.

U.S. military spokesman Maj. Scott Nelson confirmed the operations in Zabul and neighboring Ghazni province, and said 22 Taliban suspects had been detained.

"We did have a major operation there," he said. It was not clear how many American and Afghan soldiers were taking part.

Further east, suspected Tailban fired on a convoy of trucks bringing supplies to a U.S. military base in Khost province, killing a driver and injuring his assistant, said Nashin Uddin, an aide to the local Afghan National Army commander.

The attack occurred Friday as the convoy made its way to Camp Salerno, a major U.S. base close to the Pakistani border.

Some 18,000 American-led troops are in Afghanistan to hunt down al-Qaida and Taliban fighters, and to help ensure security for presidential elections scheduled for Oct. 9.

The Taliban have vowed to disrupt the elections, and have launched frequent attacks on coalition soldiers, election workers and Afghan voters. The vote is also threatened by factional violence and the risk of intimidation by regional militia leaders.

In an attempt to extend its feeble control, the central government has arrested a warlord and brought him to the capital, weeks after his troops clashed with militiamen loyal to a powerful regional governor, officials said. Amanullah, a Pashtun warlord who goes by only one name, was brought to Kabul on Friday from the western province of Herat, said Jawed Ludin, a spokesman for President Hamid Karzai.

"He does not have the freedom to go back. He is in custody," said a senior Afghan official.

Dozens were killed in fighting which broke out earlier this month between Amanullah's fighters and those of Herat Gov. Ismail Khan, an ethnic Tajik strongman whose autocratic rule has alienated minorities and even some of his own commanders.

Ludin would not comment on speculation that Khan might be removed from power, but said the action against Amanullah was one in a series of steps that will unfold in the coming days.

"What happened to Amanullah was part of a wider plan to take all necessary measures to secure long-term stability in the region," Ludin said.

A Western diplomat said Khan was being pressed by the government to accept a senior post in Kabul — opening the way for the west to be disarmed and swept of unpopular faction leaders.

Overheated bridges melt down

Workers assess damage to bridges after they melted due to excessive heat generated by burning oil pipelines in al-Barjisiya, 18 miles southwest of Basra, Iraq, on Saturday. The fire allegedly was caused by militants attacking the pipelines.

Coming to your FIRSTRUN Theater! THE HUNT FOR THE BLOOD ORCHID Bahenhausen 15-21 Oct Baumholder 1-7 Oct A scentific expedition is sent to the jungle of Camp Doha 1-7 Oct neo to search for a rare Darmstadt 8-14 Oct black orchid by a powerful pharmaceutical company that hopes that the orchid Giebelstadt8-14 Oct can be used to unlock the 17-23 Sep Heidelberg secrets of youth and immortality. What they Illesheim 8-14 Oct Katterbach1-7 Oct discover is that the orchid .1-7 Oct Kitzingen is already being used by a powerful group...a swarm of giant snakes that derive their super strength, size and vitality from the flowers, and extremely Lakenheath 17-23 Sep Mildenhall10-16 Sep 24-30 Sep Ramstein Hercules Ramstein Nightingale17-23 Sep Rhein Main 1-7 Oct Spangdahlem8-14 Oct Vaihingen 24-30 Sep PG-13 PARENTS STRONGLY CAUTIONED Wuerzhurg10-16 Seg Showlimes are subject to change. Please check your local theater or aafes.com to verify show dates THEATERS

Testing shows DODDS pupils making gains

Students making progress in core subjects on standardized exams

BY SANDRA JONTZ Stars and Stripes

ARLINGTON, Va. - Students in the military's school system have made "significant gains" on a standardized test that measures progress in core subjects of math and reading, according to education officials earlier this month

Between 2002 and 2004, students in the Department of Defense Education Activity system, which includes students both in overseas schools and military schools in the United States, showed increases in the "above the standard" and "at the standard" levels of the TerraNova standardized test, which measures student progress in core curriculum subject areas

A contributing factor to the increase in scores is the school system's special focus in three areas in the past few years, said Janet Rope, the administrator for System Accountability and Research at DODEA headquartered in Arlington, Va.

"First is a focus on our high school pro grams. We have added new, more demanding courses, increased our graduation requirements, and provided teachers with training to help them meet student learning needs for all students," she said.

A few years ago, the system focused on reading programs for all students. Last year, math was the focus.

"We are developing more specific descrip tions of what students need to know and he able to do in the field of math," she said.

example, a section from the sixth-grade standards requires students to solve problems that use rational numbers, interpret and use ratios and find and use prime factorization of composite numbers.

"DODEA has also focused on our students with special learning needs. We have removed some of the nonteaching responsibilities from our special education teach ers, which gives them more teaching and learning time with their students.

Last year, the system hired 96 educators whose primary role is to administer diagnostic tests to special-needs students, she said. Before, special-education teachers administered those tests

A rough measure

The TerraNova is part multiple-choice part short answer, and covers reading, language arts, mathematics, science and social studies

The increases are measured in one, two and three percentage point differences which taken in the aggregate are significant. Rope said

"A change in test scores from one year to the next of one to five points for an individual student should not be cause for parental concern or celebration," she said

"Student scores can fluctuate several points without a real increase or decrease in what the student knows or can do. [But] when you total scores for over 60,000 stu dents, a change of one or two is very impor-tant."

In general, standardized tests can pro-are performing and can be a useful benchmark to compare one system or school to others, said Walt Haney, a professor in the School of Education at Boston College and a senior researcher at the Center for the of Testing, Evaluation and Educational Policy, or CSTEEP.

He does not oppose the use of standardized tests, but cau-tions against using them as the sole barometer to measure student progress. Tests should be used in conjunction with other measures such homework, projects, class participation and extracur-

"When you have a test that is being developed and normed and administered nationwide to a group that is not very familiar with it, they tend not to score as well.

ricular activities.

They have to put that statistic into some perspective. Haney said parents should be active in students' schooling to ensure they're getting a variety of lessons. widespread tests rather than teaching the broader cur-riculum," Haney said. state and federal governments link funding to the outcomes of standardized tests, and the results impact teaching and administrator

44 We have added new.

more demandina

courses, increased

our graduation requirements, and provided teachers

with training to help them meet student learning needs

for all students.

Administrator, System Accountability

Janet Rope

and Research at DODEA

jobs, and a school's status in public opinion, he said. "With so riding on standardized tests, it has led educators to focus on test preparation and to slight subjects that are not being tested, DODEA does use results of standards ized tests to set programs, teaching techniques and curricu-lum, Rope said.

"DODEA uses student achievement data, including the TerraNova results, to make a variety of decisions that impact all our students, decisions as to which programs to focus on, what training to provide teachers and administrators, and whether we spend addi-tional money on Program A or Program B," Rope said.

E-mail Sandra Jontz at: jontzs@stripes.osd.mil

Combat deployments didn't hurt students on TerraNova tests

70 percent of DODDS-Europe pupils scored better than national averages

BY CHARLIE COON Stars and Stripes

Students from military families in Europe scored well this spring on the TerraNova tests dethe disruption caused to many by Operation Iraqi Free-

About 70 percent of the 29,176

students took the test test national median while only about 9 percent scored the bottom quarter, according to the test results that were released this month by the Defense Education Activity.

The reasons included better training and material than at stateside schools, and a high percentage of employed parents living in supportive communities, according to Dr. Candace Ransing, deputy director of Department of Defense Dependents School in Europe.

"We do a really good job in two areas," she said. "We have a lot of staff development with our teachers and train them in latest teaching strategies that are proven to get kids to be successful.

"And we renew our curricu-lum every five to six years. The material the kids have is the best and brightest 66 [W]e renew our The tests are given to children curriculum in grades 3-11 in reading, every five to six guage arts, math, science and so-cial studies. They years. The include multiple material the open-ended ques-tions that require kids have is a written the best sponse.

and brightest. the scores were affected by Dr. Candace Ransing the high number DODDS deputy director of parents who were sent to Iraq for the war. Military communities such as Baumholder and Hanau in Germany, and Vicenza, Italy, did not experience a drop

Ransing

SEE TEST ON PAGE 7

Find Your Way Home Saturdays

Relocation Guide

Teachers study up for digital video classes

ARLIE COON/S

From left, Marty Kober, an art and video production teacher at a Naples, Italy, high school, and Patricia Kiebler, a video production teacher at a Heidelberg, Germany, middle school, finish editing their digital video project Friday at a seminar in Stuttgart.

BY CHARLIE COO Stars and Stripes

STUTTGART, Germany — Anything to get the kids interested.

"They'll fly with it," said Marty Kober.

"They'll pick it up faster than us," added Patricia Kiebler.

Digital video is not just cool, it's used throughout the business world. So 36 teachers from across Europe came to Stuttgart last week to brush up on their video-making skills and get ideas to bring back to their classrooms. After all, school starts Sept. 7.

"Our schools are being reinvented and rethought to meet the needs of our kids in the 21st century," said Pat Ridge, the liaison for video curriculum for the Department of Defense Dependent Schools in Europe.

"In a video lab, you're dealing with actively producing something, working with a team and handling expensive equipment."

Digital video technology is used by television, for business presentations, on the Internet. It is why DODDS is trying to install and improve video production classes at its schools.

On Thursday, the teachers trained on equipment and shared teaching ideas. On Friday, they had to put themselves in their students' shoes. They formed groups and scripted, planned and shot video, then made it into 30-second public service announce-it into 30-second public service announcements.

They also learned firsthand about deadline pressure. By mid-afternoon when time was up, some of the teachers hadn't yet finished their assignment.

The teachers were sure that their students would love working with video.

"You turn it on and the crowds come," said Becky Connolly, a teacher at Vilseck, Germany, American High School. "They like to see themselves on the screen, and they like people to see their work.

"The ones who have done it have so much pride in their accomplishment."

"They're going to want to do video for everything, all their projects," said Brandy Bell, who teaches at La Maddelna Elementary and Middle School in Sardinia. Larry Bruce, education technologist for the Bavaria district, said the courses began in DODDS in 2000. Only a few schools had the curriculum then; now most do. "The work favor wants students to collabo-

"The work force wants students to collaborate and work together," Bruce said. "This really lends itself to that collaboration."

E-mail Charlie Coon at:

nc@mail estrines osd mil

Test: Younger students having most difficulties on standardized tests

TEST, FROM PAGE 6

in scores, Ransing said, even though many fathers and mothers from there were sent to Iraq. "We thought the impact

"We thought [the impact] would show up this year," Ransing said. "Where we saw any change, it was maybe just one percentile [decrease], and that is not a big change.
"There were maybe a student here and there where you'd see change on an individual basis, but school-wide there was nothing in the statistics."

Ransing said she was a little

Ransing said she was a little concerned with the higher number of third-, fourthfifth-graders who were struggling in math. science and reading.

Instead of the DODDS-wide statistic of 9 percent scoring in the bottom quarter, from 12 to 15 percent of the younger students were struggling in these subjects.

Ransing said the schools were focusing on recognizing the struggling students earlier and giving them special attention. "For third-graders, it's their first time taking that kind of test," Ransing said.

"For a third-grader to sit and focus on this battery of tests is not focus on this battery of tests is not an easy task. We take that into consideration.

"Third grade is a real transition year for children. In kindergarten, first and second grade, they're getting basic skills. When they hit the third grade, the content starts taking effect in reading, math and problem solving. It's a transition year. You're getting into the big leagues now."

coonc@mail.estripes.osd.mil

Your future is bright.

Make it brighter. Learn more about the issues that matter most by reading Stars and Stripes everyday.

personal finance • military pay benefits educational opportunities and more

Open enrollment for insurance program

A monthlong open enrollment for the Federal Employee's Group Life Insurance program begins Sept. 1, giving eligible employees a chance to sign up or update needs and coverage.

Participants can elect any coverage desired. Those who previously waived coverage can enroll without having a physical and without answering any medical questions, according to newly released enrollment information.

Insurance coverage takes a year to become effective. Coverage picked during the open enrollment period becomes effective the first pay period beginning on or after Sept. 4, 2005, and participants don't begin paying premiums until coverage goes into effect next Detailed information and a revised FEGLI Booklet (RI-76-21) will be available at: www.fegli2004.opm.gov beginning Sept. 1. Information also is available by calling (877) 521-1923. Counselors are available Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. EST.

From staff reports

AAFES gas prices in Europe to fluctuate

BY WARD SANDERSON Stars and Stripes

Gas guzzlers at many military pumps in Europe may both gulp more and go dry in September, depending on where they drive and their preferred fuel flavor

The cost of unleaded gasoline at Army and Air Force Exchange pumps in Germany and Britain will drop three to four cents a gallon, while at the same time diesel increases

The Netherlands loses all around, with unleaded gas costing 10 cents more and diesel costing 24 cents more a gallon, according to an AAFES news release countries, either because prices are set annually or the Navy manages that area's military gas prices.

The cause for confusion is that the unleaded price of gasoline in the United States went down in recent weeks, but diesel did not. According to the Department of Energy, as of Aug. 23 American diesel prices were up 37 cents a gallon compared with the same time last year.

"Gas prices in the U.S. are fluctuating slightly but there is an increased demand for diesel and a stilted supply," said Maj. David Accetta, spokesman for AAFES in Europe, citing the Oil Pricing Information

Though AAFES attempts to adjust its European prices to mirror the past four weeks' prices in the United States. it won't do it where the cost of fuel is too high. In the Netherlands, home to the European Union's highest petrol prices, local costs were so high that AAFES raised prices for September instead of following the American trend

Military drivers stationed in the Netherlands may try buying coupons in Germany if they're visiting, as the same coupons work in both countries.

sandersonw@mail.estripes.osd.mil

Prices for September

In Germany, with Europe's largest concentration of military drivers, nor-mal unleaded drops from $2.08 per gallon to $2.05. Super unleaded drops from $2.18 to $2.14. Diesel increases from $1.91 to $1.99.

In Britain, super unleaded drops from $2.11 to $2.08 per gallon. Diesel rises from $1.84 to $1.93.

In the Netherlands, super unleaded rises from $2.19 to $2.29 per gallon. Super plus unleaded increases from $2.43 to $2.53. Diesel increases from

- Ward Sanderson

200-year-old U.S. Army camp found on shores of Ohio River

BY SUSAN SKILES LUKE

The Associated Press

PULASKI COUNTY, Ill. - Arrowheads that turn up in the mud after a heavy rain are common here, but now archaeologists are digging up broken bits of fine china, parts of military uniforms and even charred firewood, relics of one of the biggest Army camps in the earliest days of the republic that went unnoticed for two centu-

Known as Cantonment Wilkinson — named after Gen. James Wilkinson, the man who ran it the camp housed as many as 1,500 soldiers in 1801-1802, about a third of the standing U.S. Army at the time, historians say. Alexander Hamilton

George Washington had posted them along the Ohio River, a few miles from where it meets the Mississippi, to take the Mississippi River from the Spanish by force is a war ensued.

When it didn't, the camp was abandoned and crumbled into the brown clay — until this summ when residents led Southern Illinois University archaeologists to

"It's a significant find," said Robert Moore, a historian with the National Park Service in St. Louis and author of a book on explorers Meriwether Lewis and William Clark. Lewis and Clark had noted the abandoned camp when they sailed by in 1803, on their way to their historic expedition.

In the past few weeks, SIU archaeologists have dug eight rectangular holes into the grassy field. where they believe cellars, trash pits and old latrines stood under rows of log houses.

They've pulled from the soil and clay pieces of broken china, some still painted with dainty orange petals

They've also bagged and tagged truckload of rust-encrusted nails, broken bricks and window glass, as well as what looks like a boot heel, said archaeologist Mark Wager of SIU's Center for Archae ological Investigations, who heads the project.

"Someone described it as the only time-travel device we have," archaeologist Jon Pressley said as he scraped topsoil from a bath-tub-sized trench, handing it to others to sift through metal trays for any bits of history

The dirt walls around him show streaks of black, where wood from long-ago trash fires burned, pre served in the hard clay for the past 200 years.

The arrowheads that have been found were made by Cherokee who inhabited the camp after the soldiers left.

The field went unnoticed by archeologists for so long because people were looking for the wrong relics, Wager said. Because the camp wasn't a fort, it didn't have the kind of heavy artillery that can be easily excavated generations later, such as the artifacts found upriver a few miles at Fort Mas-

Instead, soldiers simply lived and trained in "Wilkinsonville," as it was known, in preparation for fighting elsewhere, he said. Instead of leaving cannons, they left a light scattering of household items from daily life.

"These might seem small and in-significant, but they tell us the story of how these men lived here in the frontier," Wager said. The digging is now done for the summer, and Wager hopes the Illinois Historic Preservation Agency and the Library of Congress will continue to fund the project so he can return with his team next year. He's received about $60.000 for it so far.

Southern Illinois University graduate students Bryan Carlo, left, and Franz Lauer work at an archaeological dig at the site of an Army camp that housed up to 1,500 soldiers in 1801-1802.

Messages of Support

All of our love and support !!! May God bless you and keep you safe, defend our freedom and thanks so much for being so brave and dedicated to loving this great country of ours and what it stands for. Keep your head held high, be proud. There are alot of people behind you and praying for your safe return. God bless you and may God bless America!!! Believe in yourself and we will win !!!! All of our prayers go

All I can say is a big Thank you for all that you are doing. Stay safe.

with you. Mabel and Greg Liley

PCS doesn't have to mean Permanent Change of School.

With K12's complete, portable curriculum and learning tools for grades K-8, school goes with your family on TDY!

Order before September 3 to get everything you need to help your children learn at home and receive up to $600 off!

To learn more, call toll free 1-888-YOUR K12, ext. 8331, or visit www.K12.com/military.

"Hey, D. Larry what'sssssss uupppppppppp. I found you you jar head bastard. Mainor says Hi. The mail's on its way. Including those special requests. We all are so proud of you. Stay focused and complete your mission. By the way Mom says, let those East LA feelings that you have within you to come out. Shoot Straight, Your Brother Charlie. Semper Fi little brother...

Messages of Support

I am writing to let you know how much i appreciate wht you are doing in Iraq. May gods eyes show you the way, His hands keep you far from harm and his heart grant you the strength, courage wisdom to come home safely! Good luck and Gods Speed. Sincerly Yours, G. Pichirallo

Just wanted to thank each and every one of you serving our country. My prayers are with you all! Thank you for fighting for the freedom that I get to live in every We love you and are proud of you all. Grace and Peace,

Dear servicemembers- I would like to thank you for your courage, loyalty, and service to America. You are fighting to not only protect our freedoms but to bring the freedoms we take for granted to others. We support you and are praying for your safe return every day. Thank you and God bless you all! Love, Sarah

STEVE LIEWER/Stars and String

Soldiers from the 2nd Squadron, 6th Cavalry Regiment from Illesheim, Germany, fly an Army AH-64 Apache near Camp Virginia, Kuwait, before the start of Operation Iraqi Freedom in 2003. Members of the 2-6 Cav are preparing for a yearlong deployment to Afghanistan.

Redeployment in order for Europe-based troops

BY STEVE LIEWER Stars and Stripes

GIEBELSTADT, Germany— It seems as if the paint on the "Welcome home" posters from last year's Iraq deployment had barely dried when the news came last week to thousands of Europe-based soldiers and their families.

Get ready for another year in the desert.

"I figured, coming into the Army, that we'd be deployed a lot," said Spc. Brian Ferry, 20, of the 3rd Battalion, 158th Aviation Regiment, a UH-60 Black Hawk unit from Giebelstadt, Germany. "Tm already looking forward to setting it over with."

In July, the Pentagon announced the major divisions and brigades that would take over early next year for the big units now serving in Iraq and Afghani-

That rotation list painted a broad-brush picture of what Operation Iraqi Freedom 3 and Operation Enduring Freedom 6 would look like. Last week, the theater commands sketched in the finer

™MOAA

CALLED TO FIGHT AGAIN

The following U.S. Army Europe units are in receipt of deployment orders for Operation Iraqi Freedom 3:

V CORPS

- Headquarters and Headquarters Company, 18th Military Police Brigade ■ Headquarters and Head-
- quarters Detachment, 793rd Military Police Battalion 464th Medical Detachment
- (Dental)
- 17th Signal Battalion ■ 51st Transportation Compa-
- 236th Medical Company (Air Ambulance)
- 515th Transportation Com-

- 41st Transportation Compa-
- 377th Transportation Com-
- 240th Quartermaster Com-
- pany ■ 578th Signal Company
- 619th Movement Control
- 64th Medical Detachment (Veterinary) ■ 94th Engineer Battalion

21ST THEATER SUPPORT COMMAND

- 95th Military Police Battalion
- 70th Transportation Compa-

Source: U.S. Army Europe

details, sending "warning orders" for a probable yearlong deployment to about 8,400 U.S. Army Europe troops in battalion, company and detachment-sized groups that will out the divisions and brigades. About 5,500 of those will support the Southern European Task Force's 173rd Airborne Brigade from Vicenza, Italy, in Afghanistan. SETAF's air support will

SEE DEPLOY, PAGE 10

AN OFFICER NEVER STOPS SERVING. AND NEITHER DO WE. You lead two lives. And each one demands 100% from you. So you

No guarantees for soldiers without orders

GIEBELSTADT, Germany
— While thousands of V Corps soldiers brought home warning orders for Iraq or Afghanistan last week, just as many who feared getting them did not.

But no one is heaving any big sigh of relief.

"Because of the way it happened the first time, I don't have any expectations," said Sgt. 1st Class Erica Holloway, 33, of the 3rd Battalion, 58th Aviation Regiment's headquarters company, which hasn't received orders. "If we go, we go, and if we don't, we don't." U.S. Army Europe com-

U.S. Army Europe commanders have warned that the list of units receiving orders is complete for now, but by no means final. There could be additions, or substitutions.

Spc. James Griffin, 23, serves in Company B, 7th Battalion, 159th Aviation Regiment, based in Griebelstadt. He's not sure if he'll be following up last year's Iraq tour with one in Afghanistan, like hundreds of other soldiers from his base. A USAREUR news release Tuesday said his company was deploying, but it was deleted from a revised notice the next day.

"I'll be disappointed if my unit [isn't] going," Griffin said. "I went to Iraq last time, but now I want to see something different. That's why I joined the Army."

Staff Sgt. Jose Estrada, 34, spent a year in Iraq with the 5th Battalion, 158th Aviation Regiment, a UH-60 Black Hawk unit. Its sister unit at Giebelstadt, the 3rd Battalion, 158th Aviation Regiment which returned from Iraq two months after his battalion got deployment orders, but his did not.

For Estrada, that's good news. He's planning to leave the Army on Nov. 1 after 13 years, partly because of the rigors of his last deployment.

"Since we were the first to come back, we expected to be the first to go," he said. "But I'm pretty sure 5th Battalion will get their number, too."

At Illesheim, the 2nd Squadron, 6th Cavalry Regiment got orders for Operation Enduring Freedom. The 6th Squadron, 6th Cavalry Regiment right next door did not. Both served in Iraq during the war.

"From all the talk I really don't think that 6/6 (Cavalry) is 'safe,' so to speak," said Jeanne Kelly, wife of a Troop D sergeant. "I am sure we will go somewhere — eventually."

- Steve Liewe

W W W . J O I N M O A A . O R G

of officers and their families for 75 years.

Join now. Call (800) 234-6622 or visit www.joinmoaa.org

need someone fighting for you on the issues that count - pay, health insurance, benefits. Rest easy. MOAA has been championing the interests

MOAA fights for you in Washington and provides a host of vital resources and benefits that serve the needs of officers and their families. But to remain strong, we need the support of every officer. Why not add your voice to MOAA? Sign up now for the special introductory price of only $12.

Deploy: Troops see positives of orders

DEPLOY, FROM PAGE 9

come from veteran V Corns units that served in Kuwait and Iraq between October 2002 and March 2004: Apache Longbows from the 2nd Squadron, 6th Cavalry Regiment in Illesheim, Germany; and from Giebelstadt, the 3-158 Aviation Black Hawks, two companies of CH-47 Chinooks, and the 12th Aviation Brigade's headquarters company.

About 2,900 more V Corps troops will head to Iraq. The largest units are the 17th Signal Battalion from Kitzingen and the 94th Engineer Battalion from

For new soldiers, or for those left in Germany during the first two OIF deployments, it's a chance to jump in on the adventure "I don't mind going at all," said Pfc. Christopher Verost, 21, of the 3-158 Aviation who enlisted last year so he could fight in the war on terror. "That's one of the reasons I joined the Army

Some single soldiers also are looking forward to the chance to pile up a year's worth of deployment cash. They earn combat pay on top of tax-free salaries, and they won't be spending their paychecks on dates, travel, stereos and beer while they're in Iraq or Afghanistan.

"We're all single. It's different for us." said Pfc. Adam Kortlever. 23, of the 3-158 Aviation, as he ate a chow-hall lunch with Verost and another buddy. "It's a great opportunity for us to save up

It's hard to find anyone in the affected units who was blindsided by the deployment news. On every base in Europe, the rumor mill has churned for months.

"We pretty much knew we were going to do something," said Spc. Juan Haninger, 23, also of the 3-158 Aviation

"Even if you don't have official warning orders, you know," said Noelle Sammons, 32, whose hus-band is a pilot in the same unit. "If anyone is surprised, then they aren't paying attention.

That it was expected, though, doesn't make the blow any easier for soldiers with families who struggled through one yearlong separation and now face another. The punishing operations tempo has become a fact of Army life since the invasion of Iraq.

"A year is a long time," Sammons said. "It'll be hard, but we'll do it. We're not going to sit and be miserable.'

"Now we know what a year apart is like," said her husband, Chief Warrant Officer 2 Mark Sammons, 32.

The silver lining to a return trip for some is that the mystery is gone. They know how long they'll be gone, they know what deployment is like, and they'll know they're with buddies they can

Soldiers from 2nd Squadron, 6th Cavalry Regiment stand outside their vehicles near Nasiriyah on their way to Iraq at the start of the war in March 2003.

"We all know. We've been down there with each other. That makes it a lot easier," Gabel said.

"I can't say I'm excited." added Haninger, "but I'm real comfortable with the guys I'm going down with."

Another plus is that the hot, dirty camps they built from scratch last year in Iraq have now added "luxuries" such as phone and Internet tents, chow halls, showers and air-conditioning. All were rare during the 17th Signal Battalion's six-month Iraq tour in 2003. They'll be returning to much better digs.

"We're looking forward to the improvements," said 1st Lt. Nicole Rabold, personnel officer and adjutant for the Kitzingen-based unit. "We were down there when we had, seriously, nothing.

Amenities or no, soldiers know that Army life isn't meant to be easy. A deep culture of service and sacrifice mutes the griping, even when the duty is hard. "Our nation is calling for us to go out and do our mission, and that's what we are going to do," said Staff Sgt. Lamont Watkins, logistics noncommissioned officer for the Bamberg-based 793rd Military Police Company, which is getting its first wartime call-up.

Dedicated Year-Round In-Country Sales & Support

"I have a [18-month-old] baby, and I'm a little sad about leaving, but everything else is all right, said Sgt. Luis Sosa, who serves in the same unit. "I'm just trying to over there, get it over with and come back home safe

E-mail Steve Liewer at: liewers@mail.estripes.osd.mil

Memorial planned for beloved Vicenza teacher

VICENZA, Italy - A memorial service will be held Tuesday at Caserma Ederle for Joseph Pellerito, the longest serving teacher at Vicenza Elementary School.

Pellerito, 70, died at a local hospital Thursday after suffering a severe stroke. He first started teaching at Vicenza in 1964 after two years in Frankfurt, Germany.

Pellerito taught the middle grades at the school and also served as a coach at the high school, most recently in girls' bas-ketball and volleyball. He was just a few weeks away from starting another year at the school School starts Sept. 7.

"He was wonderful to work with," said fellow teacher Betty Linden, whose two children had Pellerito as their sixth-grade teacher. "He had a wonderful sense of humor and was so full of

"He didn't just teach the basics, but helped his students become better people."

Pellerito served two years in the Army in the 1950s before joining the predecessor of the Department of Defense Dependent Schools system in 1962.

The memorial service will be held at 4 p.m. at the base chapel He is survived by his wife Mary; daughters, Rebecca and Jennifer; son, James; and five grandchildren

Thoughts for the family can be sent to the school, Unit 31401, Box 11, APO AE 09630 or via e-mail: principal_vicenza_es@ en odedodea edu

Read Stripes online at www.stripes.com

War Is Tough on Families

Military life has enough challenges without worrying about how your loved ones will contact you... especially during times of conflict. I know, because I grew up in a military family and served as a Navy Admiral.

You can count on the American Red Cross to help you wherever you go. Whether you're at sea, or on an installation, we can help your loved ones back home get messages to you, or from you, in case of emergency. We can also help you through counseling and other needed assistance.

The Red Cross was there for my family, and we'll be there for yours. In fact, we support thousands of military families each year.

For more information, or to learn how you can help, please contact your local Red Cross or visit www.redcross.org. Thank you.

Merans

Together, we can save a life

IN THE WORLD

Traces of explosives in 2nd jet wreckage

BY JIM HEINTZ The Associated Press

MOSCOW — Officials said Saturday they had found traces of an explosive on the wreckage of the second of two Russian airliners that crashed just minutes apart earlier this week. That would indicate terrorists caused both aviation tragedies.

Evidence of the explosive hexogen were found on the Tu-134 jetliner that crashed Tuesday in the Tula region, about 100 miles south of Moscow, said Sergei Ignatchenko, spokesman for the Federal Security Service.

Discovery of the explosive residue on the second jetliner was revealed one day after authorities said residue of the same explosive material was found on the wreckage of a Tu-154 that crashed farther south in Russia, near the town of Rostov.

Officials said the explosive residue showed terrorists brought down that plane.

Both planes crashed Tuesday night after taking off from Moscow's Domodedovo airport, one of Russia's most modern and sophisticated air hubs. The findings of explosives indicated significant weaknesses in security for the air transport network that spans the vast country.

A Web site connected to Islamic militants claimed the crashes were retaliation for Russia's ongoing war in Chechnya, and Russian officials said they were investigating the backgrounds of two female passengers with Chechne surnames — one on each of the planes.

Several suicide bombings in recent years have been blamed on Chechen women who lost husbands or brothers in the war and chaos that have plagued the southern republic for most of the past decade.

On Saturday, the newspaper Izvestia cited a Chechen village leader, Dogman Akhmadow, as saying that the brother of one of the suspect women had disappeared three or four years ago and was believed to have fallen victim to Russian forces who are widely accused of civilian abductions and summary executions in Chechnya.

Both women had booked tickets on the flights at the last minute and were the only victims whose relatives have not contacted authorities, officials said. One of the women gave only her surname and first initial in booking the ticket, according to reports.

Lika, right, wife of Moscow businessman Tengiz Yakobashvili, who was killed in one of Tuesday's two nearly simultaneous plane crashes, cries Friday during her husband's funeral in Moscow. At left is Lika's sister Mzia.

President Vladimir Putin made no public comment on the discovery of traces of explosives three days after what one major newspaper called Russia's Sept. 11.

Powell cancels trip to Olympics

The Associated Press

ATHENS, Greece — U.S. Secretary of State Colin Powell canceled a weekend visit to attend the closing ceremony of the Olympics, prompting Greek communists who had organized anti-American protests in central Athens to claim victory Saturday. The cancellation eased fears that Powell's appearance at Sunday night's closing ceremony of the Olympics would have been booed by spectators, marring the festivities. The U.S. State Department made the announcement hours after police used tear gas in central Athens on Friday night to break up a march by about 1,500 demonstrators protesting Powell's one-day trip.

Greece's foreign ministry said Powell told his Greek counterpart, Petros Moliviatis, that "urgent responsibilities" prevented him from carrying out the visit, which was to include meetings with U.S. Olympic athletes and government leaders.

In a Greek translation of Pow-

In a Greek translation of Powell's letter, the secretary said he would visit in October instead. The change would allow his meetings to concentrate on "subjects of mutual interest" after Greece was no longer involved with the

Iran offers 'guarantees' it won't seek nukes

BY ALI AKBAR DAREINI

The Associated Press

TEHRAN, Iran — Iran is ready to provide "guarantees" it won't seek nuclear weapons, President Mohammad Khatami said Satuday, urging the United Nations' nuclear watchdog agency to close its investigation into the country's program when it meets next month.

The United States, which says Iran is trying to develop weapons, is pushing the International Atomic Energy Agency to refer Tehran to the U.N. Security Council, which could impose sanctions. The IAEA has already sharply criticized Iran for not coming clean about its nuclear program, and European countries increasingly have expressed concern.

But Khatami urged the agency to resist U.S. pressure, saying any concerns over a program Iran insists aims only to produce energy can be cleared up.

"I hope we will go one step for-

"I nope we will go me step torward, away from political pressures, when the agency meets in September. Iran has taken steps toward building greater confidence and many of the problems that existed has been removed," Khatami told a press conference in Tehran.

"We are ready to do everything necessary to give guarantees that won't seek nuclear weapons," Khatami said. "As Muslims, we can't use nuclear weapons. One who can't use nuclear weapons won't produce them." He did not elaborate on the kinds of guarantees his country was willing to give. Iran has allowed international inspections of its nuclear facilities and military sites. Tehran has made such an offer before, but this is the first time the government has said so publicly it would provide guarantees to ease international concerns about its controversial nuclear program.

the wake of the 9/11 terrorist attack on the United States.

If you responded to the attack by joining the military and would like us to consider your story for publication, please fill up the form found at:

www.defendamerica.mil/forms/CallAction.html

British official urges Sudan to protect refugees

BY ED JOHNSON The Associated Press

AL-FASHER, Sudan — British Foreign Secretary Jack Straw, meeting people camping in the desert and scrubland of troubled Darfur, said Tuesday the Sudanese government must do more to make it safe for them to go home.

Straw's tour of the conflict-ravaged region came as the U.N.
deadline neared for Khartoum to disarm Arab militiamen, accused of terrorizing African farmers, or face economic and diplomatic sanctions. Elsewhere, Nigerian mediators struggled to get the Sudanese government and rebels to reach an agreement that could allow for more progress toward calm before the deadline.

More than 30,000 people have cam before the deadline.

More than 30,000 people have been killed and 1.4 million forced to flee their homes in what the United Nations has described as the world's worst humanitarian crisis. Some have gone further, calling it genocide, a designation

many believe would force the international community to take strong action.

Straw, whose country has veto power on the Security Council, said officials should be in a position by the end of the week to decide whether Khartoum had made sufficient progress in easing the crisis to avoid sanctions.

"It is for Kofi Annan to judge the extent to which they have complied," he said, sweating in the searing heat of the desert, before leaving Darfur for talks in the capital with Sudanese President Omar el-Bashir.

Women in brightly colored robes had clamored around Straw at a watering point in the Abu Shouk camp, home to more than 40,000 people and near Al-Fasher, the provincial capital of northern Darfur.

Straw said it was clear from their stories that many would not return to their villages because of fears of attacks by the Arab militias known as the Janjaweed.

He said there had been

Sudanese children run in front of a U.N. vehicle guarded by Sudanese policemen Saturday near the U.N. office in Al-Fasher, the capital of north Darfur, Sudan.

progress since the Security Council set the Aug. 30 deadline, noting that humanitarian aid groups had been granted access to the western region and that security in the camps had improved.

But "people are still very anxious, apprehensive and nervous about whether they will be safe to go back to the villages from which they have come," Straw said. "There is still a lack of confidence that it is safe for them to return home, and that has got to be pinned down."

Straw said the Sudanese government and two rebel factions that took up arms in February 2003 demanding greater political representation must thrash out a settlement at peace talks held in Abuja, Nigeria, to end the crisis. In Darfur, Straw did not respond directly when asked whether he saw evidence of ethnic cleansing and genocide.

"People here have suffered grievously," Straw said. "People have lost their lives and they have lost their lives and they have lost their lives and because been injured and because children have been uproted, many are suffering from malnutrition. The crucial challenge now is not the description, but what we do about the problem and how we try to turn it around."

Cell phone glitch

FRANKFURT, Germany — Siemens AG said Friday it anticipates unspecified additional costs from a software problem with new mobile phones that has led retailers to suspend sales.

The German electronics company said five models of its new 65 series could under certain circumstances emit a piercing melody into users' ears if the battery fails during a call.

Hearing damage could result "in extreme cases," the company said in a statement.

Siemens said it has redesigned the phones' software and is waiting for its approval by network operators before offering it for use, which is expected next month.

Truck toll on track

BERLIN — Germany's off-delayed satellite truck-toll system is now being successfully tested and is on track to be put in place by Jan. 1, 2005, officials said in published reports Saturday.

The system, being designed and implemented by the Toll Collect consortium made up of Daimler Chrysler, Deutsche Telekom and France's Cofroute, is to use Global Positioning System satellites to track the distance trucks travel on toll roads and mobile phone equipment to transmit billing data.

It was supposed to be in place by August 2003, but Toll Collect ran into repeated technical problems, pushing the target date to Jan. 1, 2005 for a scaled-down ver-

From The Associated Press

Attention Active Duty Military!

Earn your Bachelor or Master in Information Technology Management or Bachelor in Computer Science!

Touro University International has the ONLINE Information Technology program for you

- B.S. and M.S. degrees in Information Technology Management or B.S. in Computer Science
- Special rates for military spouses

NO TUITION COST TO YOU! UP TO 28 CREDITS PER YEAR

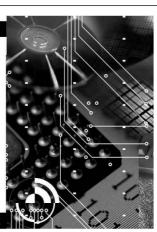

TOURO UNIVERSITY INTERNATIONAL www.tourou.edu

5665 Plaza Dr., Third Floor, Cypress, CA 90630 800-579-3161 • 714-816-0366 • 714-816-0367 Fax

College of Information Technology e-mail: infocis@tourou.edu
For inquiries log on to: http://inquiry.tourou.edu

Now Accepting Applications for the Fall 2004 Session.

IN THE STATES

FBI probes alleged spying at Pentagon

BY CURT ANDERSON The Associated Press

WASHINGTON - The FRI is investigating whether a Pentagon analyst fed to Israel secret materials about White House deliberations on Iran The investigation could strain U.S.-Israeli relations and muddy the Bush administration's Middle East policy.

No arrests have been made said two federal law enforcement officials, speaking on condition of anonymity because of the continu-ing investigation. A third law enforcement official, also speaking anonymously, said an arrest in the case could come as early as next week

Two of those officials raised the possibility the government might not bring espionage charges, but rather lesser ones that could include the mishandling of sensitive government material.

The officials refused to identify the Pentagon employee under investigation but said the person is an analyst in the office of Douglas J. Feith, undersecretary of de-fense for policy, the Pentagon's No. 3 official.

White House spokesman Scott McClellan, traveling with President Bush on a campaign visit in Dayton, Ohio, said he was not in a position to discuss a continuing in-

Analyst may have fed Israel info on U.S. policy toward Iran

"Obviously, any time there is an allegation of this nature, it's a serious matter," he said. The Pentagon said in a statement the investigation involves an employee at "the desk officer level, who was not in a position to have significant influence

U.S. policy Nor could a foreign power be in a position to influence U.S. policy through this individual. One of the law enforcement officials said the person was not in a policy-making position but had access to extremely sensitive information about U.S. policy toward

The Pentagon said Friday night it had cooperated with the Justice Department for "an extended period of time '

David Siegel, a spokesman for the Israeli Embassy in Washington, said, "We categorically deny these allegations. They are completely false and outrageous.

Feith is an influential aide to Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld who works on sensitive policy issues including U.S. policy toward Iraq and Iran. Feith's office includes a group assigned specifically to work on Iran.

The investigation centers on whether the Pentagon analyst passed secrets about U.S. policy on Iran to the main pro-Israeli lob bying group in Washington, the American Israel Public Affairs Committee, which then was said to have given the secrets to the Isgovernment, one official said. Both AIPAC and Israel deny the allegations

In Israel, the chairman of the Knesset's Foreign Affairs and Defense Committee said Saturday that Israel worries about Iran's nuclear policies. But Yuval Steinitz said he is confident the government has not abandoned a 20-year-old decision not to spy on the United States

Bush has identified Iran as part

North Korea and the Iraqi govern-ment deposed by the U.S.-led invasion last year

Yet his administration has battled internally over how hard a line to take toward

Department and some at the White House's National Security Council have advocated tougher policies.

the Defense

Israel, one of the United States' strongest allies, has worked behind its conservative prime minister, Ariel Sharon, to push the United States toward a tougher stance against Iran. The Israeli tactics have raised questions whether inside information may have been used to try to influence U.S. poli-

AIPAC said in a statement that the lobbying group was "fully cooperating with the governmental authorities and will continue to do so." It said any allegation of criminal conduct by the group or its employees was "baseless and

The Pentagon investigation has included wiretapping and surveillance and searches of the suspected Pentagon employee's computer, the law enforcement officials said

Despite the close U.S.-Israeli relations, this is not the first alle gation of spying on Israel's behalf.

Jonathan Pollard, a former naval intelligence officer, was convicted of giving top-secret documents to Israel in the mid-1980s. He continues to be a point of contention in U.S.-Israeli relations. The Israeli government has repeatedly pressed for his re-lease, but intelligence officials have called the information he passed to the Israelis highly dam-

Pollard was caught in Washing-ton in November 1985, and was arrested after unsuccessfully seeking refuge at the Israeli Embassy

N.Y. subway plot uncovered

NEW YORK - Two men have been arrested in connection with an alleged plot to bomb a subway station in midtown Manhattan, sources said early Saturday.

At least one of the men may have an affiliation with a terrorist organization, according to two law enforcement sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity. The sources said the group in question was not believed to be al-Oaida

The men appeared to be acting independently, and there was no evidence that the alleged plot to bomb the subway station at 34th Street was an attempt to disrupt the Republican National Convention, which is taking place a block away, the sources said,

The two men tried get explosives to bomb the station but did not succeed in obtaining any, the sources said. There was no timeline for the plot, which was first reported by WNBC early Saturday

Florida touchscreen voting debate

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — A state rule barring the 15 Florida counties with touchscreen voting from conducting manual recounts is at odds with state law, which re ires hand recounts in some close elections, a judge ruled Friday.

A coalition including government watchdogs and other interest groups sued the state, arguing the law requires provisions for hand recounts in every county, no matter what voting technology is used. With a primary election Tuesday and more than half the state's voters in counties that use touchscreens, it is not clear what those counties will do.

Secretary of State Glenda Hood, who issued the ruling preventing manual recounts in touchscreen counties in April, was considering appealing Friday's decision, a spokeswoman said. An appeal would keep Hood's rule in

From The Associated Press

Accessorize... Indulge..

Whether you crave keyless remote entry, all-leather interior, or a convertible top... with rates this low, you can afford all the extra accessories.

New & Used Auto Loans

- Up to 60 months · Defer your first
- payment for up to 90 days

Call today for your loan by phone, 0-800-585-765.

Membership and credit eligibility required. "Actual rates vary based on credit history, Example: Monthly payments are approximately $1817 per $1,000 borrowed at 3,45% APR for 60 months.

Interest accrues from date of loan.

GOP strategists urge shift to the future at convention

BY RON FOURNIER The Associated Press

NEW YORK - Nervous Republicans are urging President Bush to unveil a robust second-term agenda at his convention next week to shift voters' focus from the unpopular war in Iraq and other issues that are a distraction to his re-election drive. Some con tend the party should ditch the GOP-fueled controversy over rival John Kerry's combat record in Vietnam.

"If he gets on the future and ef-fectively talks about the challenges that are ahead that only he can meet, then he'll be fine," said Joe Gaylord, a Republican strategist from Washington.

"But if this campaign continues to be about Vietnam and the past. don't think he's going to do so fine. I think it's a little dicey.

As they packed their bags for the trip to New York, several convention delegates and GOP operatives said they had hoped Bush would be comfortably ahead of the Democratic challenger by now. They still like Bush's chances against Kerry, the party faithful said, but only if Bush takes full advantage of the convention spotlight. They offered a wide range of advice, including:

■ Condemn Kerry's 19-year record in the Senate, and perhaps even his stint as lieutenant governor and prosecutor in Massachu-

Remind voters of Bush's performance after the Sent 11 2001 attacks, which produced the high est approval ratings of his presidency ■ Defend his first-term record, but not so much that it overshadows his vision for a second term. The good news for the White House is the convention script hits

Bush is more vulnerable thev than would like certainly more exposed to a Nov. 2 defeat

each of those than they ever thought possible before the Iraq war. There has been a lot of noise out there, with Iraq and even this Vietnam stuff," said Terry Grosenheider, a delegate from Madison, Wis. "He hasn't been able to talk about his accomplishments or, more importantly, his solutions to the problems people are facing Sig Rogich, a Republican strategist in Nevada, said Bush has to take the fight to Kerry.

"I don't think the campaign has done the best job of defining John Kerry yet," Rogich said. "I think the hest is yet to come

Many voters have soured on the war in Iraq, and their discontent has hurt Bush's approval ratings. With the death toll of U.S. troops nearing 1,000, several of the Republicans said Bush's political team doesn't realize how angry and anxious Americans are over Iraq. Each death dominates local news, often in a battleground state

Bush acknowledged Thursday in an interview that he miscalculated the postwar scenario in Iraq And the president comes to his convention on with some wind at his back. Polls show he is tied or slightly ahead of Kerry, who focused his nominating convention on his valorous Vietnam War record. The tactic helped Kerry narrow Bush's advantage on who would best protect the nation, but polls show those gains have eroded amid unproven allegations, leveled by a Republican-funded veterans group, that the Democrat exaggerated his combat record. Several Republicans they'd rather see the issue go

"My hope is that, come Monday, the Vietnam thing will be submerged and voters will be focusing on the president and his agen-" said Charlie Black a Republic can strategist in Washington.

Patrol crafts from the Coast Guard, one of the varied government entities providing security for the Republican Convention in New York this ver in a demonstration in the Hudson River on Thursday.

Diverse agencies pitch in to secure New York

BY TOM HAYS The Associated Press

NEW YORK - Worried about security at the Republican National Convention? Rest easy: the Environmental Protection Agency is on the job. So are the North American Aerospace Defense Com-mand and the U.S. Postal Service. The Coast Guard, too.

While the Secret Service and New York Police Department have the most visible roles in convention security, other agencies not normally associated with securing political events have devoted personnel, equipment and expertise to preventing a repeat of the 2001 terrorist attacks on New York City.

"This is the most we've been involved in a political convention," said EPA spokeswoman Mary Mears, "But we live in a different world than we did four years ago."

The EPA and dozens of other federal state and local agencies were drafted by the Secret Service to play largely behind-the-scenes roles in a security plan that is considered unprecedented in its size and scope.

Among the security team's less obvious players is the North American air command, or NORAD, which will secure air snace over the convention with natrols by Air Force fighter pilots. In New York Harbor, the Coast Guard plans to test a new underwater 3-D sonar system to scan pier walls and ship bottoms for mines and other explosives.

The Postal Service will use its police force to protect the media center at the post office opposite Madison Square Garden. Officers from Amtrak and the Metropolis tan Transportation Authority will check for suspicious packages on commuters trains entering Penn Station beneath the arena

The federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives has assigned bomb-sniffing dogs to the convention. It also will deploy one its four national response teams, comprised of explosive experts

The Federal Emergency Management Agency, which usually doles out aid during natural disas-ters, says it will "pre-deploy" its emergency personnel to Manhattan on standby.

The EPA would respond to any environmental and health threats with mobile laboratories staffed with physicists and other experts who can quickly measure levels of radiation and airborne chemi-

Democrats set for counteroffensive

NEW YORK - The Democrats have come to town to prick rhetorical balloons at the Republican National Convention

The party set up its counter-convention headquarters a half dozen blocks from Madison Square Garden on Friday and wasted no time registering its dissent from the GOP's proceedings.

Party Chairman Terry McAuliffe criticized President Bush on every front — rising health care costs, a rush to war, 1.8 million private sector job losses, and more - in introducing his team's slogan for the convention, "Mission Not Accomplished bold new billboard at Times Square carried the same message "I like to use a sledgehammer when a scalnel will McAuliffe said cheerfully.

About 50 Democratic staff members plus volunteers will man the center during the convention, trying to make sure that no assertion or hurrah by Republicans will go unanswered. Republicans ran a similar operation outside the Democratic conven-

Wherever You Go, We Go.

Three students killed in Ole Miss frat fire

BY HOLBROOK MOHR

The Associated Press

OXFORD, Miss. — A fire swept through a fraternity house at the University of Mississippi early Friday, killing three students during the first week of classes, school officials said.

Twenty other students and a house mother escaped the two-story, brick- and wood-frame Alpha Tau Omega house as giant flames and thick smoke quickly spread through the building.

Fred Cummings, a member of the Ole Miss cross country team who was out running at 6 a.m., said the smoke was so thick "it would choke you up" a mile away. "When we saw it, the flames were about two stories above the building," he said.

A fraternity member who was not at the house when the fire occurred said fellow members told him they woke up coughing and found smoke "everywhere."

"They said they just ran out as fast as they could, to get out of that building as fast as possible," said Sean Weidlein, of Middleburg, Va.

There were no reports of injuries. University spokesman Jeff Alford said authorities believed the fire started in the fraternity house's living area, but the cause was not immediately known.

Alford said the house had undergone a routine fire inspection Aug. 17 that found problems including a lack of fire extinguishers in the kitchen area, paint stored in the basement and doors blocked with mattresses. Alford said no citation was issued to the fraternity.

Alford identified two victims as William Townsend, 19, of Clarksdale, and Jordan Williams, 20, of Atlanta, both sophomores majoring in accounting.

Alford said the body of the third victim had not been identified. He said the last missing student was Howard Stone, 19, of Martinsville, Va., a sophomore political science major.

Among the survivors, "things are pretty rough right now," Weidlein said.

OXFORD (MISS.) EAGLE/AF

Alpha Tau Omega members are reflected in a window as they watch their fraternity house burn at the University of Mississippi in Oxford on Friday. Three students died in the blaze.

Galen Sprague of Watertown, Mass., eats a cheeseburger in Boston. Twelve states now have laws preventing consumers from suing restaurants over medical conditions associated with weight gain.

Anti-fat-suit laws carry weight in several states

BY IRA DREYFUSS The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Bills to protect restaurants and food companies against lawsuits by people who claim the meals or snacks made them fat are moving ahead in the states like hamburgers record out to drive them with the states.

passed out a drive-thru window.

Measures known as "cheeseburger bills" bar people from seeking damages in court from food companies for weight gain and associated medical conditions, including heart disease and diabetes.

Supporters say the proposals shield businesses from having to pay to defend themselves against frivolous suits. Opponents contend the claims often are valid and ought to be heard in court.

Two cases against McDonald's accused the company of causing obesity in thousands of children. In dismissing the cases last year, U.S. District Judge Robert Sweet in New York said consumers ought to know that eating lots of fast food can make them fat and that they cannot ask courts to "protect them from their own excesses."

That ruling has not stopped lawyers from holding conferences on how to win such claims. Also, the possibility of a legal defeat haunts the food industry, whose leaders say they should not be held responsible for people's eating decisions. Many lawmakers agree. So far this year, a dozen states have enacted laws against such suits, according to the National suits, according to the National Conference of State Legislatures. But efforts at passing a national shield have faltered in Congress. The issue is politically charged. Republicans say companies need Republicans say companies need protection from greedy lawyers. Democrats say that the courts should decide whether the cases are worth hearing.

Messages of Support

THANK YOU for what you are doing to support our troops and their families! It is a tremendous service.

K. Eller – Godspeed and come home soon! Take care and fly safe – we're behind you all the way. The Rucker Gang – Baba, Vilardi, Jenkins, Davenport and families

God bless all of you brave and incredible men and women who are protecting and fighting for the United States of America. We are here for you. Warmest Regards, Wendy

YOU'RE THE EXPERT ON

COMBAT

WE'RE THE EXPERT ON CAR INSURANCE.

Low monthly payment plan.

Local claim service in English.

Immediate registration/drive today.

GEICO

CALL OR VISIT US FOR A FREE RATE QUOTE.

CALL GEICO STATESIDE, TOLL-FREE FROM: AZORES 800811042	KOREA KTA	GERMANY Hanau	Naples
BELGIUM 080076070 GERMANY 00-80008413000 GREECE 800114243038 ITALY 800877424	TURKEY 800134249038 U.K. 0800968974 GEICO OVERSEAS OFFICES:	toll-free	Rota
JAPAN KDD	AZORES 295-513467 BELGIUM Shape	Aviano	Mildenhall

Grass, dirt fly at lawn mower race

Enthusiasts strive to be a cut above the rest at Virginia event

BY GARREN SHIPLEY The Northern Virginia Daily

BERRYVILLE, Va. - They didn't get much mowing done, crowd didn't seem to mind

Drivers of the ABNORMAL racing series recently took to the grass for the second year in a row in races that made their lawn mowers look more like lawn kill-

ABNORMAL — the Appalachian Blue Ridge and Northern Virginia Outlaw Racing Mower League — is a collection of local racing enthusiasts who use con-verted lawn tractors to fulfill their need for speed.

With no governors to limit engine RPMs, smaller real wheels, chopped suspensions and the occasional modified drive system dozens of tractors plowed around the show ring at the Clarke County Fair in a cacophony of revving engines, backfiring exhaust and cheering fans.

Each machine threw rooster tails of sod and dirt into the air with each lap, leaving a cloud of dust where the track was dry and a spray of grass where it wasn't A number of machines at the event looked like they were just a couple of blades away from going back to full-time lawn mainte

But for others, part of the fun is having people look at your pride and joy "General" Jeff Lam from Winchester has a lot to be proud of. Lam's hand-built tractor is a de tailed replica - as much as a lawn mower can be - of the Duke boys' pride and joy, the General Lee

Tom Bartys Sr. of Culpeper, Va., tips but manages to stay on the track and win the valve-and-block class of the lawn mower races at the Clarke County Fairground in Virginia earlier this month.

"It took me six months to build it," said Lam, getting ready for the start of the Overhead Valve Class race. "I started out with $3,500 in it ... and I fabricated ev-erything else."

But the circuit hasn't been on big car, er, lawn show One tractor is a Lam has flipped his mower detailed replica competition twice this year of Duke boys' going end over end more pride and joy, than once. the General Lee.

Competitors helmets wear and neck braces. But at the end of the day, they're still sitting exposed on a lawn mower Track conditions were margin-al on Aug. 20; rain earlier in the week had left the ground spongy

A number of drivers found the soft patches too late and lost control of their machines, winding up either in the small infield or outside the hay bales on the edge of the track.

But it was Clearbrook's John Harden, driver of the No. 33, who took the most impressive tumble of the evening

After spending the first few laps of the race near the front. Harden spun dug into the soft ground, sending him tumbling over the wheel and bringing out the longest caution of the day.

> With hard driving, he was moving to-ward the front again when he had another wheel problem — the right front broke off.

The

Harden walked away, but his mower wasn't so lucky. It took three guys to cart the machine off the track after the race.

In hindsight, there was only one way to prevent the accident, he said, but it's something no driver was willing to do. "Slow down," he said

Deploying?

Keep up to date with daily news, sports, entertainment, comics and more.

Talk to your unit about downrange delivery today.

Your Hometown Newspaper

Howdy - Want to let you know how much I appreciate you. As a combat veteran, I know many things are in your mind and spirit. You are important to me and my family, and know that when this is done, you will have "been there" and made a difference. I salute you. Walter Rasmussen

Burleson: Hi, its Aunt Rosey, hope you are well and ok. I'm so very proud of you, grateful for your service to keep America free. May God Bless You, all your Shipmates, God bless All of our Military forces. Miss you so much, but know you have to do this. Write when you can, our prayers are with you, everyone here is ok. Love ya bunches, rosey

Hi, my name is Annie Kennedy and I would like to thank the brave men and women who are fighting to make America safe. My prayers and thoughts are with them and their families. I am proud to say I am an American who supports our troops. God bless each one of these men and women and God bless the USA! With Much Thanks and Pride, Annie Kennedy. IL

Student soldiers face campus challenges

BY CURT WOODWARD
The Associated Press

BISMARCK, N.D. — Brandon Erickson returned to the University of North Dakota this summer a changed man. The 23-year-old National Guardsman is back in school, having struggled through rehabilitation after losing his right arm in an attack in Irao that killed a fellow soldier.

The changes aren't merely physical. He's frustrated by some students' comments about the war, less stressed by tests and deadlines. Most of all, he's driven to finish school and make up the year he missed.

"I'm a little more focused now," he said. "I really want to get an education. I really want to make a difference."

As students across the United States flock to campuses this fall, educators are preparing for thousands more students like Erickson — young men and women who traded in backpacks and baseball caps for combat boots, desert camouflage and a tour of duty.

In North Dakota, officials say college students probably make up about 60 percent of the state's 3,200 or so Guard soldiers. When hundreds of them were sent to Iraq last year, some kept up with their studies through correspondence courses. A handful elected to take summer classes after they returned home last spring.

But officials expect most returning Guard soldiers to come back to campus this fall. Educators are trying to make the transition easier, and realize part of their job is to keep things simple.

After being in a war zone, troops find school isn't the same as before

"No one wants to make that kind of a sacrifice and come back here and be badgered by bureaucracies. They've had a year of it," said Bob Boyd, UND's vice president of student and outreach ser-

The influx of student soldiers is keeping veterans officials busy on campuses across the country.

campuses across the country.

At Florida State University in Tallahassee, Cheryl Goodson has processed benefits for about 70 veterans for the fall semester.

Goodson said the soldiers returning to school often are different from the students they were a year ago.

"It's just a look on their face more than anything," she said. "It's just a whole different look.

They grew up quite a bit."
Professor Paul Sum, who teaches international politics at UND, said students who fought in Iraq tend to be more open-minded about the war.

"When they start thinking about the justification of being there, I think they see both sides with a lot of clarity," Sum said.

with a lot of clarity," Sum said.

For many veterans, adjusting to the calm life of a civilian can be a challenge.

During his year in the Middle East, North Dakota National Guardsman Derek Holt, 22, often traveled in convoys, keeping his eyes open for ambushes or explosives along the road.

University of North Dakota student Brandon Erickson, a National Guardsman, lost his right arm in an attack in Iraq. Colleges around the country are preparing for student soldiers to return to class with new needs.

When he returned to North Dakota, Holt's reflexes sometimes wouldn't let him sleep through the blast of a locomotive's whis-

Four months later, loud noises can still get his heart pumping.

"I catch myself doing that every once in a while," Holt said. "You just kind of jump as a natural reaction."

It's a reaction Neil Sitz has seen often working with veterans at North Dakota State University. "I sit and watch their eyes, and their heads are snapping at any noise or little movement," he said. "They have to settle down they still have that adrenaline going and that heightened awareness."

At Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, Michael Sutton's work-study job keeps him busy preparing education payments for fellow veterans. Sutton. 26. spent seven years in the Marines before heading to school for the first time last spring. As a veteran of the war in Iraq, he knows what returning soldiers face when they sit down at a desk for the first time.

"People who've never been in the military and don't know what the men and women in the armed forces go through on a daily basis — they definitely take for granted a lot of personal freedoms they have," he said.

Recruits give many reasons for joining the Guard, but money to pay for an education is a top attraction.

Guard members who attend college in North Dakota can get a college in North Dakota can get a college the tuition discount and up to $500 in aid from the military.

Those who go to schools in other states are eligible for assistance through a federal program. Each state has its own system of education aid. Officials who deal with veterofficials who deal with veterans say they don't expect the flow of student soldiers to slow down

In Illinois, about a third of National Guard soldiers are students — and some 40 percent are either on active duty or have returned from a deployment, Ward said. — Erickson said he is looking forward to talking with buddies from Iraq when fall semester starts. He knows they'll be able to talk about experiences most of their peers wouldn't understand.

"It's kind of fumpy—a bunch of 20-year-olds sitting around telling war stories," he said.

NEA helps returning troops with war memoirs

BY TARA COPP

Scripps Howard News Service

Back home after 16 months in Iraq, Army Reserve Capt. Allen Edwards is looking for a publisher to print the personal journal he kept throughout the war. He began his journal "on the very first day of our mobilization," he said.

"I had never done anything like

"I had never done anything like it, getting mobilized or writing a journal. ... I knew it would change me somehow."

Even before the war started, national historians were thinking the same thing and began working out a plan to preserve war writing for future generations.

The result: The National Endowment for the Arts has launched a series of writing workshops featuring successful war authors who will give the troops writing tips. Twenty workshops at bases worldwide are planned.

"The NEA believes that, if you look at prior wars, some of the most important writing that has come out of it has come from the soldiers," said Garrick Davis, NEA spokesman.

Edwards, 33, was deployed with the 354th Army Civil Affairs Brigade out of Maryland. He carried his journal everywhere, jotting down thoughts when he could.

One week before he was to fly home, he nearly died in an ambush.

Days later, he got his thoughts on paper.

"It was a bad mission from the beginning," Edwards wrote. "It was unnecessary and, at this stage in the game, completely foolish. We had info ... that told us not to go. The convoy commander decided to do it anyway, because he saw himself as a contemporary Lawrence of Arabia who had such a good relationship with the local shelick that we'd he okav."

"One second we're driving down the highway, the next bullets flew everywhere. My windshield exploded from the fusion lade right in front of my face. Tracers slammed into the vehica head of me, the commander's SUV, then my radio headset squawked 'You're on fire! You're squawked 'You're on fire! You're

"I instinctively hunkered down behind the steering wheel with my eyes just above the dashboard. Escaping the kill zone was the only thing I thought about. Bullet holes ripped into the hood in front of my face and the door around my arm ... thank God II had sunglasses on or the fragments would have got into my eyes."

The three-SUV convoy was speeding out of the kill zone at 90 mph when Edwards' commander's truck tire was shot. The vehicle went airborne, flipping over four times "in a huge ball of dirt as it rolled," Edwards wrote.

"We turned our heads in shock as we zoomed past them, the flames and smoke still pouring out of our vehicle."

Then a soldier in Edwards' truck yelled. "It's getting HOT back here, Captain! We gotta stop now!"

One of the bullets had hit the SUV's gas tank, and the entire passenger area was next to burn. "I slammed on the brakes, all of us bailing out as fast as we could," Edwards wrote. "We ended up on different sides of the road, taking cover in the shallow ditches common on most Iraqi roadways. I quickly swept my muzzle, looking for bad guys...10 foot flames engulfed our entire truck."

The group's interpreter died on the spot; Edwards' commander was seriously injured.

Back home now, he is working on turning his journal into a book and he wants to write a piece for the NEA project.

When the workshops are complete, the NEA plans on selecting the best of the soldiers' works and compiling them into an anthology that will be published. Even if a soldier's work does not make the anthology, it will become part of a permanent NEA collection chronicling the war.

TARA CROP/SHNS

Capt. Allen Edwards kept a journal of his experiences while in Iraq. He is one of many soldiers the National Endowment for the Arts is targeting in writing workshops, to ultimately create an anthology of soldiers' writings of the conflict.

Sunday Horoscope

Joyce Jillson

emphasizes our need to believe fully in something - anything really, as long as it brings us hope. The outpouring of emotion that will probably occur affects our relationships and the way we feel about ourselves in the world. It may seem daring to imagine that things are perfect as they are, but it just may be true.

TODAY'S RIRTHDAY (August 29). In this year of increased responsibility and prestige, social rewards spur you on when you need encouragement. Cash flow improves through September because of your assertive moves. A lucky break comes in October Amorous vibes this fall teach you more about what you really want out of life. The best signs for romance are Gemini and ARIFS (March 21-April 19).

Love is a push-and-pull game; you'll feel better if you push less and let a sweetheart come to you. Insight and imagination are readily available to vou. You'll be inspired to break your own records. Condition a new habit, or train a pet.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Let go of petty concerns, and face the real issue. By making your own happiness a higher priority, you handle problems. Work on your physical self is never a waste, so allow vourself time to exercise

GEMINI (May 21-June 21).

Dreams you held close to your heart in the past are now resurfacing how could you have forgotten? Now that you're back in touch, you're also very attractive to anyone who can help you move toward making your dreams real

CANCER (June 22-July 22). It's lucky to change your plans, especially if you have a funny feeling. You're struck with interesting notions this afternoon. Share your ideas with a group. Children thrive with more to do and be accountable for

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You show generous appreciation to others all the time, and now, it's your turn to shine. A promise you made must soon be fulfilled. Develop new habits for dealing with stress. Tonight, financial opportunities are right under your nose.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22).

Close relationships of all kinds are strengthened. There's nothing more exhilarating than being freshly in love. But do be careful not to go on and on about it to people who simply can't relate. A Sagittarius is an accepting friend.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct.

23). It's time to review a necessary process in your personal evolution. When you look back and make an effort to employ what you learned long ago, you can avoid pitfalls, both financial and social SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). The stars favor trying something impossible. Learning to overcome your fear of rejection is a simple process - get rejected a few times, so you no longer fear it. Confidence grows when others respond to spontaneity.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You are dynamic but need to listen as much as you talk. Diploma cy helps secure your financial situation. Share your burdens. Don't worry about whether or not you have done enough - you have 19). Take the direct route to what you want instead of hedging around. The more elaborate the plan, the more likely it is to get muddled and misguided. You shine in any social situation you encounter, so relax.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Be wary of anyone trying to control you with rules. Singles: A love interest is now available and ready to take a chance. All kinds of partnerships show improvement. Someone who owes you money pays up

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Events unfold in the perfect order. so let go of the need to manipulate them. Avoid dealing intellectually with an emotional situation. Keen close to a friend who brings out the best in you, and avoid rambunctious

Creators Syndicate

Pay price of 'king's shilling'

I was watching an old movie the other day when I heard one of the actors say, "When you take the King's shilling, you march to his commands." Having never heard this phrase before, I am curious as to its origin and meaning. I assume it has something to do with a British army enlistee's surrendering his freedom of choice.

You are on the right track regarding this old, seemingly outdated phrase. According to Webster's Third New International Dictionary the "king's shilling" is "a shilling whose acceptance by a recruit from a recruiting officer constituted until 1879 a binding enlistment in the British army." References to this payment date back at least to 1707. "He did take a shilling, but not with any intent of listing, wrote one 18th-century essayist, and in 1852, the novelist Will Thackeray told of "a fellow (who) was jilted by his mistress, and took the shilling in despair." The desig-nation "king's shilling" is not recorded until the late 19th century. It has continued to be a familiar phrase in British English.

The meaning of the quotation ou've provided is of course clear: Once you accept payment for a service, you must be prepared to provide that service or suffer the consequences.

This column was prepared by the editors of Merriam-Webster's Collegiate Dictionary, Tenth Edition. Readers may send questions to Merriam-Webster's Wordwatch, P.O. Box 281, 47 Federal St., Springfield, Mass. 01102.

Leaving marriage to alcoholic is best move for wife to make

Dear Abby: I'm writing about the letter you printed from "Fed Up in Richmond, Texas," whose husband's idea of an evening out or a day off is getting drunk. I hope she takes your advice to go to Al-Anon. I fell in love and married a man who exhibited similar drinking behavior. It became worse during the 30 years we were together. I was verbally abused. humiliated and, at the end, feared for my safety as well as the children's.

I was very naive. He convinced me that I was crazy, threatened my family and threatened to take off with the children if I left. At age 40, I finally found the courage and strength to do it.

It took lots of counseling, but I now understand that I was caught up in his sickness. I regret that I wasted my youth on this man. I hope "Fed Up" opens her eyes and won't be caught up like I was in what domestic violence counselors call "the honeymoon cycle." That's where you bring his behavior to his attention, he promises he'll change, it's a great month or so - and then he starts drinking again. I look back over those years and see a bad movie filled with heartache for me and my children. It wasn't easy, but it has been worth it. I am now treated with the love and respect I deserve. My children and Lare

Dear Abby

happier than we've ever been. I'm a stronger person now, and we're blessed with a wonderful man who saw us through outrageous court battles, restraining orders, stalking and intimidation tactics. "Fed Up" deserves love and respect, too. But she and her child won't get it from her spouse if she doesn't DEMAND it. I wish her strength, courage and no regrets. - Reborn in Portland Ore

Dear Reborn: I. too, hope that "Fed Up" will take your letter to heart and find help before her husband's problem escalates to the point that your husband's did. Addiction problems cannot be ignored. If the problem isn't addressed, it doesn't "level off" it grows worse until the addiction takes over the lives of everyone around the addict. I'm pleased that you finally found the strength to free yourself and your children. Thank you for writing.

Dear Abby: I'm 14 and my name is "Pearl." I just found out that I might have chlamydia. I really like this guy and I need to know if I should tell him. What should I do? I am a little scared Please answer soon.

- Needs to Know in Lancaster, Calif.

Dear Needs to Know: You should be examined by a doctor right away. If you do indeed have chlamydia, your partner must be notified so he can also be treated

Ask your mother to schedule an appointment for you. If you cannot talk to her about this, then call the county health department and ask for the location of the nearest clinic where you can be treated confidentially DO NOT PUT IT OFF. If you have chlamydia and aren't treated, it could cause fertility problems for you in the future.

Since you are sexually active, it is important that you learn to protect yourself against an unwanted pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases so that you are not reinfected or infect oth-

Letters for this column — with your name and phone number — should be addressed to Dear Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles CA 90069. Readers can write to Abby on the Internet at http://www.uexpress.com/dearabby Universal Press Syndicate

Cough-medicine buzz is not a safe alternative to alcohol

Dear Annie: I am a recovering alcoholic who stopped drink-ing five years ago. Life was great until I realized that I could get a buzz from cough medicine. Also I'm convinced the abuse is making me more creative I'm a professional living alone so I have no one to answer to. I don't want the "high" to sound too appealing. The downside is becoming more obvious, and now, three years later. I can barely keep my head above water. I'm sure I am messing myself up physically as well. Can you tell me more about the damage I am doing? - Addicted in South Carolina Dear Addicted: Some cough medicines contain a drug that, in high doses, acts as a hallucinogen or dissociative agent. As you build up a tolerance, you will need more and more of it to get the same speech, abdominal pain, nausea, irregular heartheat, itchy skin. dry mouth, headaches, drowsiness, impaired coordination, disorientation and numbness in the fingers. Higher doses can lead to auditory and visual hallucinations, vomiting, loss of mus cle control, seizures and loss of consciousness Although long-term effects are just now heing studied, there is some evidence linking abuse to dental decay, memory loss, speech problems hand tremors and personality changes.

Here's the downside: Common effects include confusion, dizziness, blurred vision, slurred

Please try Narcotics Anony mous (www.na.org), P.O. Box 9999. Van Nuvs. CA 91409.

Annie's Mailbox

Dear Annie: I am writing in response to "Perplexed in Pennsylva-nia," who was upset because she received bridal shower invitations asking for cash gifts. I don't find anything wrong with this. My fiance and I lived together and had all the usual household items, so I had a coin shower. We wanted to remodel our house, and money was much more useful than a bunch of kitchen utensils.

Let us enjoy ourselves. It is our wedding. What's the difference if we ask for money or return all the unwanted gifts?

— To the Point in Wisconsin Dear Wisconsin: The point of a bridal shower is to help the new couple set up their home. Since you've done that the hostess can plan a gourmet food shower. a wine shower, or even an enter tainment shower with tickets to restaurants and concerts. These gifts should be mementos of the giver, and money doesn't do the trick. The guests have made a great effort to select something they thought you would like.

Dear Annie: I read the letter from "Cambridge, Mass.," who said her husband told his mother personal things about their life together, including every medica-tion she was taking. My husband did the same thing. He'd tell his mother, who then blabbed to the entire family.

When I needed a biopsy done, I made my husband promise he would tell no one, and he said, "Sure, yeah." Two months later, my mother-in-law asked how the biopsy went. I became quite angry and said to the man I'd been married to for over 30 years, "I trusted you, and you crushed my soul. I won't repeat that mistake."

My husband never understood my pain at his betrayal, but I never confided in him again. Thank you for saying that trust is the bottom line in a marriage.

- Better Now in Worcester, Mass. Dear Worcester: Some people cannot keep their mouths closed. They don't necessarily mean any harm, but it hurts nonetheless. Annie's Mailbox is written by Kathy Annie's Mailbox is written by Kathy Mitchell and Marry Sugar, Jongtime editors of the Ann Landers column. Please e-mail your questions to annies mailbox@comcast.net, or write to: Annie's Mailbox, c/o Creators Syndicate 5777 W. Century Blvd., Suite 700, Los Angeles, CA 90045. Creators Syndicate

PAGE 20 · Stars and Strip

Camera watching

NORFOLK — A woman faces felony child-abuse charges after she was caught on camera at Children's Hospital of The King's Daughters smothering her toddler until he lost consciousness, according to a police report.

Kendra Patrice Kirton, 27, was being held in Norfolk City Jail on two counts of felony child abuse. The second charge involved allegations of a similar incident on Aug. 19, nolice said.

Kirton's address was listed on documents as Virginia Beach, but a police spokesman said she may have been visiting from Florida.

The child, who police said was 18 months old, was turned over to Child Protective Services workers in Virginia Beach, according to police spokesman Chris Amos. He said the child was "in good health." Kirton was charged after an incident at the hospital Monday, court records show.

A hospital spokeswoman de-

A nospiral spokeswoman declined comment on the case. Kirton appeared in Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court on Wednesday and was denied bond. She is due back in court Oct. 12, court records said.

Commuter confusion

De WashInGTON — Metro officials plan to install 90 ages throughout the city and Virginia and Maryland suburb. They'll show routes, schedule information, a sub-regional bus system map and a bus service directory. Officials hope the maps will encourage indership. Commuters have praised similar maps placed in downtown shelters.

Not-so-pure water

TX HOUSTON — Repeated tests show that water from Houston's new $97 million water purification plant only sometimes meets the required standards for purity.

At other times, the process used to purify the water at the plant which began operating from Lake Houston in late June leaves it too dirty or with unacceptably high chemical levels.

"You can't drink it," David Berg, a local lawyer who chairs the Houston Area Water Corp. board that oversees the plant, told the Houston Chronicle for its Thursday editions." I don't think in the long run this is going to be a problem, but right now we have a serious problem."

Forgot about his Glock

LOUISVILLE — A congressman who brought a loaded gun into Louisville International Airport received a 60-day jail sentence, but will not have to serve it unless he has other criminal troubles during the next two years.

Under terms of his plea agreement, Rep. John Hostettler, a Republican of Indiana, also has surrendered his Glock 9 mm semiautomatic handgun, which screeners found April 20 as he was heading for a US Airways flight to Washington.

two fraternity members showed up in blackface at an off-campus hip-hop theme party in Anunary. The alliance retaliated with a filer using the fraternity's name on a picture depicting a Ku Klux Klansman and a man in blackface with a nosse around his neck.

AMERICAN ROUNDUP

At the time, Hostettler, who had a permit for the gun, said he had forgotten he had placed the gun in the briefcase.

Hostettler, who represents the 8th District in southwestern Indiana, did not attend Monday's sentencing hearing in Jefferson District Court in Louisville. He had reached the plea agreement earlier this month.

Under terms of his plea agreement, Hostettler, 43, also cannot carry a gun in Kentucky or buy a gun anywhere except in Indiana and the District of Columbia for the next two years.

Learned their lesson?

GA ATLANTA — A Georgia State University fraternity that had members in blackface at a party and a black student group that responded with a flier that allowed back on campus after the groups agreed to anologize.

University officials said Tuesday that the two groups have reached an agreement that ends their suspensions from campus.

The agreement, announced by vice president for student services Hazel Scott, calls on Pi Kappa Alpha and the Black Student Alliance to apologize jointly to the school community and submit letters of apology to the student newspaper.

paper:
Pi Kappa Alpha also must implement a diversity and sensitivity training program and not permit any of its members to paint their faces black again.

The racial dispute began after Who's up there?

A rock dove perches on the head of a statue of Jesus Christ outside Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Edinburg, Texas.

Risky businesses

CONCORD —State of many sine's say New Hampshire's smallest businesses are being hit the hardest by a new law that allows health insurers to set rates based on such risk factors as age and health. Officials say businesses that employ fewer than 10 employees are experiencing extreme volatility in their rates. The company's location, type of business and health of its workers in setting premium rates for businesses with 50 or fewer employees with 50 or fewer employees swith 50 or fewer employees.

Legacy of scholarship

WEST LAFAYETTE — A 22-year-old Purdue University student who plans to study in Germany has won a $500 scholar-ship named after a Purdue graduate who died in March when a water taxi overturned in Baltimore Harbor.

Jonathan Osborn received the first Andrew Roccella Memorial Scholarship award during a reception Wednesdow in West Lefewette

tion Wednesday in West Lafayette. He will spend the 2004-05 academic year at the University of Freiburg in Germany.

Roccella, 26, died March 6 along with his girlfriend, fellow Purdue graduate Corinne J. Schillings, 26, of Alexandria, Va., and three other people when a water taxi they were riding in overturned in a sudden thunderstorm in Baltimore Harbor.

Edward and Eileen Roccella said they created the scholarship as a way to support Purdue's overseas programs and students wishing to study abroad. They said their son returned from a study abroad trip to Italy more appreciative of the world around him.

Sentence in baby's death

HI HONOLULU — A woman who pleaded no contest in connection with the death of her newborn baby by smoking crystal methamphetamine was sentenced to 10 years probation Wednesday.

The sentence handed down by Circuit Judge Michael Town was included in Tayshea Aiwohi's plea agreement with prosecutors. She pleaded no contest to manslaughter June 18 for the death of her 2-day-old son, Treyson, in July 2001

Resort bans butts

ME RUMFORD — A Maine ski resort banned smoking and other tobacco use beginning this winter, and other ski areas owned by the same non-profit will look into such bans.

The policy forbids use of cigarettes, cigars, pipes and chewing to-bacco on the slopes, lifts, buildings and parking lots at Black Mountain of Maine Sk Resort. Visitors who violate the policy would be asked to leave. For workers, being tobacco-free on the job is a condition of employment.

Out for a stroll

Boardwalk in Atlantic City, N.J.

An unidentified man walks past a pink flamingo sculpture on the Sour note While he waits his turn backstage with the other contestant misses a high note during tryouts to sing the National Anthem for the Nashville Predators. in Nashville. Tenn.

Capitol maintenance Workers continue to remove the marble steps on the south face of Virginia's Capitol in Richmond, Va. The Capitol in undergoing a three-year, $1.90 million renovation project. The steps were not part of the original building, but were added during a renovation in 1904.

Roughhousing

Black bears Cinnamon, left, and Dart play with each other at the California Living Museum in Bakersfield, Calif.

Mmmm, corn

Michaela Caruso, 5, of Saylorsburg, Pa., chows down on an ear of roasted corn at the West End Fair in Gilbert, Pa.

Tidying up

Rosa Fernandez vacuums the floor as final preparations continue for the Republican Convention at Madison Square Garden in New York.

| Tearing the roof off

VERMONTVILLE — A storm Wednesday ripped part of the roof off a high school and dropped it on the football field as children and parents were arriving for an orientation session, but no one was hurt.

Authorities said witnesses fled into a hallway at Maple Valley Junior/Senior High School near Vermontville after seeing a funnel cloud in the west. No one was injured.

Lawmaker: BUI, not DUI

NH DERRY — If you're going to drive home drunk, at least use a bicycle, a lawmaker

"Ti's better [to drive a bicycle drunk] than get home behind the wheel," said state Sen. Frank V. Sapareto, R-Derry. "They're going est home one way or the other, and I'd rather they do it in a way that's not going to kill people. If it's on a bicycle or a skateboard, fine, so long as the person's not in a vehicle."

Sapareto said he will file a bill that would prohibit police from filing charges against people riding bikes while under the influence of alcohol or drugs. He introduced a similar measure last year, which failed.

Recently, Derry police charged a bicyclist with operating a vehicle under the influence of alcohol. Londonderry police charged a bicyclist with drunken driving last summer.

Circus debate

DENVER — The Big Top is back in Colorado, two weeks after Denver voters shot down an initiative that sought to ban circuses with exotic animal acts.

Once again, tigers, lions and elephants will perform age-old tricks to the delight of children and parents. And once again, animal-rights activists will be out to protest the use of exotic animals for human amusement.

The arrival of Carson & Barnes Circus in Castle Rock and Highlands Ranch this weekend follows Denver residents' 72 percent to 28 percent rejection of a ballot measure on Aug. 10 to ban exotic animal acts.

Prankster can't fool GPS

RI PROVIDENCE — State police used Global Positioning System technology embedded in a cell phone to track down and arrest a man suspected of making 1-800 obscene phone calls to 911 operators over the past two months.

Police arrested Kenneth Iasimone, 41, who was dubbed "Porno Man" at the Emergency 911 head-quarters. Iasimone allegedly called 911 on a cell phone he had bought using the fake name "Tony Soorano."

Raymond LaBelle, executive director of Rhode Island's E-911, said the man sometimes called four to 10 times a day.

"He would call and use some dirty language and play a pornographic film in the background," LaBelle said.

Worse than flying coach

FL MIAMI — A Cuban woman tucked herself inside a wooden crate the size of a small filing cabinet and had herself shipped from the Bahamas to Miami aboard a cargo plane.

The woman, whose name was not released, will be allowed to stay in the United States. A cargo crew found her curled up inside the crate after unloading it late Tuesday at the Miami airport.

"Certainly she's lucky to be alive," said Zach Mann, spokesman for Customs and Border Protection.

Bad representation

RICHMOND — After opting to defend himself, a 52-year-old minister convicted of biting a police officer during a traffic stop has been sentenced to two years in prison.

Probation was not legally possible for Rev. Curtis Lucas because he didn't file an application for probation before the trial and did not offer any evidence during the trial that he was eligible for it.

"I admonished you about the risks of representing yourself," state District Judge Thomas R. Culver III said when he gave the minimum punishment to Lucas in a Fort Bend County court on Wednesday. "I am giving you this sentence not because you are a bad man but because you made bad de-

Culver told Lucas, pastor of Mount Carmel Baptist Church in Richmond, that by not following normal legal procedures concerning probation, Culver was left with few ortions.

Culver ordered that Lucas be brought back to his court in 40 days and the judge would consider if Lucas was eligible for another form of probation after serving some prison time.

Shields not shy

MEMPHIS — The city's police and fire departments are investigating charges that employees were part of a fashion show that included stripping and simulated sex.

Sunday's event, "Battle of the Shields: Memphis Firefighter and Police Fashion Gala," came under fire after a columnist from The Commercial Appeal wrote that she saw nearly nude men on stage, their private parts covered in soapsuds.

At least two women, Wendi C. Thomas wrote, were "hoisted in the air, their legs around men's waists."

At least one person swung a badge, and others wore department pants and held nightsticks, she wrote.

A show organizer told Thomas all the models were from the police and fire departments.

Finally exposed

MINEOLA — A man who fled to San Marino and hid for more than a decade after he was convicted of killing two people while drag racing on Long Island has been sentenced to five to 15 years in prison.

Ugo Berardi, 70, a native of San Marino, was convicted in 1992 in the deaths of Marci Singer, 48, and her mother, Sarah Gerstein, 71, Berardi had been drag racing with a tenager when he collided with the victims' car on Nov. 26, 1990. Singer's father, David Gerstein, who suffered vision loss and paralysis in his left arm in the crash, has since died. Stories and photos from The Associated Press

Welcome gift is music to new students' ears

Duke hands out iPods to incoming freshman, but will they be used for academic purposes?

By MICHAEL FELBERBAUM The Associated Press

DURHAM, N.C. ewly arrived Duke University freshmen got something considerably snazzier than the usual Blue Devils T-shirts and ball caps Their goodie bags included a free iPod digital music player engraved with the school's crest and the words "Class of 2008."

The university says the unique welcoming gifts, which Apple Computer Inc. normally sells for $300, will be used as high-tech educational tools to record lectures, capture scientific data and play language-training recordings.

But it's not altogether clear to many that the university will be able to carry through on its vow to make the gadgets more than a toy for playing the latest from the likes of Coldplay and Hoobastank

Emily LaDue, a junior from Levittown N.Y., says the giveaway "makes no sense" and that the money Duke is spending on the venture is better used for financial aid and campus security

"From the freshmen I spoke with, I really don't think the iPods will encourage creativity." LaDue said.

The project is being funded with money the school set aside for a one-time innovative technology purpose, and it's not known whether the program will continue after this academic year. The $500,000 price tag includes the iPods themselves, salary for an academic computing specialist and grants to faculty members who participate.

The school approached Apple about the project and got the iPods at a discount Each student also got a $10 gift certificate to buy music from a Duke-only iTunes Music Store Web site developed by Apple.

Other details of Duke's contract with Apple remain confidential, but Greg Joswiak. Apple's vice president of hardware product marketing, said the company is monitoring the project closely.

For those who already owned iPods, the freebie offered a chance to turn a quick buck or do someone a favor.

Peter Lormier, a freshman from New Haven, Conn., plans to sell his on eBay. Daniel Phan of Bedminster, N.J., said he

Duke freshman David Wagner, of Pennsylvania, admires his new iPod on Thursday in Durham, N.C. Freshmen arriving for fall semester at Duke are being handed brand-new Apple iPods, engraved with the Duke crest and the words "Class of 2008," as a welcome-to-campus gift.

"The whole iPod thing has grown into this ecosystem that's far beyond anything anybody could of dreamed up," Joswiak would give his sister the one he just got for his high school graduation.

Duke handed out iPods to 1.650 freshmen on a mid-August evening.

The Duke iPods will remain property of the university until the end of the school year, after which they belong to the students. If a student's iPod is stolen or lost, the school won't hand over a new one The iPods being given to students have 20-gigabytes of storage and a $35 voice-re corder attachment. They come pre-loaded with welcome messages from school president Richard Brodhead and provost Peter Lange, the school's alma mater and fight song, information about campus buildings and North Carolina's Research Triangle area, as well as tips from current students Upperclassmen who are enrolled in class-es that utilize iPods will be given a loaner, but the freebies are for freshmen only.

Tracy Futhey, Duke's vice president for information technology, said the program aims to expand the realm of uses for the "People think about technology and think about everyday things in a very specific box," Futhey said. "The box they've put the iPod in to date is a box that screams entertainment. ... We're trying to break open that box and find other ways to use the de-

Faculty say they're not yet sure how useful the iPods will be.

Since Duke announced the project last month, Lynn O'Brien, director of Duke's for Instructional Technology, has fielded many ideas from faculty interested in incorporating iPods in their teaching. some more feasible than others.

"It truly is an experiment, and we don't know exactly what's going to happen, O'Brien said

Futhey understands the skepticism that has greeted the notion of using what many view as a toy in an academic setting, but points out that it took years for the laptop computers that are now mandatory equipment for many college students to catch on.

ment for many conege students to catch on.
"I recognized that many people, when they first look at it, think it might be a gimmick, but it certainly isn't," she said.

Making Meatwad a household name

Cartoon Network enlists college students to sell its 'Adult Swim'

BY KRISTEN WYATT

The Associated Press ATLANTA - Talking meatballs and bumbling sea explorers may have made the Cartoon Network's late-night cartoon lineup a monster hit among the young and hip. But some of its popularity is owed to a trendy corps of college students enlisted to market the network's "Adult Swim" cartoons on camnationwide. They from 30 campus es to the net-work's Atlanta headquarters each August for some cartoon-marketing training before the start of their fall-semester classes. These students are culled for being business-savvy but not the typical khaki-wearing business student Their job: Making cartoons cool for peers who likely had ignored them since elementary school and probably associated Cartoon Network with baby-sitting, not TV nights at the frat

Now, three years after they started, "Adult Swim" cartoons are often ranked No. 1 in their basic cable time period — Saturdays through Thursdays, 11 p.m.-5 a.m. EDT — among both adults ages 18 to 34 and men ages 18 to 24. Shows such as "Aqua Teen Hunger Force"

44 College towns aren't the biggest markets, but if you get kids talking about

about a talking meatball (named Meatwad), milkshake, and box of fries - regularly heat network late-night comedy shows in the ratings among young people. Cartoon Network executives something there, the college you eventually marketing program. mostly get everybody. made up of sponsored drinking parties at hot col-Greg Heanue Cartoon Network marketing lege bars, had a executive significant hand in creating buzz for the quirky, sometimes hilariously absurd, block of cartoons. Greg Heanue, a Cartoon Network executive in charge of mar-keting "Adult Swim," explained the tactic as he weaved around

60 college students pouring into the network's colorful Atlanta offices, where many of the cartoons are written. "College towns aren't the biggest markets, but if you get kids talking about something there, you eventually get everybody," Heanue said. "Take a town like Norman, Okla, Not a big market, But the whole state of Oklahoma goes through there. You seed the college towns, you get the whole students slack-jawed, around the offbeat office — foosball tables, life-size mascots of the "Aqua Teen" characters, employees slouching around in ripped jeans and black

They gathered on a few beat-up couches to hear cartoon creators talk about how they got started and watched clips from a few shows that aren't out yet. Then they all headed to a dingy bar for more chatting with Cartoon Network employees before a weekend of training in selling the shows to their peers.

"It is sooooo much fun," said Barrett Darnell, a 20-year-old Washington State University student who's starting his second year as an "Adult Swim" market-er. Last year, he threw viewing parties and got some cartoon

Jacob Escobedo, an art director at Cartoon Network, displays artwork to college students during an "Adult Swim" tour at the Cartoon Network's studio in Atlanta

T-shirts thrown from the stage at a campus Cypress Hill concert. This year's plans include a pub crawl and poster giveaways. "We give out so much free stuff. Everyone loves it." Advertisers noticed, more young people started watching, and the night cartoon block is now the darling of the network.

"We're sort of cresting right now," said Dave Willis, a co-creator of "Aqua Teen Hunger Force." "Two years from now, they might be totally over us, we'll be stupid. But right now, it's a good time.

The students nodded.

"I'm more and more shocked how many people know about 'Adult Swim,' "said Jack Nelson, a University of Georgia senior studying economics who is in his second year as a Cartoon Network marketer. "At first it was a cult thing. Now it's everyone on campus.

Hurricane victims find speedier response

Difference between Charley vs. Andrew is like 'day and night'

BY BRENDAN FARRINGTON
The Associated Press

PUNTA GORDA, Fla. — Betty Babitzke and her husband were so frustrated after Hurricane Andrew slammed into Florida in 1992 that they pulled out a map and started looking for a safer part of the state in which to spend their retirement. They settled on Punta Gorda

"I plotted all the storms and all the charts of the hurricanes. I thought, 'It's been 44 years since Donna,' " the 71-year-old Babitzke said, referring to the last major hurricane to hit southwestern Florida in 1960.

Then, two weeks ago, came Hurricane Charley, second only to Andrew on the list of Florida's most destructive hurricanes. The Babitzkes' home sustained even more damage this time, but the couple had reason to smile.

That is because life after Charley is much better than life after Andrew.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency and state and local authorities are being praised for their response to Charley, something that did not happen after Andrew. Disaster officials said they learned their lesson from Andrew and were better prepared when Charley struck

Charlotte County emergency director Wayne Sallade has not been able to contain his boasting about the response to Charley. He said the first day of response after Charley accomplished more than the first three days after Andrew.

"From the courthouse to the White House, it's been a remarkable response on all levels," Sallade said this week, adding that other counties and agencies were immediately sending help.

It is a far cry from what Kate Hale saw 12 years ago. Hale, who was the Dade County emergency management director when Andrew hit, asked in exasperation in the storm's aftermath: "Where in the hell is the cavalry?"

The response to Andrew was affected by the sheer size of the storm and the fact that it hit a more densely populated area. Charley caused $7.4 billion in insured damage, destroyed about 12,000 homes and left 19,000 others with major damage. Andrew destroyed 126,000 homes, left 180,000 people homeless and caused $30 billion in damage.

It took four days for FEMA to get its first people into South Florida after Andrew. In the same time after Charley, disaster workers had finished search-and-rescue operations and were focused on getting residents necessities like food and water.

An in-house study prepared by FEMA after Andrew was scathing. It said the agency skipped preparations for the hurricane by taking a wait-and-see approach. It then responded with confusion. Agency officials also thought they lacked authority to respond immediately.

Not so this time. Even as Charley's 145 mph winds were bashing Florida, Gov. Jeb Bush and his brother President Bush were declaring emergencies.

"The difference between Andrew and Charley is the difference between day and night," the governor said. "The old FEMA and the new FEMA, you cannot imagine the difference."

AP photo

Above: Construction workers toss a section of celling board onto a trash pile at the storm-damaged Charlevoi Condominiums on Thursday in Punta Gorda, Fla. Hurricane Charley caused an estimated $7.4 bililion in insured damage and destroyed about 12,000 homes. But Florida officials and residents say disaster response has been much better than it was after Hurricane Andrew in 1992.

Left: Medical personnel attend to patients in a tent hospital along the edge of downtown Punta Gorda on Monday. Since Burricane Charley exited into the Atlantic Ocean, emergency room visits in this Gulf Coast county have soared with injuries and illnesses related to the cleanup. The health problems, both physical and mental, could continue for Illegal immigrants reluctant to seek disaster relief after Charley

BY MIKE SCHNEIDER

WAUCHULA, Fla. — Angel Lopez examined a blue flier that read in English and Spanish, "Disaster Assistance is Available Now," but discarded it as soon as FEMA workers moved on to another house in this neighborhood of migrant farmworkers.

Lopez had no intention of applying for federal assistance even though Hurricane Charley ripped off part of the roof of the home he rents and damaged his possessions.
"I fear being deported." said

"I fear being deported," said the 32-year-old farmworker, who came to Florida illegally from Vera Cruz, Mexico, two years ago.

Fear of deportation is one of the many obstacles preventing illegal immigrants who lost their homes or jobs during Hurricane Charley from seeking disaster relief. The language barrier is also a problem, and undocumented workers can't apply for cash assistance, although they are eligible for food and temporary shelter.

"Some of them are scared and they won't get the help they need," said Cristina Avalos, a farmworker crew leader in this tiny agricultural town.

Thousands of illegal immigrants, most originally from Mexico and Guatemala, work in southwest Florida's agricultural heartland, which was devastated by Charley's 145-mph winds.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency limits cash-assistance and unemployment programs to U.S. citizens and qualified aliens, although undocumented residents can get nonmonetary help such as ice, water, shelter, food and counseling.

Those who have children born in the United States can apply for cash assistance on their behalf.

"The fact that you're undocumented doesn't mean you can't get assistance," said Justo Hernandez, deputy federal coordinating officer for FEMA.

U.S. Small Business Adminisration administrator Hector Barreto conceded that illegal immigrants are limited in the aid they can receive from the department, but he said the state and private groups such as the Salvation Army and the American Red Cross may offer financial help.

Gov. Jeb Bush, who has been in regular contact with FEMA director Michael Brown, said illegal immigrants shouldn't fear being deported if they apply for disaster

But Jorge Lomonaco, the Mexican consul general in Miami, said he would like FEMA to be more flexible when it comes to providing undocumented workers with cash assistance. He has brought his concerns to the governor.

Undocumented worker Armenta Ramiro stands next to his damaged trailer Tuesday in Bokeelia, Fla. Many undocumented workers are waiting to find out what, if any, assistance they can receive in the wake of Hurricane Charley.

Less money is still reason to celebrate

Money U.

Susie Besaw, from the book "The Savvy Sailor's Spouse," is new to the military lifestyle but is eager to learn more about how to manage her family and her new lifestyle through the monthly Family Readiness Group meetings of her husband, Jake's, new command. Last week, Susie landed a good job.

n Friday morning, I met with Mrs. Thompson and she said Mr. Mickey authorized her to offer me $15 an hour to work on Tuesdays and Thursdays. It was a bit of a pay cut from the computer store back home, but at least it was a paycheck doing something I enjoyed. And hey, if I impress them, it might lead to more. I accepted the offer and agreed to the following

I was really excited when I hung up with Mrs. Thompson and I had to tell someone. Although I tried not to call Jake at work, I couldn't wait until dinner to tell him. I called his shop and they said he wasn't available. I had to leave a message asking him to call me back since I didn't want to leave a personal message.

Then I called Maggie. She

"Maggie. It's Susie. Guess what?" I asked. "You found a shoe sale?" she

"Even better," I replied. "I got the job at the NEX."

"That's great!" she exclaimed.
"Let's celebrate and have dinner tonight. I still have everything for my famous Casserole de la Maggie. Jim went to some promotional presentation last night at the last minute and I didn't go through the trouble to make din-ner for myself."

"See you at six," I said. "I'll bring the salad and make my favorite cherry cheesecake."

later. I told him about the job and dinner. He congratulated me and thanked me for calling. He was having a tough day and he was grateful for some good news to cheer him up.
After I hung up with Jake, I went to the store and bought the ingredients for my cheesecake and the salad. When I came home I started cooking immediately. I needed an hour and a half to make the cheesecake and it had to chill in the fridge before I When the cake was finished, I left it in the pan to carry it to Maggie's Then, I emptied the cher ry topping from the can into my Tupperware con-tainer to make it look as if I made it from scratch When dessert time came, I planned to break the spoon on the topping for effect. Mom always said presentation was 90 per-my plan worked like a charm. The boys both had seconds and Maggie asked me for my cheesecake recipe. I only agreed if she would swap the Casserole de la Next week, the Besaws and the

Warrens talk about investing and Insurunce.

Copies of Ralph Nelson's books — "The Savvy Sallor" and "The Savvy Naval Officer" — can be purchased by writing to: Master Plan Inc., 500 N. Washington St. P.O. Box 10071. Rockville. MD 20849 or online at www.savvy.onweb.com. This article is written and the book is sold with the understanding that nel-ther the author one Stars and Stripes. sold with the understanding that nei-ther the author nor Stars and Stripes are professional financial advisers. If you need advice, please seek professio al assistance. The author specifically disclaims any liability, loss or risk — personal or otherwise — incurred as a consequence, directly or indirectly, of using or applying any of the information comtained in this article or the book. E-mail for feedback is: finance@stripes.osd.mil

Kids, especially teens, need to know the art of gratuities. Paying money to someone for performing a service is a skill that requires prac-- just like learning to drive a stick shift or tie a necktie.

The fact that many adults don't know the least bit about tipping doesn't help the younger generation. Many adults either tip inadequately, inappropriately or not at all.

When you go to dinner with your kids let them calculate the amount of the tip (generally 15 percent of the total check at a sit-down restaurant). Or when traveling with your family, point out the need to tip the baggage handler at the curbside check-in, the hotel maid who cleans your room and turns down the bed, and the tour guide who showed you the sights. You don't have to be the last of the big spenders either Even putting spare change in the jar at the ice cream parlor is a way of showing appreciation.

Lynne Wenberg, of Boeing, holds a remote-control sporty red helicopter/car hybrid engineers created, at the Museum of Flight in Seattle last week. Wenberg, senior manager on the project, said the goal is to make a flying car that costs the same as a luxury vehicle, is quiet and fuel-efficient, and is easy to fly and maintain.

Rising above gridlock

Scientists look at ways to make flying cars a reality

By ALLISON LINN

The Associated Press

SEATTLE - It's a frustrated commuter's escanist fantasy: literally lifting your car out of a clogged highway and soaring through the skies, landing just in time to motor into your driveway.

Researchers stress that the ultimate dream - an affordable, easy-to-use vehicle that could allow regular people to fly 200 miles to a meeting and also drive 15 miles to the mall - still is probably decades

But engineers at NASA, Boeing Co. and elsewhere say the basis for a flying car is there. People have been building, or trying to build, such vehicles for decades.

The problem is, those ideas have generally required both a lot of money and the skills of a trained pilot. And melding cars and planes hasn't always been very success-

"When you try to combine them you get the worst of both worlds: a very heavy, slow, expensive vehi-cle that's hard to use," said Mark Moore, who heads the personal air vehicle division of the vehicle sys tems program at NASA's Langley Research Center in Hampton, Va.

The goal isn't just to create a neat gizmo: These vehicles will become more appealing - and necessary as highways and airport hubs grow more clogged, and commutes more distant. At NASA, the first goal is to transform small airplane travel.

Right now, really small airplanes are generally costly, uncomfortable and loud and require months of training and lots of money to operate; that makes flying to work impractical for most people.

Within five years, NASA researchers hope to develop technology for a small airplane that can fly out of regional airports, costs less than $100,000, is as quiet as a motorcycle and as simple to operate as a car. Although it wouldn't have any road-driving capabilities, it would give regular people the ability to fly short distances. To make flying simpler, NASA is working on technologies that would automate more pilot's functions. In 10 years, NASA hopes to have created technology for going door-to-door. These still wouldn't be full-fledged flying cars - instead, they'd be small planes that can drive very short distances on side streets, after landing at a nearby airport

In 15 years, they hope to have the technology for larger vehicles, seating as many as four passengers. and the ability to make vertical takeoffs

It probably will take years after these technologies are developed 44 [W]e're trying to before such vehicles are actually think through all on the market. Moore says it will take about 25 years to get to any-thing "remotely 'Jetsons'-like,' " a reference to the futuristic cartoon the ramifications of what would it that fed many flying car fantasies Researchers at Boeing in Seattle take to deploy a already are thinking that far reality.

Dick Paul vice president, fleet of these.

Phantom Works

Lynne Wenberg, senior manager on the project, said the goal is to make a flying car that costs the same as a luxury vehicle, is quiet and fuel-efficient and easy to fly and maintain ahead: They've created a miniature model of a sporty red helicopter/car hybrid that is helping the aerospace giant understand what it would take to make flying cars a

Boeing is especially interested in the broader problem of figuring out how to police the airways and prevent total pandemonium — if thousands of flying cars enter the skies. No one wants to be cut off, tailgated or buzzed a little too closely by a student driver at 1,000 feet.

"The neat, gee-whiz part [is] thinking about what would the vehicle itself look like, but we're trying to think through all the ramifications of what would it take to deploy a fleet of these," said Dick Paul, a vice president with Phantom Works, Boeing's research

SEE FLYING CARS ON PAGE 25

YOUR MONEY

Weather investment storm

BY MARK SKERTIC

Chicago Tribune

CHICAGO — When the owners of a chain of London wine bars realized that business was better on warm days, they found an investment that would pay off when the temperature dropped. Corney & Barrow Wine Bars protected itself by turning to an emerging corner of the investment world: weather derivatives.

In July, the Chicago Mercantile Exchange added Tokyo and Osaka to a list of 20 cities — 15 in the United States and five in Europe — where customers could invest in the weather

Since the late 1990s, energy producers and in-surance companies are among those who have invested in the weather to protect themselves from losses because there was not enough, or too much. sunshine

In Corney & Barrow's case, "they budget for a certain number of days where it's really, really nice out," said Martin Malinow, executive vice president of Bermuda-based XL Weather & Energy Inc., which helps businesses manage their risk of losing money because it's colder or warmer than expected.

"If they don't get those days -- a shortfall of drinking days — then they're certainly going to see less business."

The wine bar "bought ... protection from bad days," Malinow said.

The investment contracts structured for Corner & Barrow paid the company when the number of warm days fell below predetermined levels. Weather derivatives were first embraced by energy companies in the mid-1990s, but some investors predicted the market would falter when giants like Enron Corp. left a few years later. But it ants like Enron Corp. left a few years later. But it hung on and began to grow.

"As traders begin to better understand opporties—traders begin to better understand opporties—traders when the properties—traders when the properties when the pr

Although not tangible like soybeans, corn or cat-Although not tangible like soybeans, corn or car-tle, or as popular as interest rates, trading the weather is not much different from buying future contracts on any of those products. All that's neces-sary is to have someone willing to take the other side of the transaction.

In weather derivatives, that side is normally ken by banks, hedge funds and reinsurers. "If a natural gas utility has a warm winter, they

IT a HARLIFFE AS WITHIN THE AS WARTH WITHER, THEY WON'T SHE AS MUCH NATURAL BAS, "Said HOIDEN BLY, THEY AND THE AS WARTH AS WARTH

iccup in their earnings Utilities can reduce the impact of that hiccup with weather derivatives that will pay if there are too many warm days. Energy producers and utilities remain the prime customers for such investments, but other industries have found a use for them, said Bill Windle, senior vice president at reinsurer Swiss Re. Companies operating in the agriculture, entertainment, food and beverage, and construction markets have all begun to invest in weather, he

ritish pound Comr

Bahrain (Di British nou

Flying cars: Decades away but science is making strides

FLYING CARS, FROM PAGE 25

Smaller companies are working on flying car technology as well.

Davis, Calif.-based Moller International already has built a prototype of its Skycar. The streamlined vehicle — think sports car meets the hovercraft Luke Skywalker drove in "Star Wars" - is designed to make ver tical takeoffs, fly around 700 miles and drive short distances

Jack Allison, who retired as a vice president at Moller but still works there regularly, said Skycars are expected to start at around $1 million and require pilot's training.

It's not yet clear when they'll be available, but Allison says demand is already there: More than 100 people have put down a $5,000 deposit.

While researchers already are working on some level of automation to make flying small planes easier, the ultimate goal would he to have a vehicle that is considerably smarter than what's available today.

Ken Goodrich, a senior research engineer at NASA, said one concept under discussion is technology that runs in "h" mode, which stands for "horse." The idea is that a horse, unlike a car, is more likely to try to avoid other objects and may even know how to find its way home.

But Goodrich said he's not sure that the fantasy of the flying car ever would or should become a reality. He questioned whether having flying/driving vehicles throughout the country might end up being too noisy, disruptive and impractical.

"You'd have to look at all aspects of it, how it would integrate in greater society and affect our quality of life," he said.

To our readers

Liz Pulliam Weston is on vacation. Her Money Talk column

CBS MarketWatch

NEW YORK - A semester's worth of textbooks, one of the major college expenses, can easily cost $300 or more. Students and their parents will spend $8.8 billion on textbooks this year, reports the Na-tional Retail Federation. Following are many ways to save:

Find out what texts are required and what are merely rec-ommended. You may be able to borrow the recommended texts from the library or share them with a friend.

■ Check your book list before going off to college. Bookstores at many universities post the textbook lists on a Web site, or you could e-mail your professors. Knowing what you need before you arrive on campus can help you find better deals.

prefer vou book-buying sites, you also can choose slower (and therefore cheaper) shipping methods.

Lurk near the book buyback window. Some universities offer students a chance at the beginning of the semester to sell back their books from the previous term. Make a deal with students waiting in line. You both may benefit.

■ Ask friends if they or any one they know has taken the course in question. Some people hang on to their old books as resources or haven't yet had a chance to sell their old texts.

■ Look locally. College towns may have a used bookstore or two, as well as larger chain stores. You may find cheaper used versions of the titles you need. At the big-box stores, you may be eligible for student or preferred reader discounts.

FRIDAY'S MARKET SUMMARY

288,27	236.			Utilities		286.	51	+.13	+.05	+7.35	+19.59
6,798,12	5.533.	35 NY	SE Com	posite		6.455.	52 +	15.72	+.24	+.24	+14.05
1.278.81	959.	87 Δm	nex Inde	×		1,229.	50	+7.77	+.64	+4.77	+25.92
2,153,83	1.737.	15 Na	edan Co	mposite		1.862.	10	+9.17	+.49	-7.05	+2.85
1.163.23	983.		P 500	emposite		1.107.		+2.68	+.24	37	+9.90
618.46	500.		P MidC			578.	00	+2.79	+.48	+.51	+11.60
606.42	477.		ssell 201			551.	23	+4.42	+.81	94	+10.91
		21 KU	SSEII ZUI	JU
11,371.14	9,510.	91 DJ	Wilshire	5000		10,755.	02 +	33.39	+.31	41	+10.08
			_								_
	NYS	F			Anne	v			NASD	100
NYSE AMEX						IAMOD	HG
Most A	CTIVE	($1 or	MORE)	Most	ACTIVE	($1 or	MORE)	Most	ACTIVE	($1 on	MORE)
	CTIVE ol (00)	($1 or Last			ACTIVE Vol (00)	($1 or	MORE)	Most	ACTIVE Vol (00)	($1 on Last
Name Vo	ol (00)	Last	Chg		Vol (00)	Last	Chg		Vol (00)	Last	Chg
Name Vo	ol (00) 158002	Last 2.87	Chg +.06	Name	Vol (00) 573496	Last 34.56	Chg +.13	Name	Vol (00) 471048	22.02	Chg +.25
Name Vo QwestCm Lucent	158002 132081	2.87 3.15	+.06 05	Nasd100Tr	Vol (00) 573496 242420	34.56 111.45	+.13 +.35	Marme Intel Cisco	Vol (00) 471048 331094	22.02 19.47	Chg +.25 +.30
Name Vo QwestCm Lucent NortelN If	ol (00) 158002	Last 2.87	Chg +.06	Nasd100Tr SPDR	Vol (00) 573496	34.56 111.45 30.24 9.96	Chg +.13	Name Intel	Vol (00) 471048	22.02	Chg +.25
Name Vo QwestCm Lucent NortelN If Pfizer	158002 132081 115273 114161	2.87 3.15 3.83 32.65	+.06 05 08 +.34	Name Nasd100Tr SPDR SemiHTr iShJapan	Vol (00) 573496 242420 109783 86588	34.56 111.45 30.24 9.96	+.13 +.35 +.34 +.03	Marme Intel Cisco Microsoft ApidMati	Vol (00) 471048 331094 330490 305827	22.02 19.47 27.46 16.36	+.25 +.30 +.02 +.38
Name Vo QwestCm Lucent NortelN If Pfizer Coming	158002 132081 115273 114161 97164	2.87 3.15 3.83 32.65 10.21	+.06 05 08 +.34 +.33	Nasd100Tr SPDR SemiHTr	Vol (00) 573496 242420 109783 86588 38531	34.56 111.45 30.24 9.96 109.76	+.13 +.35 +.34 +.03 +.86	Intel Cisco Microsoft	Vol (00) 471048 331094 330490 305827 208565	22.02 19.47 27.46 16.36 3.82	+.25 +.30 +.02 +.38 +.04
Notein If Pfizer Corning NokiaCp GenElec	158002 132081 115273 114161	2.87 3.15 3.83 32.65	+.06 05 08 +.34	Nasd100Tr SPDR SemiHTr iShlapan iShRs2000 DJIA Diam OilSvHT	Vol (00) 573496 242420 109783 86588	34.56 111.45 30.24 9.96	+.13 +.35 +.34 +.03	Intel Cisco Microsoft ApidMati SunMicro	Vol (00) 471048 331094 330490 305827	22.02 19.47 27.46 16.36	+.25 +.30 +.02 +.38
Notein If Pfizer Corning NokiaCp GenElec	158002 132081 115273 114161 97164 87271	2.87 3.15 3.83 32.65 10.21 11.86	+.06 05 08 +.34 +.33 05 02 +.26	Nasd100Tr SPDR SemiHTr iShJapan iShRs2000 DJIA Diam	Vol (00) 573496 242420 109783 86588 38531 29171	34.56 111.45 30.24 9.96 109.76 102.16	+.13 +.35 +.34 +.03 +.86 +.29	Intel Cisco Microsoft ApidMati SunMicro Oracle	Vol (00) 471048 331094 330490 305827 208565 200779	22.02 19.47 27.46 16.36 3.82 10.29	+.25 +.30 +.02 +.38 +.04 +.06
Name Vo QwestCm Lucent NortelN If Pfizer Corning NokiaCo	158002 132081 115273 114161 97164 87271 77540	2.87 3.15 3.83 32.65 10.21 11.86 32.77	+.06 05 08 +.34 +.33 05	Nasd100Tr SPDR SemiHTr iShlapan iShRs2000 DJIA Diam OilSvHT	Vol (00) 573496 242420 109783 86588 38531 29171 19457 14598	34.56 111.45 30.24 9.96 109.76 102.16 72.85	+.13 +.35 +.34 +.03 +.86 +.29 +.40	Marme Intel Cisco Microsoft ApidMati SunMicro Oracle CienaCp	Vol (00) 471048 331094 330490 305827 208565 200779 139764	22.02 19.47 27.46 16.36 3.82 10.29 1.85	+25 +30 +.02 +38 +.04 +.06 08

KEY DEFENSE STOCKS DIV PE Last Chg %Chg ... 14 .80 16 ... 16 .07 19 1.44 18 .80 22 59.06 36.10 51.99 +2.3 +37.2 +23.4 +5.8 -22.3 +8.9 +5.8 +11.3 +21.6 +3.9 +8.0 +145.3 +9.8 -30.8 +12.9 -.02 -.08 +.01 +1.12 +.89 -.02 +.16 +.15 -.03 +.10 +.26 +.32 -.01 46.79 98.39 98.39 32.77 28.95 48.00 96.46 62.46 53.40 51.63 34.40 39.26 53.82 20.34 64.41 .07 1.44 .80 .50 .40 .75 .40 .88 .92 .80 .66 24 22 20 21 20 75 23 41 20 34

KEY MUTUAL FUNDS
Name	NAV	Chg.	YTD %Ret.
Fidelity Invest: Groinc Fidelity Invest: GroCo	35.84 48.35	+.03	+1.1
Amer Century Inv: Ultra	26.40	+.02	-3.4
Amer Century Inv: Utra Fidelity Spartan: Epidx	39.39	+.02	+6
Putnam Funds A: GrinA o	17.93	+.05	+1.9
Fidelity Invest: A Mar	15.60	+.02	*****
Frank/Temp Frnk A: SMCoGrA	29.33	+.17	-2.9
AIM Investments A: Const p	20.37	+.04	-53
Fidelity Invest: USBI	11.12		+2.5
Fidelity Invest: Ovrsea	30,47	+.03	-3.1
Fidelity Advisor T: GrOppT	27.86	+.07	-2.7
Fidelity Advisor T: EaInT	26.35	+.07	+2.2
Scudder Funds S: GroineS	20.07	+.05	1
Putnam Funds A: GlbEcty o	7.46	+.03
AIM Investments A: WeingA p	11.65	+.04	-3.6
AIM Investments A: ChartA o	11.98	+.04	+.8
Merrill Lynch I: BalCapl	26,50	+.04	+1.1
Scudder Funds S: Intl FdS	37.99	+.02	-1.1
Fidelity Advisor T: OvrseaT	15.24	+.02	-3.5
Lord Abbett A: DevGtA p	13.50	+.12	-10.0
Scudder Funds S: Income S	12.89	+.01	+2.8
Merrill Lynch I: USGvtMtg	10.28		+2.0
Scudder Funds S: Devel	17.25	+.04	-8.4
Putnam Funds A: GIGvA p	12.29	01	+.6

Bahrain (Dinar) British pound Canada (Dollar) Denmark (Krone Egypt (Pound) ... Euro Hong Kong (Dolli Hungary (Forint) Iceland (Krona) . Israel (Shekel) ... Japan (Yen) Kuwait (Dinar)...... Norway (Krone) Philippines (Peso).... Saudi Arabia (Riyal)

EXCHANGE RATES

Philippines (Peol.). 55.00 Singapore (Oblia) — 1711. 5. Kores (Worl) — 1711. 5. Kores (Worl) — 1712. 5. Kores (Worl) — 1712. 1713. 1714. 1

PRECIOUS METALS

INTEREST RATES

ount rate ral funds market rate inth bill

Discover why so many people are saying...

THOMAS BIERMANN, General Manager, Europe LT, COL. CYRIL J. SOCHA. Commander

News and Editorial

News and Editorial
DAVID MAZSRELL Editrial Director
DOUG CLAWSON Managing Editor
POBS GRINDATEF, Associate Editor
SAM AMRHEIN, Europe Bureau Chief
SCOTT BURGESS, Middle East Bureau Chief
JOC GROWLESM, Electronic Edition Editor
ASSISTANT AMAGING EDITORIO Editor
ASSISTANT AMAGING EDITORIO Colora

Olson, News

Teach Mogres Scotts

Olson, News

Teach Mogres Scotts

Teach Mogres Mogres Sco

Brian Rowers Features Sean Meeres Scorts

Addresses

U.S. MAIL: Unit 29480, APO AE 09211 INTERNATIONAL MAIL: Postfach 1330, 64345 Griesheim,

FAX: DSN 349-8416; civ. (+49) (0) 6155/601416 E-MAII - News pression

FAC USN 349-8416; civ. (+8) (0) 6155-601416

FAMIL News, news@mail.extppes.nd.ml

Letters. 1887-0201415 these sod ml

Letters. 1887-0201415 these sod ml

State 350, Washington DC

20045-1301. Phone ISN 312-765-6000 or civ. (+1) 0202

FSI-0900. Fact 1-10202 751-0390

ENTORIAL DIRECTOR. David Mazzarells, 529 14th St. NW, Sulte 350, Washington C. 20045-1301. Phone ISN 312-763-0345 or

civ. (+1) (2007 761-0345.

Familia mazzarells (600) phone ISN 312-763-0345 or

civ. (+1) (2007 761-0345.

uv. (+1) (202) 761-0945.
E-mail-mazzarellad/Gistripse sod mill
MBIDSMAH. See lingare. Sead comments to: Ombudsman, Stars and Stripes, 529 14th St. NW, Saite 350, Washington, D.C.
20045-1301, Phone civilian (+1) (401) 364-8032, fax
(+1) (401) 364-8596;

or e-mail: ombudsman@stripes.osd.mil.

How to call us

Editor: DSN 349-8237. civ. (+49) (0) 6155/601237 Letters: DSN 349-8400. civ. (+49) (0) 6155/601405 Sports: DSN 349-8400. civ. (+49) (0) 6155/601405 Sports: DSN 349-8252. civ. (+49) (0) 6155/601225 Circulation: DSN 349-8437. civ. (+49) (0) 6155/601437 Advertising: DSN 349-835/4425, civ. (+49) (0) 6155/601333/443.

News Bureaus

ROWS BUTCAUS

Bamberg: Rick Emet. 278h 658, bit 27555, 5nc 22541, APO &
10139-7539, till K. 645-7597 or or to 105139-8585, till K. 1054

463-8007 or or, 10 561,500-8007.

Bambolder: Ferry Boyt. 272h 658, APO & 60034; tal. DSN
465-808, or or, 10 6178-90776; e-mail:
boytlig/mail extipses oft and 1045-90180; ard X. 645-908.

Bambolder: Ferry Boyt. 272h 658, APO & 60034; tal. DSN
465-608, or or, 10 6178-90776; e-mail:
boytlig/mail extipses oft and 1045-90180; ard X. 645-90180; ar e-mail: doughertyk@mail.estripes.osd.mil; Ward Sanderson, Uni 29480, APO AE 09211; tel. DSN 349-8326 or civ. (0 29480, APU Rt. USZ11; etc. USW 3947-0520 etc., vo., 6155-601326, e-mail: sandersow@mail.estripes.od.mil. Jessica litigo, Unit 29480, APO AE 09211; tel. DSN 349-8290 or civ. (0) 6155-610290, e-mail: ingio@mail.estripes.od.mil and Lisa Horn, Unit 29480, APO AE 09211; tel. DSN 349-8237 or vo., 6165-6109271, -mail. benefilomail.gstripes.od.mil and Lisa Horn, Unit 29480, APO AE 09211; tel. DSN 349-8237 or vo., 6265-6109271, -mail. benefilomail.gstripes.od.mil

civ. (0) 6155-601237; e-mail: horni@mail.estripes.osd.mll iidelberg:Mannheim: Jon R. Anderson, Room 117, Romerstr. 104, 69115 Heidelberg: tel. DSN 370-7010 or civ. (0) 6221/500554; fax civ. (0) 6221/23421; e-mail:

sys is melistelle; ills under silv- und er der von sezzensomen anderenseignem aufstenseignem aufstem auf mit aufstenseignem aufstenseignem aufstenseignem aufstenseignem silven seine anderenseignem aufstense dem aufstenseignem aufstense auf aufstenseine Statisterse Leine in erstellten erforden aufstense soll mit 20 ktt. 20 kts. 20 kt

SPAIN

Rota: Scott Schonauer, PSC 819, Box 1, FPO AE 09645, tel. DSN 727-1099 or iov. 1-430, (956) 82-1099, fax DSN 727-1034 or iov. 1-434 (956) 82-1034
e-mail: schonauers@mail.estripes.osd mil

ROSNIA Tuzla: Stars and Stripes, Operation Joint Forge, APO AE 09789; tal. civ. 00387-61-135974; e-mail: bosnia@mail.estripes.osd.mil UNITED KINGDOM

UNITED KINGDUM

RAF Mildenhall: Ron Jensen, Building 465 ECSS-UK, RAF Mildenhall,

APO AE 09459; tel. DSN 238-4868 or civ. (+44) (0)
1638/544868; fax civ. (+44) (0) 1638/718013; e-mail: ienser

r@mail.estripes.osd.mil WASHINGTON D.C.

washing(i) 00.c.

was under Patrick Dickson, 529 1440 Street NW, Suite 350, Washington Dc 20045-1301; tel. (+1) (2020) 761-0859;
e-mail: dicksong/954/pites sod mill andra horiz and Lisa Burgess, 529 1440 Street NW, Suite 350, Washington Dc 20045-1301; tel civ. (+1) (703) 695-4792; tax civ. (+1) (703) 695-656;
e-mail: (natti-20)/pites sod mill; burgessi@ystripes.osd.mil

Printed in Italy by Editrice Telestamps

Stars and Stripes (USPS 017752) is published daily (except Christmos and New Year's) for 50 cents daily and $1 Sunday by the Stars and Stripes central orlice, $29 14th S. NW, Saha 350, Weshington CC 2004-7501. Periodicals poolage paid at Washington, CC. Postimasters- Send address changes to European Stars and Stripes, Unit 2460, APO AE 0921.

This newspaper is sufficiently for publication by the Department of De-tection of the STAGE of the Miller State of the Con-tent of the STAGE of the Miller State of the Con-tent of the STAGE of the Miller State of the Con-tent of the STAGE of the Miller State of the Content of the Con-tent of the STAGE of the Content of the U.S. Comments includ-ing the Department of the General or the U.S. Comments includ-ing the Department of the Content of the Content of the Con-tent of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Con-der of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Content of the Con-tent of the Content of able for purchase, use, or patronage without regard to race, color, religion sex, national origin, age, marital status, physical handicap, political affilia tion, or any other normerit factor of the purchaser, user, or patron.

STARS AND STRIPES WEB SITE: WWW.STRIPES.COM

Stars Stripes | Letters to the editor

All American soldiers

To the writer of "National Guard training" (Aug. 17) who submitted his "2-cents worth": I think that it is ironic and humorous that you claim National Guard soldiers lack "responsibility, disci-pline and respect." You disrespected every National Guard soldier, including yourself, with that stereotypical state ment.

You also claim that the Guard is looked down on by active duty, but you are wrong. I saw my active-duty drill sergeant from basic last month in Iraq. He asked me if I was National Guard. Fool ishly, I lowered my head and mumbled yes. He told me to get my chin up and said: "You're here now, aren't you? You're doing the same thing I am, right?"

He was right. Bottom line, we are all on the same team. We are all American soldiers making selfless sacrifices.

Furthermore, I am greatly offended that you made young college students the target of your tantrum. I am a 21-year-old who did enlist for college, but I can't imagine a better way to earn my education than by serving my country. I am proud to be here

In April, I saw three of my young college student friends get shot during an ambush. One month after the ambush, two of them returned to duty. You would say that they "left the comfort of home where everything is done for them." In truth, they fought with the doctors to allow them to come back and join us in the fight. These are brave soldiers that the National Guard and active-duty com ponents should be proud of.

> Pfc. Brandy A. Cottrill Camp Navistar, Kuwait

AAFES censorship

In explaining why Army and Air Force Exchange Service theaters will not be showing "Fahrenheit 9/11" (Stars and showing Stripes, Aug. 17), AAFES spokesman Judd Anstey gave a disingenuous excuse for censorship. He cited a business decision and claimed it had nothing to do with the film's contentious political nature. Anstey compared the draw of "Bend it Like Beckham" (which grossed

Tell us what you think

Stars and Stripes welcomes your comments on editorials and columns that are published in the newspaper, and values letters on topics of importance in the lives of our readers. All letters must be signed, and must include the writer's address or base and telephone number. Please limit all letters to 300 words. We reserve the right to edit letters for length, taste and clarity.

Send your letters to:

U.S. Mail: International mail: Stars and Stripes Stars and Stripes Postfach 1330 APO AF 09211 64345 Griesheim

Via fax: [Country code +49] (0) 6155/601395; DSN 349-8395

E-mail: letters@mail.estripes.osd.mil

$161.528 first week) with "Fahrenheit 9/11" (grossed $24.078.959 first week). as if there were any parallel or relationship between the two films. You do the math

Readers deserve more respect from an organization that serves those on the front lines defending our basic freedoms, which include freedom of speech and free exchange of ideas. AAFES did nothing to gain the trust of those serving our country honorably and perhaps should have remained silent instead of proffering a thinly veiled rationalization for censorship.

Our soldiers and civilians serving overseas deserve a fair and balanced coverage of the entire political spectrum. Partisan hacks may argue that "Fahrenheit 9/11" is bad for morale or may somehow encourage our enemies. I submit that by restricting the public's access to information, AAFES commits an egregious act of censorship and abridges one of our most prized freedoms.

Daren R Morales Heidelberg, Germany

Women also know the risks

The writer of the letter "Sending women to war wrong" (Aug. 15) is mis-taken in his belief that only America has sent women to war. I know that women from Australia's Royal Air Force as well as women from the Republic of Georgia have been here in Iraq. I know that Israeli women serve and fight in their mili-

When he stated that "America's women are intelligent, brave, loyal, hard-working and patriotic," he contradicted his previous statement, "When women are encouraged to enlist ... they have no idea what they are really getting into." I believe women are intelligent and I do not believe that any woman has enlisted without knowing there is a chance that she may have to go into combat. It is known that women have served in combat prior to this war.

If someone enlisted just for college benefits, schooling or an extra paycheck, be it a woman or a man, without knowing that there is a chance that he or she may have to go to war, they enlisted for the wrong reason. The Army is just that, an army. Women have fought for equal rights and have the right to enlist and fight alongside their fellow country person, be it a woman or a man. If a women wants to be a pilot, serve in the infantry, in an armor division, a field medic or in the military police it is her decision, it is her right. It is tragic when anyone dies due to violence, woman or man, but they chose to serve in the military. God bless

W.S. Bader Iraa

Female servicemembers shine

I was outraged when I read "Sending women to war wrong." The writer suggested that our nation sends its female servicemembers to war because we don't have enough men to do the job, and that women who join the armed forces "have no idea what they are really getting into.'

I beg to differ. Our female soldiers are strong, highly trained and patriotic Americans with more than ample intelligence to understand that they may be asked to place their lives in danger. To suggest otherwise is insulting and ungrateful. I am sure that women in forward-deployed locations would rather that the writer simply thank them for their selfless service.

Angie McQuaig Menwith Hill, England

OPINION

What newspapers are saying at home

The following editorial excerpts are selected from a cross section of newspapers throughout the United States. The editorials are provided by The Associated Press and other stateside syndicates.

Three-star lapse in judgment Los Angeles Times

A Defense Department investigation has found that a top Army general violated Pentagon rules with his anti-Muslim remarks to Christian groups, yet one Pentagon official dismissed the errors as "relatively minor." That obtuseness reflects a stumning inability to understand how much the comments have hurt the United States abroad.

It is unfathomable why Lt. Gen. William G. "Jerry" Boykin has been allowed to keep his job. When Boykin's remarks became known in October, President Bush limited himself to a tepid announcement that the comments about Muslims and Islam did not reflect his point of view or that of his administration. And Bowkin soldiers on.

sistation. Ann loysus soloners on.
The general remains the deputy underserelary of defense for intelligence, the job he had by the great part of the control of the late of the egon designess group of the 200 state. The egon designess group of the 200 state of the egon designess group of the 200 state. The egon designess group of the 200 state.

The course we're a Christian nation and the enemy is a guy named Statun." He told a Flordia audience months earlier that a Muslim Somali warford was captured because "I knew my God was bigger than his I knew that my God was a legar than his I knew
that my God was a legar than his I knew
that my God was a legar than his I knew
that my God was a legar than his I knew
that my God was a legar than his I knew
that my God was a legar than his I knew
that my God was a legar than his I knew that my God was a real God and his was an idol "

Boykin's comments have been widely reported in the Muslim world. They resonate with supporters of Osama bin Laden and other radical Islamic fundamentalists preaching a war between Islam and Chrisian 'crusaders' and [also] lews. Any time the flames of bigotry wane, a fundamentalist need only broadcast a tape of Boykin again and contend the is mouthing official U.S. poliance of the content of the content of the consume job and wears the same unform U.S. Muslims have protested, for good reason. The internal Defense Department report

The internal Defense Department report concluded that Boykin had failed to clear the speeches with the Pentagon, had not given a required statement that he was not speaking for the military and had failed to report that a religious group paid for his travel. His punishment is unlikely to go beyond a written reprimand.

The comments would be bad enough from a buck private. From a three-star general whose job includes gathering information for the campaign against Islamic radicals, they are unforgivable. Let Boykin retire and speak out as much as he wants. But do not give others the chance to assume that the general speaks for the Pentagon, the administration and the nation.

Discounts a cut-rate idea Chicago Tribune

Workers of the world, shop till you drop! Then belly up to a five-course meal! Say, how about a visit to a nice comedy club? That's how New York Mayor Michael Bloomberg might express his novel offer to the many protesters expected at the Republican National Convention.

In exchange for their promise to be peaceful, the violence-averse mayor has announced, protesters can receive discounts at local restaurants, theaters and other tourist attractions—much like (although not as upscale as) the discount offers Republican delegates receive.

All a protester has to do is to wear a "peaceful political activist" pledge pin, available at city tourism offices, to receive the discounts. ...

It seems unlikely that hot-blooded, anancho-socialists would moderate their outrage over global capitalism to receive a discount on a T-bone at Broadway Joe Steakhouse on 46th Street. Yet, even streetfighting men and women — should any actually surface in New York — eventually may want to take a guided walking tour of the city, shop for a new tattoo or perhaps take in a theater per-new tattoo or perhaps take in a theater performance between arrests. At a healthy percentage off.

Scream" because had no trouble ste

Right time for a new CIA Erie (Pa.) Times-News

The chairman of the U.S. Senate Intelligence Committee has proposed that the Central Intelligence Agency be broken into three new ones.

Kansas Republican Par Roberts says, "We are not abolishing the CIA We are reordering and renaming its three major elements. No one agency, no matter how distinguished its history, is more important than U.S. national security." Well, breaking one agency into three sounds a to like "abolishing" it, but let's not stumble over the term Roberts.

Roberts proposed that the CIA's 'directorates' — operations, which employs spies intelligence, which analyzes what the spies report; and technology, which provides the James Bond-like gizmos the spies use each becomes a separate unit. The advantage? No agency would have a vested interet in skewing results. Those who collect word analyze, those who analyze won tword to the time service and the word to word to the time selves about how it's used. They won't need to talk to each other. Presumably they'll talk to the intelligence czar.

This proposal — revamping the obviously-flawed CIA is certainly worth considering — is worthy of serious, informed debate. It's worth having right now.

Unfortunately, America is not likely to get one before the Nov. 2 election. In fact, America probably won't get a debate until after Jan. 21, when the president (whoever he is) takes his oath of office and Congress gets back to husiness.

True, Americans deserve better, but realistically, they'll have to wait.

Screaming for better security The Times Herald-Record, Middletown, N.Y.

Edvard Munch's painting "The Scream" is one of the most famous, most reproduced images on earth. In the rarefied world of art masterpieces, it is one of those works usually referred to as "priceless." That doesn't mean it has no value —$100 million is the figure tossed around a lot —but rather that it's irreplaceable. So it's probably fortuitous that Munch painted four versions of "The Scream" because thieves in Norway have had no trouble stealing two of them. ...

Is this any way to protect national treasures? Not only was the alarm at the museum silent, but also the guards, like many police in generally law-abiding Norway, were not armed. The paintings were attached to the wall only by a wire.

Armed guards? Metal detectors? Fastening the paintings to the walls more securely? Something more could have been done. There are ways to make art treasures available for public viewing without locking them up in vaults or putting them behind bulletproof glass.

None may be 100 percent effective, but any would be better than what is in place today.

Something should be done before "The Something should be done before "The Scream" becomes truly irreplaceable.

A yen to reward Yang The Courier, Russellville, Ark. Supposedly, the Olympic Games are about athletes competing against the best in the world. No doubt, in the Games taking place over

No doubt, in the Games taking place over in Athens, we've seen some fantastic performances in marquee events. Die-hard fans have been able to witness greatness in obscure sports as well. Somewhere in the mix of athletics and pressure and training a lifetime for a few seconds comes intense nationalism. ... But, in the end, the Olympics are about the Games themselves and three-tiered successes (and failures).

That's why no matter how much Ameri-

That's why no matter how much Americans might support gymnast Paul Hamm, we have to acknowledge that he didn't win the all-around gold medal.

He has the medal, and he stood on the top step at the awards ceremony, but three judges made a mistake. They didn't count South Korean Yang Tae Young's parallel bars routine with as high a degree of difficulty as it deserved. Starting from a lower possible score, deductions brought Yang's score under Hamm's.

Bluntly, Yang should have won the medal

No judging error should keep him from

Help mobile homes stay put The Beaufort (S.C.) Gazette

While the death toll from Hurricane Charley was relatively small ... destruction of personal property was staggering — more than $20 billion. If such a storm hit Beaufort County it would be especially painful to some of the same categories of people affected in Florida — the poor, the elderly and those who live in housing that government officials classify as mobile homes.

Incian classify as mobile nomes.

Insurance will help pay for much of Charley's destruction, but an estimated 30 percent to 50 percent may not be covered by insurance, which means total destruction of a family's finances and an inability to rebuild.

tamury's mances and an maoniny to rebuild.

As Charley ripped through central Florida, some of the hardest hit were families who live in mobile or manufactured homes. Although Florida has tie-down rules, which affect the stability of a housing unit in a storm ... news accounts described the mobile homes as bent and twisted pieces of metal...

Meteorologists predict that the 2004 hurricane season will be particularly active. For that reason, it would be reassuring that the people who live in mobile homes are warned to get out of the path of a storm and have transportation to safety.

Ever meany it will take federal money to pe.

For many it will take federal money to replace their homes.

Again, it would be reassuring that when the homes are replaced they could withstand winds of at least a Category 2 hurri-

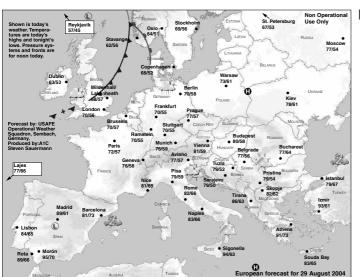

Monitor new overtime rules The Post-Standard, Syracuse, N.Y.

On Monday, new overtime rules that could potentially affect millions of workers became effective, Just what kind of effect the regulations will have on employees is anybody's guess. The Bush administration says 1.3 million more workers will be eligible for overtime pay. Democrats and labor officials say the rules could hurt middle-class and other workers, and may cause millions to lose sextra pays.

One thing seems certain. The new regulations were written in a vague enough way that leaves lots of room for interpretation and flexibility for employers. ... The Economic Policy Institute, a nonpartisan organization, is convinced the rules will harm millions of workers. It says its contentions are supported by former Reagan, Bush I and Clinton administration labor officials. Congress should carefully watch this grand experiment. If the overtime rules turn to the homofit a new I want of constant Congress smouth Caretumy watch this grand experiment. If the overtime rules turn out only to benefit a small group of employees and hurt many more, lawmakers must quickly fix the flaws in the regulations. And they should work overtime to do so.

20

it Cit

Cold frnt.

97/63

Occluded fr.

Mazar-e-Sharif 102/73

EUROPEAN FORECAST

Benelux: Partly to mostly cloudy. Highs in the lower 70s, Monday lows in the mid to upper 50s.

Britain, Ireland: Mostly cloudy with rainshowers. Highs in the mid 60s to lower 70s, Monday lows in the mid to upper 50s.

Croatia and Bosnia: Partly cloudy. Highs in the upper 70s, Monday lows in the lower 50s.

France: Partly cloudy. Highs in the lower 70s to lower 80s, Monday lows in the mid to upper 60s.

Northern Germany: Mostly cloudy with rainshowers. Highs in the lower 70s, Monday lows in the mid to unner 50e

Southern Germany: Mostly cloudy with isolated rainshowers. Highs in the lower to mid 70s, Monday lows in the mid to upper 50s

Hungary: Sunny. Highs in the lower 80s, Monday lows in the upper 50s.

Northern Italy: Mostly cloudy. Highs in the mid to upper 70s, Monday lows in the upper 50s.

Southern Italy: Partly cloudy. Highs in the lower 80s to mid 90s, Monday lows in the lower to mid 60s.

Kosovo: Partly cloudy. Highs in the mid 70s to lower 80s, Monday lows in the mid 50s to lower 60s.

Norway: Partly to mostly cloudy with isolated rainshowers. Highs in the lower to mid 60s, Monday lows in the lower to mid 50s.

Portugal, Spain: Partly to mostly cloudy with isolated thunderstorms the east. Highs in the lower 80s to mid 90s, Monday lows in the lower 60s to lower 70s.

Turkey: Partly cloudy with isolated thunderstorms in the north. Highs in the mid 80s to mid 90s, Monday lows in the lower to mid 60s.

For current weather watches, warnings, and 5-day forecasts go to the USAFE Operational Weather Squadron home page at:

https://ows.sembach.af.mil tp://ows.public.sembach.af.mil SUN & MOON

Last qtr. Sept 6

57 64 85 67 74 57 75 95 92 68 91 TODAY'S STATESIDE OUTLOOK

Pt. Cldv. Mostly cldv

₩

82 92/72

75 87 78

Incirlia

93/66

Tel Avi

Lo Oti 58 PCby
58 Cby
58 Cby
59 PCby
54 PCby
55 PCby
57 PCby
57 PCby
58 PCby
58 PCby
58 PCby
58 PCby
57 PCby
58 PCby 59507072 626674 6659 74 53 63 57 51 67 63 61 53 58 44 48 42 52 64 54 68 52 56 53 49 53 68 69 69 52 76 73 66 56 97 3 m 59 81 68 72 52 74 62 59 65 65 67 56 86 78 64 58 57 77 72 POId POId POId 7378 75 87 91 88 76 91 79 79 73 64 91 81 71 87 79 66 74 80 72 87 74 70 0 85 88 70 73 70 7371 7252 61 5975 5555 5471 52 60 45 64 5771 52 69 48 55 68 67 62 54 58 61 79 54 56 67 70 56 Cldy Rain 87 75 81 86 86 86 82 87 85 91 87 88 75 88 87 88 82 93 67 59 66 61 67 62 47 64 70 68 68 PCId) PCId) PCId) PCId) PCId) PCId) Rair POId POId POId POId OId POldy POldy Cir Rain Cir Rain POldy Cir POldy POldy POldy PCIdy Rain 71 72 52 69 POlely Rain POlely Rain POlely Cley POlely POlely Rain Rain Rain Rain Rain Rain 48 61 72 70 78 61 63 56 48 74 66 68 69 48 57 PCBGG Rain Cldy Cldy PCldy 74 77 68 74 84 82 85 86 76 PCidy 85 92 85 70 72 90 90 PCidy PCidy PCidy Rain Cidy Rain St Louis St Thom PCIS PCIS PCIS Salem,Ore. Salt Lake C San Angelo San Antonio

THE UNITED STATES TODAY As of noon Eastern IIS time

Low High

v Delh 93/78

89/74

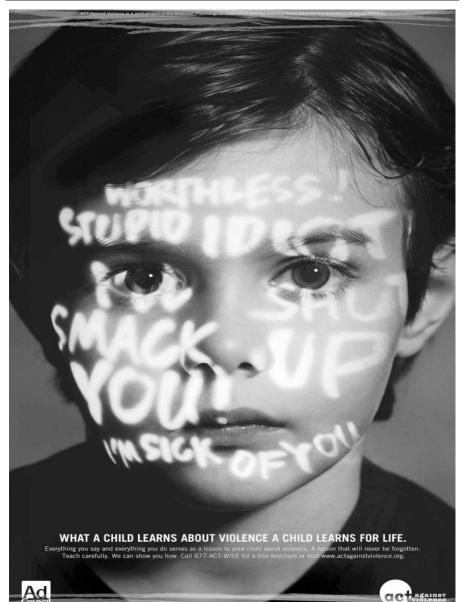

Bombay • 88/78

MIDEAST

Scheduled to ETS or PCS Check our Relocation Guide every Saturday to find Realtors at your new station.

STARS STRIPES. Your Hometown Newspaper

73-74-147 +3 74-73-147 +3

73-74-147 +3 74-73-147 +3 75-72-147 +3 74-73-147 +3 73-74-147 +3

SCOREBOARD

AFN schedule

(All times Central European, AFN-A: AFN-Atlantic; PAC: AFN-Pacific/Korea; SPT: AFN-Sports; did: delayed. Listings are lates available from AFRTS and subject to chang without notice.)

Television

Baseball—San Francisco at Atlanta, 2 a.m. Monday, SPT; teams TBD, 9 a.m. Tuesday (didi), SPT. Little League World Series: U.S. Champion-ship game, 5:30 a.m. Sunday (did), SPT. World Championship game, 9:30 a.m. Mon-day (did), SPT. College football—BCA Classic, Southern Cal vs. Virginia Tech, 1 p.m. Sunday (did), SPT. Golf – Bulck Championship, final round, 7 p.m. Sunday, SPT.

"Golf-Buick Champlonship, final round, 7
m. Sunday, SP-exted Loup Sharpie 500, 1
Moon naching-level and 10 puri, fuesday (dig), 500
hb SPT: AMA motocross, 130 p.m. Monday (did), SPT; NNRA Midsouth Nationals, 1 am.
320 am. Tuesday (did), SPT.
320 am. Tuesday (did), SPT.
320 am. Tuesday APA-A, mon
Tuesday (did), SPT.
320 am. Tuesday APA-A, mon
Tuesday (did), SPT.
320 am. Tuesday APA-A, mon
Tuesday (did), SPT.
320 p.m. Tuesday (did), SPT.
321 p.m. Tuesday (did), SPT.
322 p.m. Tuesday (SPT) Perview

Tuesday, (Idl.), PAC, and 7° jan. Tuesday, (Idl.), PAC, and 7° jan. Tuesday (Idl.), Pereiwe Show, 230. a.m. Monday (Idl.), opening Olympics (Note Telecasts listed as "Nec" Napa-telesyal Coverage of events Nec", Lapa-telesyal Coverage of events Nec", La (Listings are feeds from AFN in California. Some might not air in all areas) Baseball—San Francisco at Atlanta, 2 a.m.

Radio

Sunday.

College football—Southern Cal vs. Virginia
Tech, 1:30 a.m. Saturday.

Olympics—Women's
Description of the college of p.m. Saturday.

AFN-Europe can be reached at DSN
329-4444 or German civilian (+49) 329-444 "or German Testificat USA (1)69-156-8444 AFN-Atlantic's Web site is 6(1)69-156-8444. AFN-Atlantic's Web site is 6(1)69-156-8444. AFN-Atlantic's Web site is 6(1)69-156-8444. AFN-Atlantic's Web site is www.myafneurope.net. Click on "television" or radio" for latest schedules. AFN's parent or-galific, can be reached at DNS 312-348-1319. or commercial (909) 413-2319. Its Web site is www.myafneurope.

Pro football

Oakland at Arizona Monday's game Tennessee at Dallas Thursday, Sept. 2

Carolina at Pittsburgh Jacksonville at New England Baltimore at N.Y. Gian Buffalo at Detroit Kansas City at Dallas mpa Bay at Ho nnesota at Sea izona at Denvei St. Louis at Oakland
San Diego at San Francisco
Friday, Sept. 3
Philadelphia at N.Y. Jets
Atlanta at Washington
Indianapolis at Cincinnati Green Bay at Tennessi Miami at New Orleans Chicago at Cleveland

Soccer

Major League Soccer

Eastern Conference
W L T Pts GF GA
MetroStars	9	8		32	36	36
Columbus	7	5	9	30	24	23
D.C. United	6	8	8	26	31	35
Chicago	5	9	8	23	22	29
New England	5	9	8	23	30	34
Western C	onfe	ren	ice
Kansas City	10	7	5	35	31	23
Los Angeles	9	6	8	35	36	32
Colorado	8	7	8	32	21 36	21
San Jose	8	ż	6	30	36	28
Dallas	8	9	5	29		31
NOTE: Three points	for 1	vict	on	, on	e po	oint
for tie.
Saturday's games

D.C. United at New England Chicago at Dallas Colorado at San Jose Sunday's game Columbus at MetroStars

Columbus A MetroStars
Wednesday, Sept. 1
Kansas City at Chicago
San Jose at New England
Los Angeles at Columbus
D.C. United at Chicago
MetroStars at Kansas City
Dallas at Colorado

Auto racing

Sharpie 500

After Friday's qualifying; race Saturr At Bristol Motor Speedway Bristol, Tenn. (Lap length: 533 miles (1.24) Jeff Gordon, Cheyrolet, 128.520 r (2.9) Kasey Kahne, Dodge, 127.410. (3.40) Sterling Marlin, Dodge, 127.82. (4.12) Ryan Newman, Dodge, 127.82. (12) Ryan Newman, Dodge, 127,284.
 (42) Jamie McMurray, Dodge, 127,090.
 (20) Tony Stewart, Chevrolet, 126,972.
 (6) Mark Martin, Ford, 126,947.
 (38) Elliott Sadler, Ford, 126,821.
 (19) Jereny Mayfield, Dodge, 126,779.
 (16) Greg Biffle, Ford, 126,670.
 (16) Timmle Johnson, Chevrolet, 126,670.

10. C15 reg Biffle, Ford, 1.0x Err. Pervolet. 15.55.
10. C15 reg Biffle, Ford, 1.0x Err. Pervolet. 15.55.
11. (2) Rardy Williack, Dodge, 12. 486.
11. (3) Rardy Williack, Dodge, 12. 486.
13. (3) Rardy Williack, Dodge, 12. 486.
14. (8) Dale Branch Lord, 12. 33. 37.
15. (0) Ward Burton, Chervote, 1.03. 11.
15. (1) Robby Gradon, Chervotel, 1.03. 11.
15. (2) Robby Gradon, 1.0x Err. 15. 200.
15. (2) Robby Gradon, Chervotel, 1.0x Err. 15. 200.
15. (3) Robby Gradon, 1.0x Err. 15. 200.
15. (3) Robby Gradon, 1.0x Err. 15. 200.
15. (4) Robby Gradon, 1.0x Err. 15. 200.
15. (4) Robby Gradon, 1.0x Err. 15. 200.
15. (5) Carl State (1.0x Err. 15. 200.
15. (6) Carl State (1.0x Err. 15. 200.
15. (7) Carl State (1.0x Err. 15. 200.
15. (8) Carl State (1.0x

125.518. Crevrolet, 13. Crevrolet, 13. Crevrolet, 13. (21) Ricky Budd, Ford, 125.428. 13. (21) Ricky Budd, Ford, 125.428. 13. (51) Tony Raines, Chevrolet, 125.289. 14. (22) Scott Wimmer, Dodge, 125.264. 15. (32) Ricky Craven, Chevrolet, 125.109. 15. (15) Michael Waltrip, Chevrolet, 125.036.

25,036.
37. (01) Joe Nemechek, Chevrolet, 124,686.
38. (4) Jimmy Spencer, Chevrolet, 124,660.
39. (10) Soct Riggs, Chevrolet, pravisional.
40. (50) Todd Bödline, Dodge, provisional.
41. (93) Mike Wallace, Dodge, provisional.
42. (38) Derrike Cope, Ford, provisional.
43. (38) Morgan Shepherd, Dodge, provi-

Sional. — Failed to Qualify
44. (02) Hermie Sadler, Chevrolet, 123,945.
45. (22) Stantha Barrett, Dege, 123,316.
46. (72) Brad Teague, Ford, 122,248.
48. (08) Ryan McGlynn, Chevrolet, did not finish.

Food City 250

Friday
At Bristol Motor Speedway
Bristol, Tenn.
Lap length: 533 miles
(Starting position in parentheses)
(1) Dale Earnhardt Jr., Chevrolet, 256,

1. (1) Dale Earnhardt Jr., Chevroiet, 250, $42,015. 2. (25) Matt Kenseth, Ford, 256, $36,280. 3. (8) Kyle Busch, Chevrolet, 256, $44,040. 4. (4) Kevin Harvick, Chevrolet, 256, $23,835. 5. (5) David Green, Chevrolet, 256, $37,115. 6. (11) David Stremme, Dodge, 256, $27,215. 7. (12) Martin Truex Jr., Chevrolet, 256, $27,715.

110. (24) Stacy Compton, Ford, 256, $24,400. (10) Mike McLaughlin, Ford, 256, 11. $29,640.
13. (32) Mike Wallace, Ford, 256, $29,900.
14. (3) Kenny Wallace, Chevrolet, 256, $22,860.
15. (28) J.J. Yeley, Chevrolet, 256, $23,080.
16. (19) Tim Fedewa, Chevrolet, 256, $23,110. 17. (26) Jason Leffler, Chevrolet, 256, $78,780. 18. (31) Kevin Lepage, Chevrolet, 256, $20,730. 20,730. 19. (14) Carl Edwards, Ford, 255, $18,710. 20. (16) Ron Hornaday Jr., Chevrolet, 255, $28,555.

21. (17) Mike Bliss, Chevrolet, 255, $22,845. 22. (29) Stanton Barrett, Chevrolet, 255. $18,905. $18,905.
23. (7) Jamie McMurray, Dodge, 254, $18,890.
24. (40) Derrike Cope, Ford, 254, $22,560.
25. (42) Steve Grissom, Chevrolet, 254, $24,140.

. (37) Ashton Lewis Jr., Chevrolet, 254. $22,490. 27. (18) Michael Waltrip, Chevrolet, 252, (22,410.

 (2) (2) Tony Raines, Chevrolet, 249, accident, $20,370.
 (38) Travis Geisler, Chevrolet, 247,

30. (38) Travis Geisler, Chevrolet, 247, 220,445. 31. (30) Jay Sauter, Chevrolet, 246, acci-dent, $18,325, 32. (27) Johnny Sauter, Chevrolet, 242, 220,305. 33. (9) Greg Biffle, Ford, 214, brakes, $18,285.

34. (6) Kasey Kahne, Dodge, 213, engine failure, $18,265. 35. (13) Casey Mears, Dodge, 186, rear end, $18,225. 35. (13) Casey Mears, Dodge, 186, rear end, $18,225. 36. (15) Paul Menard, Chevrolet, 176, acci-dent, $18,205.

dent, $18,205. 37. (43) Jimmy Kitchens, Ford, 103, accident, $20,175. 38. (41) Tina Gordon, Ford, 89, accident, $20,140. 39. (20) Robby Gordon, Chevrolet, 81, acci-39. (20) Robby Gordon, Chevrolet, 81, accident, $18,100.
40. (35) Gus Wasson, Chevrolet, 75, accident, $23,580.
41. (34) Jeff Fuller, Chevrolet, 15, brakes, $23,560.

42. (33) Mark Green, Ford, 1, accident, 43. (36) Eric McClure, Chevrolet, 1, accident, $18,010.

Average Speed of Race Winner: 64.872 ne of Race: 2 hours, 6 minutes, 12 sec-

Margin of Victory 0, 100 Second S.

Bardin of Victory 0, 100 Second S.

Caution Flags: 13 for 87 last,

Lag Leaders: D. Earnhardt 1/1-20; K. Har
Victory 1, 100 Second 1/1-20; K. Har
Victory 1, 100 Second 1/1-20; M. Kenseth

Top 10 in Points: M. Truey Jr. - 1, 503; K.

Top 10 in Points: M. Truey Jr. - 1, 503; K.

Top 10 in Points: M. Truey Jr. - 1, 503; K.

Top 10; F. Hornhardt 1/18-25; S.

Top 10; F. Hornhardt 1/18-25; K.

Top 10; F. Hornha

Golf

Zach Johnsor Hank Kuehne Jose Coceres Corey Pavin Bob Burns Kirk Triplett

Esteban Toledo

Tom Byrum Joey Sindelar Robert Game

Scott Simpsor Matt Gogel

Jason Dufner David Peoples Tom Pernice, Jr Jerry Kelly Brad Faxon

Bo Van Pelt

Tim Petrovic Joe Durant Garrett Willis

Garrett Wills Tim Wilkinson Skip Kendall Aaron Baddeley

Pat Perez Arron Oberholser Woody Austin Brent Geiberger Omar Uresti

Mike Heinen Tim Herron Billy Mayfair Kevin Na Daniel Chopra Aaron Barber Chris Nallen Roland Thatcher

Bart Bryant Loren Roberts Jonathan Byrd Robert Damron Craig Bowden Ted Purdy Jay Williamson Billy Andrade Bill Haas

Kevin Sutherland Craig Perks Vaughn Taylor

نانک خطیقhn Taylor Cameron Beckman Todd Fischer Brian ا

roud Fischer Brian Harman Arjun Atwal Pat Bates Hirofumi Miyase Michael Allen Heath Slocum

J.L. Lewis Frank Lickliter II Jeff Sluman J.J. Henry Patrick Sheehan

Brian Kortan Steve Pate

Tag Ridings Jason Bohn Hunter Mah Mike Heiner

Buick Championship

Friday At TPC at River Highlands Cromwell, Conn. Purse: $4.2 million Yardage: 6,820; Par 70 Second Round Fred Funk Zach Johnson 66-66-132

68-65-133 68-66-134 62-72-134 65-70-135 68-67-135 766555 69-66-135 68-67-135 69-66-135 67-69-136 67-69-136 66-70-136 66-70-136 70-66-136 66-71-137 69-68-137 69-69-138 72-66-138 67-71-138 69-69-138 68-70-138 2222222 71-67-138 71-67-138 70-69-139 70-69-139 68-71-139

69-70-139 73-66-139 70-69-139 67-72-139 72-67-139 68-72-140 70-70-140 72-68-140 69-72-141 70-71-141

70-71-141

71-70-141 +1 68-73-141 +1 Dicky Pride Russ Cochran Deane Pappas Failed to q 71-71-142 +2 69-73-142 +2 72-70-142 +2 72-70-142 +2 71-71-142 +2 72-70-142 +2 72-70-142 +2 71-71-142 +2 69-73-142 +2 Kris Cox David Branshaw

Wachovia Classic Friday At Berkleigh Country Club Kutztown, Pa. Purse: $1 million Yardage: 6,381; Par 72 Second Round

Bradley Hugh

Grant Waite Steve Allan Kris Cox

Niclas Fastr David Frost Brian Gay

Suzann Petter Soo-Yun Kang Grace Park Shi Hyun Ahn Lorena Ochoa Hilary Lunke Laura Diaz 1 -14 1 -11 1 -11 1 -10 1 Wendy Ward Mikaela Parm Carin Koch Then Tinning 69-68-137 68-69-137 68-69-137 67-70-137 Iben Tinning Nancy Scranton Janice Moodje Angela Stanford Nadina Taylor Jackie Gallagher-Smith Tina Fischer Joanne Mills Brandie Burton 70-68-138 70-68-138 69-69-138 69-69-138 69-69-138 69-69-138 74-65-139 73-66-139 71-68-139 70-69-139 Heather Daly-Donofrio A.J. Eathorne Moira Dunn Michelle Ellis Michelle Ellis Candie Kung Audra Burks Lorie Kane Hee-Won Han Marcy Hart Young-A Yang Jeong Jang 70-69-139 67-72-139 67-72-139 67-72-139 63-67-140 Young-A Yang Jeong Jang Catriona Matthew Beth Daniel Katherine Hull Maggie Will Marilyn Lovander Kim Saiki Tina Barrett Leta Lindley MH Hyun Kim Glulia Sergas 73-68-141 73-68-141 71-70-141 71-70-141 71-70-141 Giulia Sergas Dorothy Delasin Patricia Meunier-Lebouc Mardi Lunn Angela Iaron 71-70-71-70-71-70-70-71-70-71-69-72-

Lee Ann Walker-Cooper Juli Inkster Miriam Nagi Miriam Nagl Aree Song Kelly Robbins 71-71-142 70-72-142 70-72-142 70-72-142 70-72-142 69-73-142 69-73-142 Michele Redm Rosie Jones Denise Killeen Candy Hannemann Kris Tschetter Patricia Baxter-Johnson

Angela Jerman Meg Mallon

-8

The Tradition Friday At The Reserve Vineyards and Country Club Aloha, Ore. Purse: $2.3 million Yardage: 7,212; Par 72 Second Round

69-66-135 -9 69-67-136 -8 67-71-138 -6 67-71-138 -6 69-69-138 -6 69-69-138 -6 Bruce Lietzke Jose Maria Canizares Vicente Fernandez Andy Bean Tom Jenkins Tom Jenkins D.A. Weibring Doug Tewell Bruce Summe Gil Morgan Ed Fiori 69-69-138 69-70-139 67-72-139 71-68-139 75-65-140 Craig Stadler Jim Thorpe Mark James Allen Doyle Bruce Fleisher Sammy Rachels John Harris Stewart Ginn Tom Purtzer 71-70-141 70-71-141 71-70-141 73-68-141 73-69-142 Wayne Levi Hale Irwin Bobby Wadkins Gary McCord John Bland Tom Kite Tom Kite Fuzzy Zoeller Keith Fergus Dave Stocktor Eamonn Darcy Bobby Walzel Tom Watson 74-69-143 72-71-143 72-72-144 74-70-144 73-71-144 Tom Watson Walter Hall Jerry Pate Mike Smith Isao Aoki Morris Hatalsky 75-69-144 73-71-144 73-71-144 72-72-144 72-72-144 75-70-145 72-73-145 76-69-145 Bob Gild Jay Sigel J.C. Snead Bob Murphy Ben Crenshaw James Mason Dana Quigley Dave Eichelbe Don Pooley Des Smyth 71-74-145 71-74-145 75-70-145 73-72-145 73-72-145

77-70-147 +3 74-73-147 +3

Leonard Thompson Mike Reid

Bob Eastwo

Rodger Davis David Eger Dave Barr Gary Player Terry Dill Dale Douglass Tom Wardo

BMW International Saturday At Golfclub Munich-Nord Eiche Nord Eichenried, German Purse: $2.2 million Yardage: 6,957; Par: 72 Third Round

Thomas Levet, France
Miguel Angel Jimenez, Spain
Retief Goosen, South Africa
Markus Brier, Austria
Predrik Jacobson, Sweden
David Lynn, England
Colin Montgomers, Sootlan
Per Fowler Austrial
Sebastian Fernandez, Arg.
Lee Westword England 73-65-63-201 68-66-67-201 66-69-68-201 71-65-67-201 71-65-68-204 67-68-69-204 67-70-67-204 73-67-64-204 70-68-67-205 Sebastian Fernandez, Arg. Lee Westwood, England Soren Kjeldsen, Dehmark Tino Schuster, Germany Paul Casey, England Luke Donald, England Alex Cejka, Germany Andrew Raltt, England Darven Clarke, N. Ireland lan Poulter, England David Howell, England David Howell, England John Daly, United States Joakim Haegyamon, Sweden Sergio Garcia, Spain 68-71-68 68-70-69-207 73-69-65-207 72-68-68-208 73-66-69-208 73-68-67 - 208 67-70-72 - 209 69-70-70 - 209 71-69-70 - 210

Tennis

Pilot Pen

At The Connecticut Tennis Center at Yale New Maven, Comn.

Surface: Hard-Outdoor Singles

Elena Bovina (7 emifinals

Elena Bovina (7 emifinals

Elena Bovina (7 emifinals

Elena Bovina (7 emifinals)

Elena Bovina (7 emifinals)

Elena Bovina (7 emifinals)

Elena Bovina (8 emifinals)

Elena Bovina (9 emifinals)

TD Waterhouse Cup

Friday
At The Hamlet Golf and Country Club
Commack, N.Y.
Purse: $380,000 (Intl. Series)
Surface: Hard-Outdoor

"Surface: Hard-Outdoor", Singles Disingles Dis

Deals

Friday's transactions

RASFRALL American League
CHICAGO WHITE SOX—Optioned LHP Josh

Stewart to Triple-A Charlotte. Called up RHP CIEFLAND MODANS—Recalled RHP Jeremy Gubrie from Akron of the Eastern and Charles and Administrates with Akron, through Charles and Administrates with Akron Household and Charles and Administration and Charles and Charle

him to Tacoma of the PCL
TEXAS RANGERS—Designated RHP Scott
Erickson for assignment. Recalled RHP John Wasdin from Oklahoma of the PCL
Astonal League
ATLANTA BRAYES—Removed LHP Armando Almanza and LHP Sam McConnell from the 40-man roster

the 40-man roster. CHICAGO CUBS—Agreed to terms with INF Eric Patterson.
CINCINNATI REDS—Signed LHP Phil Valiquette and assigned him to Gulf Coast quette and assigned him to Gulf Coast League Reds. MONTREAL EXPOS—Purchased the con-tract of SS Maicer Izturis from Edmonton of the PCL. Optioned OF Ron Calloway to Edm-onton. Moved 2B Jose Vidro from the 30-day onton. Moved 28 Jose Vidro from the su-suy to the 66-day MIS—Traded RHP Dan Wheelge to House for OF Adam Seyss. Assigned to House for OF Adam Seyss. Assigned State League. Signed RHP Jaly Soler. Los AMELES DODGERS—Optioned RHP Masso Nida to Las Vegas of the PCL. Pur-SAN DIEGO PADRES—Extended a player development agreement with Portland of the PCL through 2006. velopment agreement wood.

PCL through 2006.
BASKETBALL
Acthall As

National Basketball Association
BOSTON CELTICS—Signed F Justin Reed.
CHARLOTTE BOBCATS—Named Chris Munord strength and conditioning coach.
MIAMI HEAT—Signed F Matt Freig.
NEW JERSEY NETS—Named Bill Cartwright
ssistant coach.

ssistant coach.

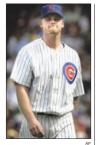

NEW YORK KNICKS—Signed G Jamison

NEW TORK NICKS—signed Gramison Fewer.
PHILADELPHIA 76ERS—Named Dave Boll-vinkel west coast advance scout.
POTBALL
CHICAGO BEARS—Placed LB Derrick Bal-art and DT Charies Hill on walvers, TE Rob-ert Johnson on walved-falled physical and ert Johnson on waived-failed physical and DB Brock Williams on waived-injured. INDIANAPOLIS COLTS—Signed P Jesse Nic-

ISSIO.

HOCKEY

National Hockey League
PHOENIX COYOTES—Traded C Day Langkow to Calgary for D Denis Gauthier and LW Oleg Saprykin. Signed C Petr Nedved.

Chicago's Kerry Wood gave up four homers Friday to Houston.

Beltran's pair leads Houston

BY DAVE CARPENTER
The Associated Press

CHICAGO — Don't blame Carlos Beltran if the Houston Astros miss the playoffs.

The All-Star center fielder had another big day at Wrigley Field, hitting two home runs to lead Houston over Kerry Wood and the Chicago Cubs 15-7 on Friday. Beltran, who finished with four hits, has homered in five consecutive games.

In five games at Wrigley Field since coming over from Kansas City in June, Beltran is 11-for-21 with seven homers and 11 RBIs.

"I think that's a coincidence," he said. But, he added: "Every time I come here, I feel good."

Beltran had plenty of help Friday as the Astros chased Wood early and snapped Chicago's five-game winning streak. Jeff Bagwell and Lance Berkman hit back-to-back solo shots off Wood, and Jeff Kent added a home run to help Houston win for the ninth time in 12 games. The Astros moved within six games of Chicago in the NL wild-card race. "The last 10 days we've been

"The last 10 days we've been playing good baseball," Beltran said. "We've been doing things right and that's real important for us to keep moving up."
Beltran hit a solo homer in the first inning off Wood and a three-run shot in the ninth to punctuate a six-run inning against Kyle Farnsworth. In between, the Astros had plenty of offense, finishing with 17 hits off five Cubs pitchers.

"When bats get hot like theirs were today, like ours had been, it doesn't matter who you throw out there," Cubs manager Dusty Baker said.

Oswalt (15-9) allowed six runs in eight innings on a hot, muggy day, retiring 13 batters in a row from the fourth inning until yielding a single and a two-run homer to Nomar Garciaparra with two outs in the eighth.

Houston scored four runs off Wood (7-6) in the first and never trailed, battering him for eight runs on eight hits in 4¹/₃ innings.

Edmonds has Cards winging again

Two home runs, five RBIs help Suppan survive a rough outing

The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH — Jim Edmonds took it upon himself to get the St. Louis Cardinals' offense going again.

Edmonds hit two two-run homers and matched a career high with five RBIs on Friday night, leading the Cardinals over the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-5.

"I just got lucky, just hit the ball on the barrel," Edmonds said. "It's nice to get a win. We've been flat and needed to pick up the mo-

NL Roundup

Edmonds homered in the first and third off Ryan Vogelsong (4-11) as St. Louis won its fifth straight over the Pirates.

The victory came after the Cardinals lost two of three to Cincinnati, including a 1-0 defeat Thursday, after having won eight straight series.

"I don't care what the record is in the standings. We have something going, and we have to work hard to keep the edge on our side," manager Tony La Russa said. "It was a nice bounce-back wm."

Jeff Suppan (13-6) matched his career high for victories, allowing nine hits and five runs in 6¹/₃ innings. Suppan, who has won 10 of his last 12 decisions, struck out two and walked one.

Jason Isringhausen pitched the ninth inning for his 37th save.

Edmonds followed Scott Rolen's double in the third with his 35th homer of the season. He added a sacrifice fly in the fifth inning for the fifth five-RBI game of his career to give St. Louis a 7-2 lead. Edmonds also walked and scored on pinch-hitter So Taguchi's single in the eighth.

St. Louis' Jim Edmonds hits the first of his two home runs in an 8-5 victory over Pittsburgh on Friday night.

"He was one of the guys we had red-flagged to not let him beat us," Pirates manager Lloyd Mc-Clendon said. "But they have so many quality bats in the lineup that you have to make quality pitches and keep the ball down in the zone. If you don't, they're going to take advantage of it."

Expos 10, Padres 3: Brad Wilkerson homered and had three RBIs and Tony Batista hit a two-run shot for the host Expos. San Diego remained two games back in the wild-card race.

Phillies 6, Brewers 1: Vicente Padilla (5-6) pitched seven shutout innings for his first victory since May 23 and the homestanding Phillies sent Milwaukee to its ninth straight loss.

The Phillies snapped a seven-game home losing streak, scoring all their runs with two outs in the fifth inning against Victor Santos (10-9), keyed by two-run singles by Bobby Abreu and David Bell Diamondbacks 4, Reds 3 (11): Andy Green tripled and scored on Alex Cintron's single in the 11th. Adam Dunn hit his 38th homer for the host Reds.

Marlins 3, Rockies 0: Ismael Valdez (11-7) allowed just four hits before leaving in the seventh because of an Achilles' injury and Luis Castillo hit an RBI single. Armando Benitez earned his 37th save, completing a four-hitter. Joe Kennedy (6-6) pitched seven innings for the visiting Rockies, who have dropped five straight.

Mets 9, Dodgers 2: Gerald Williams singled twice in a six-run first inning and the host Mets broke out of an offensive funk in a big way, ending a five-game losing streak.

Tom Glavine hit an RBI single during the early burst and coastduring the early burst and coastduring the control of the country Dodgers starter Wilson Alvarez (7-5) came out in the second inning with a bruised left forearm after being struck by Cliff Floyd's hard one-hopper.

Glavine (9-10) won for only the second time in 12 starts.

Wright's arm, bat key Braves' win

The Associated Pres

ATLANTA — Not even a big home run by Barry Bonds could stop Jaret Wright from winning again.

Wright set a career high with his 13th victory and drove in the go-ahead run with a surprise bunt Friday night, helping the Atlanta Braves overcome Bonds' 694th homer in a 5-3 victory over San Francisco.

In the opener of a four-game series between playoff contenders, Bonds' three-run shot off Wright gave the Giants a 3-0 lead in the sixth inning.

"I was pretty upset when he hit the homer because he's the guy you don't want to let beat you," Wright said.

The Braves came back in the bottom half of the inning, tying it on Chipper Jones' two-run homer. When Wright came to the plate with the bases loaded and one out, he looked down at his third base coach and thought he got a bunt sign

He was wrong. Atlanta manager Bobby Cox hadn't put on a play.

"He just pushed it on his own, and it worked out," Cox said, cracking a smile after the Braves won their fifth straight. Julio Franco was not running with the pitch and got a late break off third base. Giants reliever Matt Herges fielded the bunt and had a play at the plate, but instead settled for the out at first as Franco scored the go-ahead run.

Herges said he didn't hear catcher A.J. Pierzynski calling for him to throw home. "Yeah, I screwed up," Herges said. "I didn't

"Yeah, I screwed up," Herges said. "I didn't hear it, but I guess someone was yelling.... I think it caught everybody off guard, even the runner."
Wright (13.6) allowed six hits in seven in.

wright (13-0) anowed six into in seven inings, leaving his ERA at 3.20. He went 12-10 with Cleveland in 1998 but hadn't reached double figures again until emerging as the surprise of Atlanta's rotation this year.

After Edgardo Alfonzo's two-out single off Chris Reitsma in the eighth, Cox brought in left-hander Tom Martin to face Bonds, who took a called third strike on a backdoor sinker to end the inning with the Braves ahead 4-3. "I don't know what the pitch was, but it just froze me," Bonds said.

John Smoltz struck out two in a perfect ninth for his 35th save in 38 chances.

The Braves still lead the NL East by 91/2 games. The Giants remained one game be-

Jaret Wright won his 13th game with strong pitching and a surprise bunt that drove in the hind the Chicago Cubs in the wild-card race. Jones hit his 25th home run of the season off Kirk Rueter (7-10), giving him 11 homers and 28 RBIs in August. With 72 RBIs, Jones has revived his hopes of driving in at least 100 runs for a ninth straight season.

Sizzling Red Sox win again, get good news on Ramirez

Gutierrez picks up slack in Boston's 10th victory in 11 games

BOSTON - The most satisfying images from the Boston Red Sox's latest win are the X-rays of Manny Ramirez's knee.

The Boston slugger fouled a ball off his knee in the fourth inning of the Red Sox's 5-3 home victory over the Detroit Tigers on Friday night.

But the nervousness from seeing Ramirez, the AL leader with 34 homers, limping around home plate in pain turned to relief when the X-rays came back negative

"We definitely need his bat the understatement of the year, manager Terry Francona said. "He thought he was doing OK."

There's no doubt the Red Sox are doing fine, winning for the 10th time in 11 games to remain 5 6 games behind the New York Yankees in the AL East.

Ricky Gutierrez picked up the offense for Ramirez, who singled and scored in the first, driving in two runs in the fifth and getting three hits.

Derek Lowe (12-10) allowed three runs and seven hits in eight innings, striking out seven to win for the sixth time in his last eight decisions.

"We're on a good roll, and as a starting pitcher you don't want to be the one guy that stops the momentum." Lowe said. "As a rotation, it's been a lot of fun the last couple of weeks."

Lowe's strong outing was even more important since closer Keith Foulke was unavailable because of a stiff back. Foulke pitched in four of the previous six games so Francona decided to play it safe.

In his absence, Mike Timlin started the ninth and gave up a pair of hits before striking out Craig Monroe, who had already hit a two-run homer in the game.

Embree struck out pinch-hitter Marcus Thames, and Curtis Leskanic got Brandon Inge to pop out to right to end it for his first save since signing with the Red Sox on June 22

Mike Maroth (10-9) allowed five runs - four earned - and 10 hits in five innings. He has lost consecutive decisions after winning the previous seven.

Yankees 8, Blue Jays 7: Derek Jeter, Hideki Matsui and Bernie Williams homered and New York held on to beat the Blue Javs at Esteban Loaiza lasted just 41/3 innings, allowing four runs on seven hits, and is winless in five starts for New York. Tanyon Sturtze (5-2) pitched 21/3 innings for the win

Carlos Delgado hit a three-run homer to cut New York's lead to 8-7 in the seventh.

Justin Miller (2-3) was the Indians 6. White Sox 3: C.C. Sabathia (10-8) matched a career high with 11 strikeouts and Ronnie Belliard hit a three-run homer to lead the Indians over visiting Chicago

Jason Grilli (0-1) was called up by the White Sox from Triple-A Charlotte to start in place of Freddy Garcia, who has a strained right forearm. He gave up five runs and five hits in five innings.

Rangers 6, Orioles 4: John Wasdin gave up two runs and four hits over six innings in his return from the minors, and the Rangers handed visiting Baltimore its 11th consecutive loss.

Baltimore's Rafael Palmeiro was 1-for-3 with a walk in his first game against the team with which he wanted to end his career

Wasdin (2-2) was recalled earlier in the day from Triple-A Oklahoma to take the spot of Scott Erickson who was designated for assignment. Eric Bedard (5-9) gave up six runs, seven hits and four walks in 51/3 innings.

Angels 9, Twins 6: Adam Kennedy and Garret Anderson each hit a two-run homer, and the Angels beat Minnesota in Anaheim to match a season-high ninth straight victory.

Aaron Sele (8-1) allowed two runs and six hits in six innings Brad Radke (9-7) pitched 5²/₃ innings, allowing nine runs and 15 hits — both season highs.

Athletics 8, Devil Rays 7: Eruiel Durazo hit a two-run homer Eric Chavez also connected and the Athletics rallied from a four-run deficit at home for their fifth consecutive win.

Duchscherer pitched five scoreless innings of relief

Aubrev Huff matched a career igh with four hits, but Tampa Bay had its four-game winning streak stopped. Mark Hendrick son (8-13) gave up seven runs in 42/3 innings

Mariners 7, Royals 5: Bret Boone hit a go-ahead two-run homer off D.J. Carrasco (2-2) in the eighth inning and the Mariners had a season-high six home runs in a victory over Kansas

The teams combined for nine home runs to match the most hit in a game at Safeco Field, which opened July 15, 1999, Cleveland and Seattle accomplished the feat on July 16.

Abraham Nunez homered off George Sherrill (2-1) in the eighth to give Kansas City a 5-4 lead Ichiro Suzuki is the first player to reach 200 hits in each of his first four seasons. Suzuki had 202 hits entering Saturday's game; the record for hits in a season is 257, set by George Sisler in 1920.

With 200 hits already, Ichiro on record pace

Entering Saturday, Ichiro

Suzuki was averaging more than 1.6 hits per game, a pace that would result in 260 hits, surpassing George Sisler's record of 257 set in 1920. Here's how Suzuki has

Games Hits

.26 29

24 46

.....26 51

.....23 26

.....27 50

fored each month so for June ..

July .

Aug ..

Source: MLB.com

The Associated Press

SEATTLE - Ichiro Suzuki has surprised even himself "In Japan, at about the 120th game, I had 201 hits," he said.

To go at the same pace and do the same thing over here, I didn't even imagine doing that.

Suzuki was talking about 10 years ago when he had 210 hits in 130 games in Japan in 1994, the only time he had 200 hits in his native country.

The former Orix Blue Wave superstar is now flirting with one of the great records in baseball: 257 hits in a season, set by George Sisler in 1920 with

Browns

Suzuki became the first player in major league history to get 200 hits in his first four seasons in the major leagues when homered to lead off the ninth inning off Kansas City closer Jeremy Affeldt in a loss Thursday night.

A Safeco Field crowd of 30,962 chanted "Ichiro. Ichiro, Ichiro" after Suzuki connected for his seventh homer of the season. He reached 200 hits in his 125th game of the season, and after going 1-for-5 he was hitting .364, tops in the AL

"This guy is unreal," Royals manager Tony Pena said. "He's a great hitter. He's a natural The 2001 AL MVP and four-time All-Star has missed only one game this season. The

Mariners had 36 games left after Thursday night. In 2001 Suzuki had 242 hits in 157 games. He followed that with 208 hits in 157 games in 2002 and 212 hits in 159 games last season. Suzuki had 51 hits in May and 50 in July. He's primarily a contact hitter who slaps at the ball and gets singles. Since the All-Star break, Suzuki was hitting .458 (81-for-177). In August, he was hitting .449 (44-for-98).

The Sisler record remains a long shot, but it's not out of the

"At this point, I'm not going to think about that at all," Suzuki said through a translator. "I think you have goals that you can see and that goal is just too far for me to see

Seattle manager Bob Melvin is amazed by what Suzuki has achieved during the Mariners horrendous season

This season is killing him. Melvin said. "He has a way of putting it away at night, but it hurts him had when we lose and we continue to go through stuff like this. He continues to come out the next day and prepares himself as well as anybody I've ever been around.

Affeldt gave up Suzuki's 200th hit on his first nitch to open the ninth, and didn't seem troubled by it. "Hopefully, he signs a bat for me," the pitcher said. The Mariners, who have been in last place in the AL West since the second day of the season, wound up losing their 80th game to fall 34 games under .500 in one of the biggest plunges in the majors in But the fan interest in Seattle is high and Suzuki said it's his responsibility to try to come through for the fans.

"I heard them," he said. "They were very loud. There's probably some fans who came out to see me hit this 200th hit. I knew I had one left to get to 200. I'm just glad and happy that I was able to get

Suzuki wants to be a role model as well as a great hitter. 'I say this a lot, but I'm a guy with a small frame who is not very big," said Suzuki, who is 5-foot-9 and 172 pounds. "To be able to come over here and have records. I hope in the future maybe that I can be somebody that they can look up to."

Tests show Tavarez's cap just dirty

The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS - Julian Tavarez's baseball cap is dirty and grimy but not illegal, according to the man who now owns it.

Tayarez, a right-handed reliever for the St. Louis Cardinals, is appealing a 10-game suspension handed down Tuesday for having pine tar on the cap. He was ejected from the first game of a doubleheader on Aug. 20 at Busch Stadium after Pittsburgh Pirates manager Lloyd McClendon questioned the cap.

Umpire crew chief Joe West inspected the hat and said Tavarez and manager Tony La Russa "as much admitted" to the presence of pine tar, which could be used to improve a pitcher's grip on the baseball. Tayarez was ejected and as he left the field he tossed the cap to a fan in a box seat behind the St. Louis dugout

But Gene McNary, a former St. Louis County executive who is running again for the county's highest office, said the cap is guilty only of being filthy. Aides paid $140 to the fan who caught the cap, then gave it to Mc-

At the urging of KSDK-TV snorts reporter Frank Cusamano McNary took the cap to St. Louis Testing Laboratories, where substances on it were analyzed

McNary said the lab tested specifically for both pine tar and resin. Results revealed dust and dirt, but nothing illegal

Gwynn's No. 19 to be retired MONTREAL — Tony Gwynn will have his number retired by the San Diego Padres on Sept. 4

The Padres announced Friday that Gwynn's No. 19 will ioin the numbers of Dave Winfield, Randy Jones and Steve Garvey, which were previously retired by the team.

Gwynn, who became the 22nd player in major league history to reach 3.000 hits on Aug. 6, 1999. at Montreal's Olympic Stadium, played his entire 20-year career with San Diego — his hometown team — from 1982-2001.

Mets sign Cuhan nitcher

NEW YORK - The New York Mets signed Cuban defector Alay Soler on Friday, giving the pitch er a three-year deal worth $2.8

Soler, 24, was an ace for the Cuhan national team last year going 10-4 with a 2.01 ERA in 18 games. He defected last November with three other players

Major League Baseball statistics

American League M BATTING
R H H H
672 1307 127
728 1273 174
703 1275 144
640 1253 128
676 1243 128
649 1248 161
679 1181 187
678 1160 190
541 1192 113
700 1162 194
612 1178 150
571 1175 107
560 1116 113
545 1106 120
UJAL BATTING RBI 634 697 670 604 654 619 653 649 507 671 575 543 536 519 288 283 279 279 278 265 265 265 265 263 262 257 257

late appearance
RR H H T 77 2021
RS 14626
RS 146

456 53 11 TEAM PITCHI ERA 145 S14 4.10 1123 519 4.10 1123 519 4.10 1123 519 4.10 1123 519 4.10 1123 519 4.10 1123 519 4.47 1194 551 4.55 1119 570 4.75 1195 598 4.79 1182 598 4.86 1198 621 4.86 1207 615 4.86 1207 615 5.03 1212 637 5.18 1281 636 80 Sh 820 7 896 10 880 6 915 9 733 6 712 5 806 3 782 8 773 7 780 7 812 4 888 5 854 5 88 430 351 330 404 433 466 335 499 396 427 451 468 555 410 28 27 39 41 42 29 48 25 25 28 23 25 21 20

ision is so W 10 14 16 11 11 11 11 11 17 8 10 13 7 9 8 6 9 10 10 10 10 10 2.64 3.13 3.58 3.59 3.66 3.72 3.74 3.78 4.02 4.07 4.11 4.18 4.43 4.43 4.44 4.54 4.54 4.54 Sabathia Co...
JVazquez NYY
Halladay Tor
Zambrano TB
Tohnson Det

9 7 10 14 9 13 10 8

HR 171 167 101 140 149 161 116 116 116 117 119 159

81 p AB 296 504 442 472 425 370 481 447 453 431 426 522 420 421 526 HR 36 15 21 41 28 8 39 31 13 27 18 10 RBI 82 70 82 95 76 62 98 111 75 84 80 47 77 109 94 63 81 60 65 77

Nobody tells your story the way we do. When troops deploy, our reporters go with them. Contact them today by emailing irag@mail.stripes.osd.mil. STARS STRIPES Reporter Jason Chudy tells your story from your perspective

Major League Rasehall scorehoard

Major League Baseball
American League	E-Grilli (1), Belliard (12). LOB-Chicago 8, Cleveland 2. 2B-Rowand (32), Burke (7), Bor- chard (1). 3B-Uribe (6). HR-Belliard (7). SB-Rowand (15). CS-Crisp (9). S-Crisp. SF-Vizquel.	E-JoCruz (8), Dye (2). DP-Tampa Bay 1, Oakland 1, LOB-Tampa Bay 11, Oakland 5, 2B-Crawford (23), Huff (22), Cantu (11), Blum (19), HR-Blum (6), EChavez (26), Dura- zo (21), Scutaro (6).	E-FGuzman (2), Aurilia (5). DP-Montreal 2. LOB-San Diego 8, Montreal 8. 2B-RaHer- nandez (13), Wilkerson (29). 3B-Siedge (2). HR-Payton (5), Wilkerson (25), TBatista (23). SB-EnChavez (22). S-Tankersley.	Diamondbacks 4, Reds 3 (11) ARIZONA abr h bi MoClouf 5 1 3 0 Feed 3 h 4 0 0 0
New York	SB-Rowand (15). CS-Crisp (9). S-Crisp (7). S	Blum (15), HR—Blum (6), Crohavez (26), Dura- 20 (11), Scutzer (16), PP RER BS 50 Tampa Bay pendrick L8-13 2½, 10 7 7 13 10 1 LCayter 1½, 0 0 0 0 1 Cokken 2 2 6 6 1 1 Dehche W.5-4 5, 4 0 0 0 1 Blooder 1 1½, 10 0 0 1 MR-deman pitched to 2 batters in the 3rd. A—30, 13 (15), 10 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	San Diego	Cintron ss 50 2 2 FLopez ss 50 10 0 DBists at 7 60 10 Casey 1b 51 10 Hinbrn 1b 51 10 Dunni ff 41 2 2 Hirston 2b 40 10 Dunni ff 41 2 2 Terrero cf 41 3 1 Poppel p 60 0 0 0 0 0 Case 1 2
Seattle 47 80 .370 271/2 Friday's games Boston 5, Detroit 3 N.Y. Yankees 8, Toronto 7	Rangers 6. Orioles 4		Cardinals 8, Pirates 5 ST. LOUIS PITTSBURGH abrhbi abrhbi	AGreen 3b 2 1 1 0 Vintine p 0 0 0 0 0 JCastro 3b 0 0 0 0 Totals 43 4 13 3 Totals 40 3 7 3 Advisora 010 110 000 01-4
Seattle Priday's games 310 279 Begton, Schotzly mit of 7 Cleveland 6, Chicago White Sox 3 Chicago White Sox 3 Chicago White Sox 3 Chicago White Sox 4 Chicago White Sox 4 Cleveland Salithrore 4 To Sox 4 Cleveland Salithrore 4 To Sox 4 Cleveland Salithrore 4 To Sox 4 Chicago White Sox (Carland 89) at Cleveland Chicago W	ab r h bi was be h bi was he h bi was h bi wa	Atlanta	Wmack 20 5 21 Kendall C 31 30 4 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	Nance 2 0 0 0 0 vn Wu jn 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0
0-0) Kansas City (Gobble 6-8) at Seattle (R.Fran- klin 3-13) Minnesota (Silva 10-8) at Anaheim (Esco- bar 8-9) Tampa Bay (Kazmir 1-0) at Oakland (Mul-	Bedard L5-9 5 ⁵ / ₂ 7 6 5 4 3 Williams 1 ² / ₂ 2 0 0 0 1 Grimsley 1 0 0 0 1 0	N.T. Mets 9, LOS Angeles 2 Avisons 4 Cincinnati 2, 11 Innings	Totals 36 812 8 Totals St. Louis 35 510 4 Pittsburgh DP-St. Louis 2, Pittsburgh 200 020 100-5 DP-St. Louis 2, Pittsburgh 2, LOB-St. Louis 4, Pittsburgh 7, 2-Roller (9), Kendail (23), JWilson (23), SB-Walker (4), HR-Edmonds 2 (35), CWilson (25), SF-Edmonds. PH RER 88 50 St. Louis PH RER 88 50 ST. L	Marlins 3, Rockies 0
bar 8-9) Tampa Bay (Kazmir 1-0) at Oakland (Mul- der 16-4) Monday's games Philadelphia at Chicago White Sox Detroit at Kansas City	Texas Wasdin W,2-2 6 4 2 2 2 4 Wasdin W,2-2 6 1 0 0 1 2 Bishouse 11/2 1 0 0 1 2 Almanzar 2/2 3 2 2 1 0 FCordero S,40 1 2 0 0 0 1 WP—Bedard 2. T—3:09. A—29,409 (49,115).	Articola 4, colorado 0 Atlanta 5, San Francisco 3 Saturday's games Los Angeles at N.Y. Mets San Francisco at Atlanta St. Louis at Pittsburgh Houston at Chicago Cubs	Suppan W,13-6 6 ¹ / ₂ 9 5 5 1 2 King ² / ₂ 0 0 0 0 0	COLORADO FLORIDA ab r h bi Milles 2b 4 0 0 0 Pierre cf 4 0 1 0 Clayton ss 4 0 1 0 L Duca c 3 0 0 0 Helton 1b 3 0 2 0 Cherera lf 4 0 2 0
Friday		Houston at Chicago Cubs Colorado at Florida San Diego at Montreal Milwaukee at Philadelphia		Miles 2b 4 0 0 0 Pierre cf 20 1 0 0 Pierre cf 20 1 0 0 Pierre cf 20 1 Pierre cf
Red Sox 5, Tigers 3 DETROIT Infante 2h 4 1 1 bi Damon cf 5 1 1 0	Mariners 7, Royals 5 KANSAS CITY abrhbi abrhbi	St. Louis at Pittsburgh Houston at Chicago Cubs San Diego at Montreal Milwaukee at Philadelphia Arizona at Cincinnati San Diego (D.Wells 8-7) at Montreal (Kim 3-4). Anneles (Jebil 2-3) at N. Mets (Ben. 1).	Isrnghs S.37 1 1 0 0 0 1 Pittsburgh 1 8 6 6 0 1 Vogelsong L.4-11 4 8 6 6 6 0 1 Grabbow 1 1 1 1 1 0 Brooks 1 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 HBP-by Isringhausen (Kendall), by Suppan (Kendall), by Suppan (CWIIson), by Vogelsong (Puljols), T-2-245, 2-7,475 (38,96).	Hrkala p 0 0 0 0 Valdez p 2 0 0 0
Higgman 4 0 0 8 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	Diesis G 1 3 1 Sizuli 1 3 1 5 1 5 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	500 19-10 . Sections (Manación 2-4) at Cincinnati (Vian- Actions) (Manación 2-4) at Cincinnati (Vian- Si. Loise (Marquis 12-4) at Pittsburgel- pita (Lisin 7-2) . Milwasikere (Desmueller 4-6) at Pittsburgel- pita (Lisin 7-2) . Milwasikere (Desmueller 4-6) at Chicago - Loise (Cintero 1-15-5) at Fiorla (A. Jaur- nett 4-6) . Seap Francisco (WFrankin 2-1) at Atlanta (Seap Frankin 2-1) at Atlanta (Seap Frankin 2-1) at Atlanta (Seap Frankin 2-1) at		Chron C 20 0 0 LCSHID 25 4 0 21 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1
Boston DLowe W.12-10 8 7 3 3 0 7	Seattle Meche 6 6 4 4 2 4	Astros 15, Cubs 7 HOUSTON abrhbi Biogio If 5210 CPttson cf 3100	Milwaukee 000 000 001-1	Braves 5, Giants 3 SAN FRANCISCO ATLANTA
D. Oxew W. 12-10 8, 7 7 3 3 0 7 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1 1	Achien 1 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	1 10 10 10 10 10 10 10	Palladephala	December

Gordon bags his sixth Nextel Cup pole of season

The Associated Press

BRISTOL, Tenn. — Jeff Gordon counted out his five victories this season, and then his five poles. It was an hour before qualifying, and Gordon set a goal for himself.

"I think I want to make it six and six this weekend," he said. Gordon took the first step Friday, winning the pole for the Sharpie 500 at Bristol Motor Speedway with a speed of 128.520

It was the 52nd pole of his career, a series-best sixth this season, and put him in perfect contention for his sixth Bristol victory.

tion for his sixth Bristol victory.

His last victory here came in 2002, when he snapped a 31-race draught. Gordon celebrated that victory as if it was the first of his career.

"That was really spectacular for me," Gordon said. "It's a place that just surviving is one thing and to win is amazing. I love this track. It reminds me of the short-track days, and I love put ting these big heavy cars on it."

Gordon has proven to be a master at Bristol — at least when it comes to qualifying. The Chevrolet has started on the pole the past three night races and has been on the front row the past six events.

ne iront row the past six events.

Rookie Kasey Kahne, who qualified second in a Dodge at 127.410 mph, knows getting around Gordon on race night won't be easy.

"He has a knack for this place," Kahne said. "He is always very good at this place, and I think Jeff Gordon is just an excellent driver here.

"But I have an awesome car, and if it's that awesome in the race, I'll have a shot at it."

Tennessee native Sterling Marlin qualified third in a Dodge, his best starting position on his home track since 1997. But Marlin, who has never been to Bristol's Victory Lane and hasn't won at all since 2002, is more interested in his finishing position.

"It's one of my favorite tracks and hopefully we can get one of them big 'ol Bristol trophies," Marlin said. "Like I said, it's my home state and it's really important to do well here."

Ryan Newman and Jamie Mc-Murray qualified fourth and fifth in Dodges and Tony Stewart was sixth in a Chevrolet. Mark Martin, Elliott Sadler, Jeremy Mayfield and Greg Biffle rounded out the top 10.

Jimmie Johnson, who lost the lead in the driver standings last week to Gordon after his third-straight DNF, qualified IIH. He wrecked his Chevrolet in the second practice session and his team was taking out the back-up car to prepare. If he uses it, he'll have to go to the back of the field for the start of the race.

Nine-time Bristol winner Rusty Wallace, who is expected to announce Monday that 2005 will be his last season, was 13th.

Kurt Busch, winner of the past three Bristol races, qualified 24th. Earnhardt wins Busch rac

BRISTOL, Tenn. — Dale Earnhardt Jr. outlasted a season-high 13 cautions — and overtime — to beat Matt Kenseth in a green-white-checkered flag finish Friday night at Bristol Motor Speedway.

Earnhardt, who started from the pole, led a race-high 125 laps, but several late cautions bunched the field and gave the competitors a chance to run him down in the Food City 250.

He had a terrific restart with nine laps to go, easily pulling away from Kevin Harvick. Kenseth pushed past Harvick and was reeling in Earnhardt when the 13th caution flag came out for a wreck involving Tony Raines and Jay Sauter.

It set up the first green-white-checkered flag finish of the Busch series, and Earnhardt once again got a jump to pull away from Kenseth and ride on to his second Busch series victory in four starts this season.

"I was worried because I got a lot of stuff on the tires," Earnhardt said. "But Matt did a good job. He could have run all over me. The last lap I was chugging through corners, just trying to keep it on the bottom.

"He laid off of me. It was a good race, a good win."

Castroneves takes IRL pole

NAZARETH, Pa. — Helio Castroneves put himself in the best position to win the 100th IRL race by taking the pole Saturday for the final event at Nazareth Speedway. Now. the defending race champion hopes to present car owner Roger Penske with a victory Sunday in the Firestone Indy 225. Penske built the track in 1986 and later merged his racing facilities with those of International Speedway Corp. ISC said in May the mile oval would close after this season. Castroneves posted a fast lan of 167.396 mph. He will be joined in the front row by teammate Sar Hornish Jr., who went 167 100

Hornish Jr., who went 167.100.
Qualifying third was points leader Tony Kanaan, far off the pace at 166.591. Kanaan's Andretti Green Racing teammate Dario Franchitti, the winner last Sunday at Pikes Peak, was next at 165.684.

Bourdais adds to CART lead

MONTREAL — Coming off what he considers the best drive of his career, Sebastien Bourdais added to his huge lead in the Champ Car World Series on Friday, grabbing one point for taking the provisional pole for the Montreal Molson Indy.

"I don't think we really have any weaknesses right now," the young Frenchman said after driving his Newman/Haas Racing Lola to a lap speed of 119.376 mph on the 2.709-mile Circuit Gilles Villeneuve track.

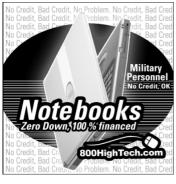

Bourdais has won five poles and five races in nine events this season, building his margin over teammate Bruno Junqueira in the driver standings to 57 points. The provisional pole also guaranteed Bourdais his eighth front-row start of the season, no matter what happens in final qualifying on Saturday.

Alex Tagliani, who led 52 of the first 57 laps here last year, was a strong second on Friday at 119.236 mph, followed by Mario Dominguez at 118.851 mph.

Trulli edges Schumacher for Formula One pole

SPA-FRANCORCHAMPS, Belgium — Jamo Trulli nipped Michael Schumacher on Saturday to take the pole for the Belgian Grand Prix, hoping to repeat his triumph of three months ago at Monaco, where the Renault driver also claimed the pole en route to his first Formula One victory.

Schumacher only has to finish two points ahead of Ferrari teammate Rubens Barrichello in Sunday's race to capture an unprecedented seventh driving title.

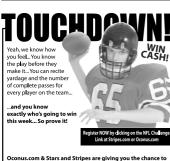

www.MILITARYCRAFT.COM

BDUs & Clothing ALICE & LC1 Gear PT Wear

Travel Goods & Luggage Boots & Footwear

Worldwide Delivery to Army, Air & Fleet PO Box win cash prizes for choosing the winning games in the 2004 NFL

OCONUS

Contest starts September 6
Stay with Stars and Stripes for more details! the start of the contest on September 6, 200

fficial rules of play will be announced at the start of the contest on September 6, 2004 within Stars and Stripes and on www.stripes.com There is no cost to play, certain rules and restrictions apply.

Manning struggles against Jets' aggressive defense in 17-10 loss

BY BARRY WILNER The Associated Press

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — Eli Manning got his first dose of real NFL defensive schemes and it had to taste awful.

The top choice in the NFL Draft in April, the New York Giants quarterback struggled against the New York Jets in a 17-10 loss Friday night. It was the Jets' ninth successive victory in the annual exhibition series.

Usually, exhibition games feature vanilla defenses but the Jets threw all kinds of defensive looks at the Giants, from both 4.3 and 3-4 alignments, with frequent safety biltzes and a mix of coverages. While Giants starting quarterback Kurt Warner handled them decently and led his team to a first-quarter touchdown on Ron Dayne's 9-yard run, Manning seemed befuddled. "I never got in a groove," Manning said. "I made bad decisions, I made mental mistakes. I've got to learn from this and get better."

Manning's first pass was intercepted by Donnie Abraham, who jumped in front of the rookie's intended receiver. Abraham left the game after bruising his knee.

"The first play, the flat wasn't open, I tried to force it in. I should have thrown the ball away," he said.

Maming also had a pass intercepted by Reggie Tongue in the third quarter, missed badly on several other passes and never looked comfortable in going 4-for-14 for 20 yards with two inthered to the passes and two inparters, but wasn't much better against the Jets' backups. His performance could cost him in the Giants' QB derby, because Warner was nine of 11 for 104 yards. The Jets had five sacks, including John Abraham's in the second quarter on which Manning fumbled. After a scramble for the ball, safety Omare Lowe picked it up and ran it in for a 27-yard touchdown and a 17-7 lead.

Earlier, Warner guided the Giants from their 30 to the Jets 14, but Tim Carter fumbled at the 6. Then Toby Gowin's short punt set up Dayne's fourth TD of the preseason.

Doug Brien's 23-yard field goal got the Jets going, and Curtis Martin, getting extended action in an exhibition game for the first time in several years, sparked an 80-yard drive. Martin had gains of 11 and 10 yards before Cha-Pennington found Matt Dominguez on a crossing pattern for a 15-ward score and a 10-7 lead.

Pennington was 6-for-16 for 52 yards.

Long weekend for attorneys in Bryant sexual assault case

Questionnaires for prospective jurors under review

BY JON SARCHE The Associated Press

EAGLE, Colo. — Attorneys in Kobe Bryant's sexual assault case are spending the weekend scrutinizing 300 questionnaires filled out by prospective jurors, the first step in seating a panel that will decide whether the NBA star is guilty of rape.

The questionnaires were filled out by Eagle County residents who arrived Friday at the courthouse in waves so they did not disrupt other business in the building

Many shielded their faces from cameras while others smiled and waved at reporters and photographers. Members of the media are under a court order to stay away from the jury candidates and not to take their nictures.

Bryant was not at the courthouse. Jury selection will probably take most of next week. Opening statements are not expected until Sept. 7.

Bryant has pleaded not guilty to felony sexual assault, saying he had consensual sex with a then-19-year-old employee of the Vail-area resort where he stayed last summer. If convicted, the Los Angeles Lakers' star faces four years to life on probation, and a fine up to $750.000.

The county issued 999 jury summonses, the biggest jury call in its history. About 165 could not be delivered, and about 150 people were excused primarily because they are no longer county residents or U.S. citizens

The prospective jurors filled out 82-item questionnaires that defense attorneys, prosecutors and their consultants have agonized over for weeks and will remain sealed until at least next week.

The questions include, according to a report by KCNC-TV, whether jurors follow professional basketball, their feelings on interracial relationships and if they think rich people are treated better by the courts.

State courts spokeswoman Karen Salaz declined to release the questionnaire, which is expected to be made public Monday. She said the questions obtained by the television station were not the final version given to potential jurors.

Attorneys in the case will scrutinize the answers during the weekend, developing lists of potential jurors they want eliminated and those they want to talk to.

"They are gearing up for a very, very long couple of days," said Richard Gabriel, a Los Angeles-based jury consultant with Decision Analysis.

At least in the early stages, attorneys will focus on who to eliminate from the pool, he said.

"Jury selection is really jury de-selection; eliminating those people you feel would be most armful to your case," Gabriel

Attorneys are expected to begin closed-door questioning of individuals Monday, starting with 25 to 30 prospective jurors. The same number will return Tuesday and more might be scheduled Wednesday, depending on progress, Salaz said.

Attorneys for news organizations, including The Associated Press, have asked the judge to open much of the questioning, and a hearing on the request is scheduled Monday.

Media attorneys are also asking the judge to unseal statements Bryant made to investigators who interviewed him the night after the alleged attack. Defense attorneys oppose the request, saying the evidence could hurt Bryant's right to a fair trial.

Also on Friday, another filing was released that stated Bryant's accuser is entitled to remain anonymous in her civil case against the star because of her privacy rights and past threats made against her. News organizations had objected to efforts by the woman's lawyers to seal details in the lawsuit.

The attorneys said they agreed many details in the civil case could be released — as long as the woman's name remains secret.

Most media organizations have not reported her name. It has appeared online and twice been published accidentally on a state courts Web site.

Peter Jacob rookie on the Champions Tour, is in prime position to win his second senior major of 2004 He shot a secondround 66 on Friday in his home state of

Funk, Johnson lead Buick Championship

The Associated Press

CROMWELL, Conn. — Fred Funk and tour rookie Zach Johnson played nearly flawless golf Friday to share a one-stroke lead in the Buick Championship after two rounds.

Johnson shot a 5-under 65 and Funk had a 66 to move to 8-under-par (132) for the tournament, one better than Hank Kuhine (65). First-round leader Corey Pavin and Jose Coceres are two strokes back. A group of six golfers are three strokes behind the leaders.

Johnson, the Nationwide Tour player of the year in 2003, won the BellSouth Classic in March for his first PGA Tour title. The rookie hit all 14 fairways and had seven one-putts Friday. After two days, he's been the most accurate driver in the tournament, hitting 27 of 28 fairways.

2/ of 28 farrways.

He began the day five strokes off the lead, but finished with six birdies to tie Funk. It was his first appearance at the TPC at River

Highlands

"I like every hole to be honest with you," Johnson said. "It's got everything. This golf course can suit anybody's game. You've got Hank Kuehne, who's playing well, and you've got Fred (Funk) who doesn't hit it very far, but he gets it out there."

Funk, typically the most accurate driver on tour, treated the gallery to crisp shotmaking Friday. The only green he missed was his last one, and that cost him sole possession of the lead. Still, he made three birdies on the last five holes.

He was 9-under par heading into the final hole when he was faced with a tricky lie on a fairway mogul. He pushed his approach into the deep rough to the right of the green and failed to get up and down, carding his only bogey in two days.

Jimenez, Levet pace BMW field

NORD EICHENRIED, Germany—France's Thomas Levet shot a 9-under-63 Saturday to miss the course record by one stroke and share the lead with Miguel Angel Jimenez in the BMW International Open after three rounds, as the fight for final half-dozen spots on the European Ryder Cup team headed into the final day.

Spain's Jimenez shot 67 as he and Levet moved to 15-under-par 201, two strokes ahead of U.S. Open champion Retief Goosen (68) and Austria's Markus Brier.

Jacobsen leads final senior major of the year

ALOHA, Ore. — Peter Jacobsen, who won the U.S. Senior Open earlier this month, shot a 6-under 66 in the Tradition and was at 9-under, one stroke ahead of Bruce Lietzke after two rounds of the Champions Tour's last major of the vear.

First-round leaders Vicente Fernandez and Jose Maria Canizares were among five players at 6-under. Bruce Summerhays, also a co-leader Thursday, shot 72 and trailed by four.

McGill ahead in Wachovia

KUTZTOWN, Pa. — Jill McGill shot an 8-under-par 64 to take a three-stroke lead after two rounds of the Wachovia LPGA Classic.

of the wachovia LPGA Classic.
Soo-Yun Kang (66) and Suzann
Pettersen (63) were three strokes back, while first round co-leaders
Hilary Lunke (69) and Laura Diaz (69) are tied with Lorena
Ochoa (68) five behind McGill

Ex-CU recruiting aide has court date

The Associated Press

BOULDER, Colo. — A former University of Colorado football recruiting assistant accused of soliciting a prostitute is scheduled to appear in Boulder County Court Tuesday.

Nathan Maxcey, 28, was the only person indicted after a state grand jury ended its investigation earlier this month into allegations that the CU football program used sex and alcohol to entice promising recruits.

Maxcey, who now lives in Texas, surrendered to Boulder County authorities Thursday and was released on $5,000 bond that prohibits him from leaving the state. Deputy District Attorney Pete Maguire said Maxcey has a court hearing Tuesday to ask

He is scheduled to enter a plea Sept. 9.

permission to return to Texas

Maxcey is charged with misdemeanor solicitation for prostitution and two felonies: embezzlement of public property and theft, both related to allegations he used a school cell phone to call a dating chat line. Attorney General Ken Salazar asked the grand jury to investigate allegations about the football program. He said last week other matters relating to the investigation were still pending, but didn't elaborate.

Bovina, Dechy in Pilot Pen finals

NEW HAVEN, Conn. — Nathalie Dechy advanced to the final of the Pilot Pen tournament, using quick, accurate play to beat Lisa Raymond 6-4, 6-0 Friday.

The eighth-seeded Dechy will face doubles partner and seventh-seeded Elena Bovina in Saturday's championship match. Each has won a match against the other this year.

Also Saturday, Martina Navratilova will go for her 175th doubles title with partner Lisa Raymond, after defeating Cara Black of Zimbabwe and Rennae Stubbs of Australia 7-6 (4), 6-4. They will play Nadia Petrova and Meghann Shaughnessy.

Bovina used her big serve to overpower fellow Russian Elena Dementieva 6-1, 6-1.

Messages of Support

This message comes with a TON of LOVE & prayer for ROBBIE. Robbie we love you!! You and your troops as well as all Military forces are in our prayers and the prayers of friends and co-workers as well! We are all well! A care package on it's way to you!! God Bless you honey, our love always, morn and Alisha!!

To Tony C. and all our troops: Our thoughts and prayers are with you. You are the real heroes of Americal We support you all the way! Tony, we love and miss you and await your return home. Loved, Dad & Rose in Florida

2004 ATHENS OLYMPICS

Women: United States has become power in Games since 1992 bronze

"This is incredible," said Staley, who played in her third and final Olympics. "I have to share this with so many people — people in the United States and Spain, people who come from humble beginnings. This gold medal is for them."

Staley, Lisa Leslie and Sheryl Swoopes will leave Athens on Sunday with their third gold medals, and that seems fitting

They have led the resurgence in U.S. women's basketball internationally after disappointing bronze medal finishes in the 1992 Olympics and 1994 world championships. They gave their time to training and travel and were joined by other players similarly committed.

The result: 25 straight victories in the Olympics, three Olympic golds and two world championships.

"We had an ultimate goal and that was to win the gold medal," Tina Thompson said.

"And we did it". "And we did it.

Thompson led the United States with 18 points, including a clutch three-pointer in the fourth quarter. Staley, usually a passer instead of scorer, came up big with 14 points. Leslie scored 13 and Shannon Johnson had 12, including eight in a short stretch when the United States started to pull away after trailing by four.

"We held our poise like the veterans al-ways do," said Taurasi, who was selected for the team after leading Connecticut to its third straight NCAA championship. "This is just the greatest. I wouldn't trade it for the world.

It certainly didn't hurt the Americans that Australian star Lauren Jackson had a miserable game. Jackson, leading the Olympics with a 24.4 scoring average, shot 4-for-16 and managed just 12 points.

Coach Jan Stirling said Jackson was bothered by an intestinal virus. Jackson, the WNBA's leading scorer, said that wasn't so. "I was fine," she said. "It was just pregame nerves, nothing really. I have no regrets. We left everything on the court. Penny Taylor gave the United States problems with her aggressive drives to the basket and led Australia with 16 points. But she was ineffective after getting her third and fourth fouls 20 seconds apart in the final minute of the third quarter That was when the United States made

With her team trailing 49-45, Taurasi sank a three-pointer to cut the lead to one. Johnson tied it at 50 with two free throws and then, with time about to expire at the end of the third quarter, she drove into the lane and banked in a turnaround shot to make it 52-50

The game was a long way from being over, but the United States led the rest of the way. A driving shot and two free throws by Johnson helped build the lead, and then Thompson stepped up, hitting a three from the right wing after Australia had closed to 63-57

Thompson somehow kept her concentration with teammate Tamika Catchings sprawled on the floor at her feet.

Lisa Leslie and Dawn Stalev (5) celebrate the United States' 74-63 victory against Australia on Saturday in Athens, Greece.

Then, almost as if it were scripted, it was Staley who provided the finishing touches. In the final 1:37, she made two free throws, drove the lane and scooped in an underhanded layup. She then made two final free throws as the American fans waved flags and chanted "U-S-A, U-S-A."

This was a team that had said anything other than a gold medal in these Olympics would be failure

This team didn't let it get away.

Men: U.S. ends on a winning note

MEN. FROM BACK PAGE

Strange stuff, but not quite as weird as the Americans dropping three games after they had lost only two in the previous 68

Wearing red after their replacement uniforms arrived before Lithuania's, the Americans opened an early 22-13 lead and created fast-break opportunities with their pressure defense. But Lithuania answered with three consecutive three-pointers one of which became a four-point play to take a 23-22 lead.

Tim Duncan stared at the referees in disbelief after his first foul - as he has after almost every call against him during the tournament. When he was whistled for another moments later on what appeared to be a good call, he stood along the lane with his back to the basket and the referee while a Lithuanian player took his two free

Duncan stayed on the bench for the entire second quarter, which ended with the Americans ahead 49-44 after forcing 13 turnovers and making eight steals.

Lithuania started hitting three-nointers and opened a 65-58 lead in the third quarter before the United States came back with an 8-0 run. Duncan went to the bench with his fourth foul with 2:02 remaining in the third quarter and the score tied at 67, and the Americans led 83-82 when he returned with 6:08 left.

A pair of three-pointers by Marion and Odom came during a 9-3 run that put the U.S. up for good, and it held Lithuania to seven points in the final three minutes.

Attention Active Duty Military!

Earn Your Bachelor or MBA in Business Administration ONLINE at NO TUITION COST TO YOU!

Earn your Bachelor or MBA in Business Administration at NO TUITION COST TO YOU for up to 28 credits per year!

Earn your credits around TDY's and Deployments

Special MBA in Military Management for Graduates of ACSC, CGSC, CNCS, or MCCSC.

- · Programs that meet your schedule needs
- BSBA and MBA
- · Special rates for military spouses
- · All courses ONLINE!

NO TUITION COST TO YOU!

TOURO UNIVERSITY INTERNATIONAL www.tourou.edu

5665 Plaza Dr., Third Floor, Cypress, CA 90630 800-579-3161 • 714-816-0366 • 714-816-0367 Fax

College of Business Administration e-mail: infocba@tourou.edu For inquiries log on to: http://inquiry.tourou.edu

Now Accepting Applications for the Fall 2004 Session.

2004 ATHENS OLYMPICS

Sloppy handoff dooms U.S. men Ward is last

Greene can't close gap as Britain takes gold with 400 relay upset

BY ROB GLOSTER The Associated Press

ATHENS, Greece - Maurice Greene took the baton and accelerated toward the finish. He quickly shook a Nigerian and started reeling in Britain's Mark

Lewis-Francis. But even the self-proclaimed greatest sprinter of all time could not make up for a sloppy handoff earlier in the race Saturday, and the Americans were forced to settle for silver by an excruciating hundredth of a second.

Lewis-Francis crossed the finish line and turned to yell in Greene's direction. The mighty men of U.S. sprinting, who had dominated these Olympics with five of the six medals in the 100 and 200, had lost the relay for only the fifth time in Olympic history

One night earlier, a bad handoff from Marion Jones to 100 silver medalist Lauryn Williams knocked the heavily favored U.S. women out of their 400 relay. With the men's second-place finish, this is the first non-boycotted Olympics in which Americans failed to win gold in at least one of the 400 relays

In Saturday's race, a sloppy baton pass from 100-meter winner Justin Gatlin to Coby Miller in the middle of the race left Greene too much ground to make up.

"Because of the crowd noise I couldn't hear Gatlin call 'stick,' " Miller said. "So I slowed down, because if I had run out of my pass zone we wouldn't have won a medal at all.

Earlier Saturday night, Hicham El Guerroui became the first man in 80 years to win the 1.500 and 5.000 meters in one Olympics, holding up two fingers in triumph after outsprinting the world record holder down the final straightaway of the

El Guerroui, who won the 1,500 on Tuesday, was the second runner within a half-hour to pull off a rare middle-distance double. Briton Kelly Holmes won the 1,500 just before El Guerrouj's race, adding to the 800 title she won on Monday

Despite victories in the men's and women's 1,600-meter relays, it was another dis appointing night on the track for an American team that came to Athens expecting a sweep of the four relays.

The United States' Amy Acuff clears the bar during the women's high jump final at the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens on Saturday. Acuff finished fourth in the event.

gold in both Instead, they took 1,600-meter relays. Breaux Greer, who had hoped to become the first American to win the javelin since Cyrus Young in 1952, finished last of the 12th finalists with a best throw of 243 feet 11 inches — nearly 43 feet off his personal best. Greer was competing despite a torn knee ligament that required him to wear a plastic brace on his right leg.

The U.S. team ended up with 24 track and field medals, the most since 30 in 1992 The men had 18 of those - also the best showing by Americans since 1992 - but the women's six medals were the fewest since three in 1976.

In the men's relay, Greene took the baton in second place. With a burst of speed in the final 30 meters, he made up some of the gap behind Lewis-Francis — but just failed to catch him. The British won in 38.07 seconds, and the Americans won silver in 38.08 - after saying for days they would smash the world record of 37.40. Nigeria took bronze.

The United States has won the men's relay 15 of the 20 times it has been run, not including the boycotted 1980 Moscow Games. But the Americans have failed to win the relay in three of the last five Olym-

El Guerrouj, a Moroccan, passed

Kenenisa Bekele of Ethiopia with about 50 meters left and finished in 13 minutes, 14.39 seconds, smiling and extending his arms in triumph as he crossed the finish line. He kissed his hands and his right knee before touching his head to the track in

Then he took off his new shoes and ran a victory lap in bare but bandaged feet. He had worn shoes that were too small during qualifying.

Bekele, who was trying to become the first man in 24 years to win the 5,000 and 10,000 in an Olympics, finished second in 13:14.59. Eliud Kipchoge of Kenya, who led until the final lap, won bronze in 13:15.10.

The only other man to win the 1,500 and 5,000 in an Olympics was Paavo Nurmi in Holmes broke free of the pack in the final 100 meters to capture gold in the 1,500 in 3:57.90. The 34-year-old former army sergeant became the third woman in Olympic history to win both events in one games, joining Svetlana Masterkova in 1996 and Tatyana Kazankina in 1976.

Other winners Saturday, the last night of track and field action at Olympic Stadium, included a pair of Russians. Yuriy Borzakovskiy rallied from fourth place on the final straightaway to win the men's 800 meters and Yelena Slesarenko set an Olympic record of 6 feet, 9 inches to win gold in the women's high jump.

U.S. boxer left standing

BY GREG BEACHAM The Associated Press

ATHENS, Greece - Andre Ward refused to look at the thousands of Greek fans jeering his latest victory. During his walk from the ring to the dressing room, the light heavyweight kept his eyes trained on his small band of friends and family in one corner of the stands.

Ward pointed at his crew, then flexed his biceps. The United States' only remaining gold medal hope is focused on one more victory that will make all the abuse worth-

Ward heat Uzbekistan's Utkirbek Havdarov 17-15 Friday night, becoming the final American with a chance at gold in the team's worst Olympic showing in 56 years. The Oakland, Calif., native will meet Belarus' Magomed Aripgadjiev on Sunday for a chance to win the USA's first gold in his weight class since Andrew Maynard in Seoul in 1988

"It would mean everything to me," Ward said. "That's what I've been training for all my life. I really believe deep down inside I'm going to get this gold medal, and that's not being boastful."

Earlier, American middleweight Andre Dirrell was beaten 23-18 by world champi-on Gennadiy Golovkin of Kazakhstan. Dirrell will head home to Flint, Mich., with a bronze — but Ward earned one more fight the hard way.

Ward hasn't lost a bout in six years, but that streak was in peril for much of his four-round shove-a-thon against Hay-darov, who cleverly neutralized Ward's hand speed by crowding the American and throwing wild blows. Haydarov led for much of the bout, and Ward only triumphed with a series of late punches, scoring two points in the final 17 seconds.

The fans booed Ward constantly, and the announcement of the verdict drew more catcalls

"I like it It motivates me" he said "I feel like they're not showing my country much respect, and I take that personally. They're also not showing me any respect. and I take that personally, too.

On Saturday, Gaydarbek Gaydarbekov of Russia won the middleweight gold medal, beating Golovkin 28-18. Other gold-medal winners Saturday included Yuriorkis Gamboa Toledano of Cuba (flyweight), Alexei Tichtchenko of Russia (featherweight), Manus Booniumnong of Thailand (light middleweight) and Odlanier Solis Fonte of Cuba (heavyweight).

Demonstrations prompt Powell to cancel Athens visit

The Associated Pres.

WASHINGTON - Secretary of State Colin Powell canceled his trip to Greece at the last minute partly because of concern his presence - expected to be met with anti-war protests — might have disrupted the closing ceremony at the Olympics, State Department officials said Saturday.

Powell's decision, announced just hours before he was to depart, came after anti-American protests in Athens on Friday that featured "Powell Go Home" placards.

The secretary was not concerned about his own security but felt Greek organizers were entitled to carry out the Sunday night ceremony without the potential for distraction that his presence might have caused, said two State Department officials, speaking on condition of anonymity

Many Greeks had wondered why Powell planned to visit this weekend, knowing his presence would likely provoke protests. Until Powell announced his visit, there had been none of the anti-American demonstrations that were feared in the run-up to the

He discussed the situation on Friday with Greek Foreign Minister Petros Moliviatis. Powell said he hopes to travel to Athens in Octoher

Olympic briefs

Friday's protest was directed largely against U.S. policies in Iraq. Greece, along with about 10 other members of NATO, is not a part of the U.S.-led coalition in Riot police used tear gas to disperse hundreds of demonstrators protesting Powell's planned visit.

Hungarian weightlifter stripped of silver medal

ATHENS, Greece - Hungarian weightlifter Ferenc Gyurkovics was stripped of his silver pics on Saturday for using steroids. Puerto Rican wrestler Mabel Fonseca was also expelled for a positive drug test.

Gyurkovics used oxandrolone, the International Olympic Committee said. He competed in the 105-kilogram (231-pound) class and set an Olympic record by lifting 195 kilograms (429 pounds) in the snatch on Tuesday, but finished second to Dmitri Berestov of Russia in the overall totals.

The IOC announcement extends to 22 the record number of athletes busted for doping in Athens. The previous record was 12 at the Los Angeles Olympics. Five golds, two bronzes and one silver. Gyurkovics is the fourth Hungarian kicked out, and the 12th veightlifter.

Taekwondo athlete released from hospital

ATHENS, Greece - An athlete from the Central African Republic was released from the hospital Saturday, one day after he was briefly being knocked unconscious in an Olympic taekwondo

Liango was released from Kat hospital in Athens on Saturday afternoon, the Greek health minis-try said. He sustained a concus-

2004 ATHENS OLYMPICS

Sanderson wraps up gold

The Associated Press

ATHENS, Greece - Cael Sanderson of the United States won the gold medal Saturday in men's 185-pound (84 kg) freestyle wresbeating Moon Eui-jae of South Korea, 3-1. Sazhid Sazhidov of Russia won the bronze. Sanderson was the most successful college wrestler ever Olympics medal roundup while 159₀0 at Iowa State The won two other medals in wrestling

Saturday.

Jamill Kelly took the silver medal in the 1451/2-pound (66 kg). losing 5-1 to Elbrus Tedevey of Ukraine in the final, Makhach Murtazaliev of Russia won the bronze Stenhen Abas also earned a silver, falling 9-1 against Maylet Batirov of Russia 121-pound (55 kg) final in the

Chikara Tanabe on Japan won

Taekwondo

Men's 80kg: American Steven Lopez had to overcome a hostile crowd and Bahri Tanrikulu of Turkey to win a gold medal, the second title of his Olympic ca-

Lopez backed Tanrikulu into a corner and kicked him in the gut to take the lead for good in the second of three rounds in the final. He went on to win 3-0.

The Sugar Land, Texas, native also won gold in the 2000 Olympics in the 150-pound (68 kg) division. He has since moved up in weight classes and had no trouble making the adjustment winning the 2003 world championship and rolling through the competition at the Athens Games.

Yossef Karami of Iran took the Lopez had to deal with tough crowds throughout the tourna-

When he faced Raid Rasheed of Iraq in the first round, the crowd repeatedly booed Lopez and chanted "Iraq!" throughout his 12-0 win Women's 67-kilogram:

Wei of China beat Elisavet Mystakidou of Greece, disappointing the raucous home crowd. Hwang Kyung-sun of South Korea took the bronze

Lonez had to deal with tough crowds throughout the tourna-

When he faced Raid Rasheed of Iraq in the first round, the crowd repeatedly booed Lopez and chanted "Iraq!" throughout his 12-0 win.

"I think that was expected." Lopez said. "Too bad you can't keep politics outside of the Olym-

Soccer

Men: Argentina won its first Olympic gold medal in the sport, beating Paraguay 1-0 on Carlos Tevez's eighth goal of the tourna-

Despite the loss, Paraguay captured its first medal in any sport. Italy won the bronze Friday, beat-

American Steven Lopez, top, competes against Iraq's Raid Rasheed in the under 80kg quarterfinal taekwondo match Saturday. Lopez defeated Rasheed and went on to win the gold medal.

In a game the Argentines controlled from the beginning, Mauro Rosales helped set up the winning goal in the 18th minute with a cross from the right side. Tevez ran between Paraguay de fenders Julio Manzur and Carlos Gamarra and shot the ball into the net from about 20 feet out.

Women's 500m kavak doubles: Birgit Fischer settled for silver, leaving the 42-year-old Olympian with two medals in two days. The two-woman crew from Hungary overtook Fischer and her German partner in the second half of the 500-meter kayak race, ending her quest for a ninth gold medal. Natasa Janics and Katalin Kovacs won the gold. Poland got

Women's 500 kayak singles: Janics beat Josefa Idem of Italy. who finished second, and Caro line Brunet of Canada, who finished third

Men's 500m canoe: Germany's Andreas Dittmer beat Spaniard David Cal by .34 seconds to win the 500-meter canoe event, while Russia's Maxim Opaley took bronze.

Men's kayak singles 500: Canadian single kayaker Adam yan Koeverden took his second medal of the game - this one a gold in the 500-meter final. He beat Australia's Nathan Baggaley by .55 seconds, with Britain's Ian Wynne taking bronze.

Pairs 500 kayak:Germany's Ronald Rauhe and Tim Wieskoetter won handily. Australia ended up with the silver, .07 seconds ahead of Belarus, which took the hronze

Cycling

Men's mountain bike: Julien Absalon, whose focus had been on Athens since failing to make France's Olympic team four years ago, pulled away in the second half of the mountain bike race and eased to victory in 2 hours, 15 minutes, 2 seconds Jose Antonio Hermida of Spain finished second, exactly a minute behind Absalon. Bart Brentjens of the Netherlands, the world's top-ranked rider and 1996 Olympic champion, took the bronze

Sailing

Tornado class: Roman Hagara and Hans Peter Steinacher of Austria won the gold medal. John Lovell and Charlie Ogeltree of the United States won the silver. San tiago Lange and Carlos Espinola of Argentina got the bronze Star class: Ross MacDonald and Mike Wolfs of Canada won the silver medal while Xavier Rohart and Pascal Rambeau of France got the bronze. Torben Grael and Marcelo Ferreira of Brazil clinched the gold on Thursday with one race remaining.

Gymnastics (rhythmic)

Group: The Russians had to jump through some hoops to win a gold medal — literally The defending Olympic chamons won another gold, scoring 51.100 points to edge Italy and Bulgaria in the colorful smorgasbord of tossing and twirling.

Eight teams of five women vied for the championship Each had two turns on the mat one with five ribbons, the other with three hoops and two balls.

The Russians also won bronze in 1996.

Olympics scoreboard

Saturday's scores BASKETBALL

Men Seventh Place

Gold Medal
United States 74, Australia 63 SOCCER Men Gold Medal

Men Seventh Place Ith Korea 24

Snain 27, China 23 Bronze Meda Ukraine 21, France 18 VOLLEYBALL

Cuba 3. Brazil 1 (25-22, 25-22, 14-25, 25-17)

Sailing Tornado Final ranking

Steinacher) (1, 3, 8, 1, 14, 8, 9, 1, 2, 5, 1), 3-90.

2. United States (John Lovell, New Orleans; Charlie ggeltree, Houston) (2, 2, 1, 6, 9, 9, 6, 7, 1, 2, 10), 45.0.

3. Argentina (Santiago Lange; Carlos Espinola) (7, 1, 6, 5, 6, 11, 5, 8, 4, 3, 9), 54.0. 4. France (Olivier Backes; Laurent Voiron) (4, 12, 11, 2, 5, 4, 11, 5, 5, 8, 2), 57.0. 5. Netherlands (Mitch Booth; Herbert Der-cksen) (11, 5, 10, 4, 4, 3, 1, 10, 6, 7, 17), 61.0. 6. Australia (Darwa Bundesk) John Er-7. Puerto Rico (Enrique Figueroa; Jorge Her andez) (5, 9, 7, 8, 2, 5, 9, 12, 14, 10, 5), 72.0. Name (2) (5, 9, 7, 8, 2, 5, 9, 12, 14, 10, 5), 72.0. 8. Spain (Fernando Echavarri; Anton Paz) (3, 4, 13, 8.8, 18, 6, 2, 6, 7, 13, 12), 74.8. 9. Russia (Andrey Kirilyuk; Valery Ushkov) (15, 13, 5, 10, 3, 1, 7, 11, 3, 17, 8), 76.0. 10. Italy (Francesco Marcolini; Edoardo Bi-anchi) (18, 6, 3, 7, 11, 16, 10, 2, 8, 9, 6), 78.0.

Men's Star Final ranking

2. Canada (Ross Macdonald; Mike Wolfs) 7, 11, 4, 3, 1, 5,2, 8, 14, 8, 2, 2), 51.2. 9, 6, 15, 7, 2, 4, 12, 3, 1, 7), 54.0. (3, 9, 6, 15, 7, 2, 4, 12, 3, 1, 7), 54.0. 4. Switzerland (Flavio Marazzi; Enrico de Maria) (10, 1, 3, 7, 9, 9, 12, 11, 4, 7, 9), 70.0.

3, 6, 1, 15, 6, 8, 16), 71.0. 6. Britain (Iain Percy; Steve Mitchell) (8, 3, 12, 9, 6, 3, 16, 5, 7, 17, 4), 73.0. 7. Italy (Francesco Bruni; Guido Vignar) (13, 5, 9, 4, 16, 12, 3, 8, 2, 5, 14), 75.0. (13, 5, 9, 4, 16, 12, 3, 8, 2, 5, 14), 75, 0.

8. Bermuda (Peter Bromby: Lee White) (17, 16, 8, 11, 12, 10, 6, 4, 1, 3, 11), 82, 0.

9. Denmark (Nicklas Holm; Claus Olesen) (4, 12, 2, 2, 11, 7, 5, 17, 16, 14, 10), 83, 0.

10. Spain (Roberto Bermudez: Pablo Arrarte) (2, 13, 5, 6, 17, 8, 13, 6, 12, 15, 5), 85, 0.

Canoe-Kayak

Men Kayak Singles 500 1. Adam van Koeverden, Canada, 1:37.919.

J. Adam van Kolemetter. Conda, 1:27:819.

Anthan Bagadey, Australia, 1:38:47.

J. San Wynne, Britain, 1:38:47.

J. San Washer, San Washer, er), 1:27.040.

2. Australia (Clint Robinson; Nathan Bagga-ey), 1:27.920.

3. Belarus (Raman Platrushenka; Vadzim Jakhneu), 1:27.996.

wiakineu), 1:27.996.
4. Poland (Marek Twardowski; Adam Wysocki), 1:28.048.
5. Hungary (Zoltan Kammerer; Botond Storcz), 1:29.096.

torcz), 1:29.096. Canoe Doubles 500 1. China (Meng Guanliang; Yang Wenjun),

1:40.276. 2. Cuba (Ibrahim Rojas Blanco; Ledis Frank Balceiro Pajon), 1:40.350. 3. Russia (Alexander Kostoglod; Alexander Kovalev), 1:40.442. Romania (Silviu Simioncencu; Florin Popescu), 1:40.618.

5. Germany (Christian Gille; Tomasz Wylen-zek), 1:40.802.

rek), 1:40.802. Women Kayak Singles 500 1. Natasa Janics, Hungary, 1:47.741. 2. Josefa Idem, Italy, 1:49.729. 3. Caroline Brunet, Canada, 1:50.601. 4. Katrin Wagner, Germany, 1:52.557. 5. Marcela Erbanova, Slovakia, 1:52.685.

Kayak Doubles 500

Hungary (Katalin Kovacs; Natasa Jan., 1:38.101.

4. China (Xu Linbei; Zhong Hongyan), 1:40.913. Spain (Beatriz Manchon; Teresa Portela), 1:42,409.

Taekwondo

Men 80Kg Bronze Medal Karami, Iran, def. Rashad Ahma baijan, 9-8. Gold Medal

Steven Lopez, Sugar Land, Texas, def. ahri Tanrikulu, Turkey, 3-0.

Womer 67Kg Bronze Medal Hwang Kyung Sun, South Korea, def. Heidy Juarez, Guatemala, 5-2.

Luo Wei, China, def. Elisavet Mystakidou,

Wrestling

Men Freestyle

Chikara Tanal Gold Medal

Mavlet Batirov, Russia, def. Stephen Abas, resno, Calif., 9-1.

esno, Calif., 9-1. 66Kg Bronze Medal Makhach Murtazallev, Russia, def. Leonid piridonov, Kazakhstan, 2-1. Gold Medal

Elbrus Tedeyev, Ukraine, def. Jamill Kelly, itillwater, Okla., 5-1.

Bronze Medal dov, Russia, def. Yoel Romero

Sazhid Sazhidov, Palacios, Cuba, 5-3. Gold Medal

Cael Sanderson, Salt Lake City, def. Moon Eui-jae, South Korea, 3-1. 120Kg Bronze Medal

Aydin Polatci, Turkey, def. Marid Mutali-nov, Kazakhstan, 3-1. Stan, 3-1. Cold Medal Rout Artur Taymazov, Uzbekistan, def. Alireza ezael, Iran, by fall, 4:33.

Gymnastics (rhythmic)

Team

1. Russia (Olesia Beluguina; Olga Glatskikh; Tatiana Kurbakova; Natalia Lavrova; Elena Murzina; Elena Posevina), 51.100.

va: Elena Murzina; Elena Posevina), S.1.100.
2. Italy (Elias Blanchi; Fabrizia D'Ottavio; Marinella Falca; Daniela Masseroni; Elias
3. Bulgaria (Chanetta Illeva: Elenorna
Kezhova: Zornitsa Marinova; Kralanguelova; Galina Tancheva; Vladislava
4. Belarus (Natalia Allaksandrava; Yavhen
6. Burdy (Allaria Martsinovich; Ziatislava
Nersesian; Allina Nikandrava; Maria Paply6. 86008.

Ka), 48.000.

5. Greece (Styliani Christidou; Eleni Chro-nopoulou; Ilektra Elli Efthymiou; Maria Kak-iou; Varvara Magnisali; Stergiani Pantazi), 46.525.

46.525.

6. China (Dai Yong-Jun; Hu Mel; Li Jia; Lu Ying-Na; Lu Yuan-Yang; Zhang Shuo, 46.500.

7. Spain (Sonia Abejon; Barbara Gonzalez; Marta Linares; Isabel Pagan; Carolina Rodriguez; Nuria Velasov, 46.350.

8. Brazil (Larissa Barata; Fernanda Cavalieri; Ana Maria Macilei Tayanne Mantovaneli; Jennifer Oliveira; Dayane Silva), 44.400.

Diving

Men's 10-meter Platform Semifinal 1. Mathew Helm, Australia (1, 513.06; 2, 209.34), 722.40 (0). x-2. Alexandre Despatie, Canada (2, 500.55; 1, 209.46), 710.01 (Q). 3. Tian Liang, China (3, 481.47; 3, 209.04), 90.51 (Q). 4. Hu Jia. China (4. 463.44; 4. 207.30). 670.74

 Robert Newbery, Australia (5, 461.91; 6, 193.98), 655.89 (Q).
 Peter Waterfield, Britain (6, 474.03; 13, 180.51), 654.54 (Q). 7. Rommel Agmed Pacheco Marrufo, Mexi-co (7, 463.47; 10, 182.79), 646.26 (Q).

8. Dmitry Dobroskok, Russia (8, 445.68; 7, 189.87), 635.55 (Q).

9. Leon Taylor, Britain (9, 433.38; 5, 195.09), 628.47 (Q).

10. Heiko Meyer, Germany (10, 440.85; 8, 184.35), 625.20 (Q). 184.35), 625.20 (Q).
11. Juan Guillermo Uran Salazar, Colombia (11, 439.77; 16, 177.27), 617.04 (Q).
12. Francesco Dell'uomo, Italy (12, 426.12; 9, 184.29), 610.41 (Q).
13. Gleb Galperin, Russia (13, 427.68; 14, 179.96), 617.62. 14. Christopher Kalec, Canada (14, 429.72; 17, 177.12), 606.84.

15. Choe Hyong Gil, North Korea (15, 419.58; 12, 180.78), 600.36. 16. Anton Zakharov, Ukraine (16, 420.30; 18, 175.77), 596.07.

175.17), 596.07.

17. Pak Yong Ryong, North Korea (17, 41.43); 11, 181.68), 596.01.

18. Tony Adam, Germany (18, 411.30; 15, 173.35), 589.65.

x-Despatie leads event into evening final based on carrying through only semifinal point scores.

SPORTS

Red-hot Red Sox win for 10th time in 11 games, get good news about Ramirez, Page 32

Solid half-court game

U.S. women win gold for 3rd straight Olympics

The Associated Press

ATHENS, Greece - Dawn Staley dribbled out the clock, turned and before she knew what hit her, was raised off her feet by Diana Taurasi.

The most dominant team in women's basketball had lifted itself again

Staley and her U.S. teammates shook off early shooting woes and sloppy play to claim their third straight Olympic gold medal Saturday, a 74-63 victory over Australia that was ugly but immensely satisfying for the Americans.

They did it by turning up the defense, crashing the boards harder in the second half and, most important, finding their shooting - something the U.S. men's team failed to do.

So while that team of wealthy NBA stars prepared to play Lithuania in the bronze medal game, the women who will bring home a basketball gold celebrated with the unbridled joy of children at recess.

The gathered at center court and draped a huge American flag over their heads. They skipped around the court, smiling, waving and soaking up the adulation.

They played as a team throughout these Games, willingly sharing the ball and not worrying about playing time or stats, and they celebrated the same way

U.S. men, take note.

SEE WOMEN ON PAGE 37

United States forward Sheryl Swoopes, right, drives past Australia's Trish Fallon in the first quarter of their gold medal game at the Olympic Indoor Hall in Athens, Greece, on Saturday. The U.S. ran its Olympic winning streak to 25 games and three gold medals with a 74-63 victory over Australia.

U.S. men end nightmarish Games with bronze medal

BY CHRIS SHERIDAN The Associated Press

ATHENS Greece - The U.S. men's basketball team can console itself with two things: third place and the highest point total of the Olympic tournament.

The Americans took bronze-medal game seriously Saturday night and earned some re-venge in a 104-96 victory over Lithuania. But that wasn't what they came to Athens for.

Defeating one of three teams that beat them earlier in the tour nament, the Americans got 22 points from Shawn Marion, 15 from Allen Iverson and 14 apiece from Lamar Odom and Stephon Marbury

Just like their quarterfinal victory over Spain, the key factor was outside shooting. After missing all five of their three-point attempts in the first half, the Amerimade eight in the second half. Four came in a fourth quar-ter that the U.S. team closed by scoring 21 of the final 35 points

The 104 points was the most by any team in the men's tournament, topping the 102 the U.S. team had against Spain two nights earlier

The start of the game was de-layed 48 minutes after both teams arrived wearing white uniforms. It also included a second half that started with no coaches on the American bench, Larry Brown emerging from the tunnel 50 seconds after play had started his assistants beating him out by only 30 seconds.

SEE MEN ON PAGE 37

American Sanderson wins gold in 185-pound freestyle wrestling

-	Meual CC	ш	ч	Bearing St.
	Leaders after 283 of 28 events in the 2004 O through Saturday, Aug. 2			QQC
	Country G	S	В	Total
	United States34
	Russia23	26	35	84
	China31	17	14	61
	Australia17	16	16	49
	Germany14	15	18	47
	Japan15	10	11	36
-51	France11	8	12	31
1	Italy 9	9	11	29
60	Britain 9	8	12	29
w	South Korea 8	11	9	28

More Olympic coverage inside:

■ Another bad handoff as Britain upsets United States men in 400 relay, Page 38

■ Last man standing for U.S. boxing team will fight for gold on Sunday, Page 38

■ Saturday's Olympic scoreboard, Page 39

Giants rookie Manning struggles in exhibition loss to Jets Page 35